Will Rogers Remarks:

BEVERLY HILLS, Dec. 25. [To the Editor of The Times:] Passed the Potter's Field yesterday and they was burying two staunch old Republicans, both of whom died of starvation, and the man in charge told me their last words were, "I still think America fundamentally sound."

And today they are burying hundreds all over our free land whose intention of celebrating our Savior's birthday was splendid, but whose judgment in bootleggers was bad.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

TESTS SHED NEW LIGHT ON VITAMIN

Scientist in Laboratory at Stanford Delves Into Mysteries of Carotin

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Dec. 25. (Exclusive)—If carotin, a red pigment in the leaves of plants, proves to be, as many scientists believe, identical with vitamin "A," then science will know more about this vitamin than about any of the others through the experimentation of Dr. J. H. C. Smith of the local laboratory of the Carnegie Institution.

Dr. Smith is a member of the staff working in the division of plant biology of the Carnegie Institution, at its new laboratory on the Stanford campus. He has succeeded in isolating sufficient quantities of the yellow leaf pigment to determine its chemical structure.

Discovered almost 100 years ago, this pigment has been an enigma to chemists and physiologists through the century. It has been the basis for much speculation by botanists and physiologists as to its function in the living organism. Although it contains only two elements, carbon and hydrogen, its chemical structure has baffled scientists for all these years. Besides this function as a vitamin, these investigations contitute also a contribution to the biologist's understanding of photosynthesis, the mysterious process by which a plant takes possession of the sun's energy and turns it into food.

BAY CITY BREAKS ALL POSTOFFICE RECORDS

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 25. (AP)—The San Francisco postoffice broke all records for Christmas handling of mail this year, Postmaster Todd announced today.

During the past three days 6,000,000 pieces of first-class mail were handled. Parcel-post tonnage amounted to 800 tons daily during that period.

BORAH STIRS NEW ROW

Mitchell and Doran Set Forth Enforcement Progress Amid Rebukes

Greater Results Declared Dependent on Additions to Machinery

WASHINGTON, Dec. 25. (AP)—Aroused by the charge of Senator Borah, Republican, of Idaho, that the present prohibition enforcement personnel "from top to bottom" will never enforce the dry laws, two departments which administer the Volstead Act tonight rebuked his stand in resentful statements.

Atty.-Gen. Mitchell, for the Department of Justice, and Dr. James M. Doran, Commissioner of Prohibition, speaking for the Treasury, said Borah overlooked what they called the marked progress made in prohibition enforcement under the direction of President Hoover. Mitchell said that when Congress sees fit to provide more adequate law-enforcement machinery those who administer the law "will be able to accomplish more."

Senator Borah's statement, which followed the efforts of some dry Senators to have the Hoover Law Enforcement Commission make a preliminary report, contended the dry laws have been clearly defined by the Supreme Court and that the only thing needed is to find the "kind of officials who will enforce them."

IMPROVEMENT ASSERTED

"In my opinion," the Senator said, "it will never be enforced with the present personnel from top to bottom."

Mitchell said the honor of the hundreds of public servants makes it impossible for him to let pass without protest the wholesale charge leveled by Borah against United States attorneys, marshals and other officers of the Department of Justice. He added that these men who prosecute offenses against the dry laws have been doing their best to enforce the law, and that there has never been greater zeal in the enforcement than now. For months, he continued, the department has been working on measures designed to improve personnel, relieve congestion in the courts and to reorganize the enforcement agencies.

"When Congress is ready to consider and adopt legislation to carry out the administration's recommendations for more adequate law enforcement machinery, those whose duty it is to enforce the law will be able to accomplish more," Mitchell said.

"There has been improvement in the last six months. There has, also, under the President's leadership, been a noticeable change in public attitude toward law observance."

"All agencies in the executive service having any part in enforcing prohibition have been too conscious of determined and unceasing pressure from the President for enforcement to leave any room for indifference. Such deficiencies as exist in prohibition enforcement are not due to lack of will to enforce the law either at the top or the bottom."

AFFAIR HELD UNFORTUNATE

Commissioner Doran said the condemnation by Senator Borah of the entire prohibition-enforcement personnel was "unfortunate and bound to have a disheartening effect upon the morale of the service."

"It is not to say that the administration is not susceptible to improvement, but to say that prohibition cannot be enforced with the present personnel comes perilously near to saying that it cannot be enforced at all," he continued. "I can affirm that on the whole we are not likely to find a more loyal and conscientious group of men than are now serving under me."

Doran pointed out that the prohibition personnel is now appointed under civil-service law and said that Borah's statement overlooked the progress made in enforcement and set forth in Doran's annual report to Congress.

"First there must be the will to enforce," Doran said. "No one, I think, will deny that under the present administration there has existed whole-hearted determination to enforce the law. This has been evidenced by the clean-cut declarations of the Chief Executive, which in my judgment have not only had an inspiring effect on the morale of public servants but have met with

RADIO MUSIC 'TRADED' BY CONTINENT

America and Europe Send Christmas Tunes Over Sea for Rebroadcasting

NEW YORK, Dec. 25. (AP)—America and Europe exchanged Christmas entertainment by radio today.

For an hour an American program of yuletide music flashed across the Atlantic and was rebroadcast on the other side for European listeners.

Then programs from Berlin, London and Eindhoven, Holland, were picked up in this country and rebroadcast on a nation-wide hookup. Officials of the National Broadcasting Company said the entire undertaking was a success.

The programs from Europe, transmitted across the sea on short waves, were picked up by a receiver at Riverhead, N. Y., and from there they were carried to New York and distributed on the National Broadcasting Company's nation-wide network.

The American programs went on short waves from transmitters operated in conjunction with stations WGY at Schenectady, N. Y., and KDKA in East Pittsburgh, Pa.

Freighter Afire at Eastern Port

NEW YORK, Dec. 25. (AP)—Two fire boats and two engine companies were required to check a fire in the hold of the Cosulich Line freighter Lucia C at her pier in Brooklyn today.

The fire was discovered just before noon but was not brought under control until about 5 p.m. The damage was mainly to the cargo. The ship arrived yesterday from Mediterranean ports.

Cologne Poor Attack Shops

BERLIN, Dec. 25. (Exclusive)—Because they were unable to buy food and presents for their families for Christmas, hundreds of jobless men in Cologne organized and attacked shops and Jewish department stores.

Small squads led by National Socialists wrecked shop windows with stones and retreated only after the police had charged into the melee.

Happy Season Has Its Queer Aspects, Too

STOCKTON, Dec. 25. (AP)—It was a merry Christmas for Frank Moyle and son, prospectors at Sonora. They struck a large pocket in an old mine inside the city a few days ago and are digging out gold by the bushel. Men who have visited the claim state the pocket is exceptional and that thousands of dollars' worth of gold already have been taken out, with no end in sight.

OGDEN (Utah) Dec. 25. (AP)—Until 11 o'clock last night Bob Fields, 28 years of age, believed that for the first time in six years he would spend Christmas outside of an Ogden jail.

At 11 o'clock he took a friend into his back yard and took a bottle of liquor out of a tin can. Two deputies from the Sheriff's office arrested him.

"It's a dirty trick," he told Sheriff Pincock today. "This is the sixth consecutive Christmas I have spent in jail."

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 25. (AP)—Christmas may be merry to some people, but it's only a sock in the jaw for John Vivaldi.

It all happened this way, he told police. He was walking down the street and saw two men who, he decided later, evidently didn't have the spirit of Santa Claus.

They slugged him on the jaw, and when he woke up, he had been robbed of $70.

NEW YORK, Dec. 25. (Exclusive) It was a more or less cheerless Christmas for thirty-five citizens of this city, who sought a merry yuletide from the inside of bottles today. They spent the day in Bellevue Hospital in close association with stomach pumps, as the result of having imbibed poisonous liquor. Twelve of them were said to be victims of acute alcoholism, but all are expected to recover.

Score Hurt as Auto Runs Into Holiday Crowd

JAMESTOWN (N. Y.) Dec. 25. (AP) Twenty persons were injured tonight, some seriously, at Cherry Creek, near here, when the automobile driven by Stanley Rankowiski, 55 years of age, plowed through a line of children waiting to receive presents at an outdoor community Christmas celebration. Mayor Frost of the village suffered a fractured leg. Most of those injured were small children.

Rankowiski was caught and placed in the County Jail. The village was in a turmoil after the occurrence, the office of the only physician in the place being jammed with injured.

Hotel de Gink in Buffalo, N. Y., Thing of Past

BUFFALO (N. Y.) Dec. 25. (AP)—Hotel de Gink, a hostelry for homeless men which has become known throughout the greater part of the country, closed its doors today after serving a Christmas dinner to more than 1000 outcasts.

The institution has been sponsored by Mayor Schwab, who will relinquish his office January 1.

Complaint was made from some sources that the De Gink attracted thousands of undesirables to Buffalo, where the hostelry provided free board and lodging. The real reason for the closing, however, is said to be lack of funds with which to carry on the work.

THREE DIE IN CRASH OF PLANE

Craft Falls to Destruction Following Loop-the-Loop Over North Carolina City

DUNN (N C.) Dec. 25. (AP)—Three men were killed late today as an airplane in which they were riding failed to right itself after a loop-the-loop and crashed to the ground within the Dunn city limits.

The dead are Alton Stewart, pilot of Coats, near here; Worth Stephenson, student flyer, of Angier a few miles from here, and Hugh Blaylock, passenger, also of Angier.

The plane, which had been flying over Dunn for some time, hurtled to earth and piled up in a mass of wreckage near a negro schoolhouse

Stephenson is said to have been at the controls at the time of the crash.

Stewart, owner of the plane, was an experienced pilot. He had been making his headquarters in Raleigh recently and flew here from that city. He leaves his widow and children. Stephenson and Blaylock were unmarried.

FLYER AND STUDENT PILOT DIE AFTER CRASH

SPRINGFIELD (Mo.) Dec. 25. (AP) Sam Bartel of Springfield, World War flyer, and W. B. Allen of Mountain Grove, Mo., a student pilot, died tonight of injuries received this afternoon when their plane crashed near Cabool, Mo. The craft, a dual-control biplane, apparently was wrecked when both men attempted to pilot it.

Rescuer in Icy Plunge Has to Be Hauled to Safety

NEW YORK, Dec. 25. (AP)—A policeman plunged into the East River today to rescue a man who had fallen from a pier near Jefferson street but he was so numbed by the icy waters that he was unable to extricate himself

The policeman, Peter Franchini, clung to a pile for forty-five minutes until a police emergency crew arrived. Then Patrolmen Edward Reilley and Robert Krizek jumped in and tied ropes around the two men. Their fellow-officers pulled all four to safety.

Franchini and the man he attempted to rescue, Herman Schwartz, 40 years of age, were taken to a hospital. Reilley and Krizek were treated for submersion and chill and sent home.

Byrd Whaling Crews Rescued from Icy Peril

LONDON, Dec. 25. (AP)—Exchange telegraph dispatches from Wellington, N. Z., today reported that the crews of two whaling expeditions sent out by the Byrd Antarctic expedition had been rescued after their boats had been crushed in the ice. The news was received by the Byrd supply ship Eleanor Bolling by wireless.

The Eleanor Bolling now is at Dunedin, N. Z.

PARIS, Dec. 25. (AP)—Two years may be required to repair fully the damage caused to the three French Cable Company lines broken by submarine earthquakes off Newfoundland November 18.

EXPLORERS TO INVADE COBA

Ancient Yucatan Empire Expedition Will Seek Ruins in Interior Yet Uncovered

NEW YORK, Dec. 25. (AP)—An expedition to explore the ruins of the old empire of Coba, in Yucatan, will leave New Orleans January 3, the Museum of the American Indian announced today. The expedition will be in charge of Capt. Robert R. Bennett of Washington.

The principal object of the party will be to explore the old stone road which runs from Coba into the interior. It is believed the road will lead to ruins which have not yet been uncovered. Col. Charles A. Lindbergh recently flew over part of this section.

Archeologists believe Coba dates from the beginning of the Christian era.

Capt. Bennett made his first explorations in the ruins of Quirigua, Guatemala, in 1890.

Judge Sets Date for Beal Charge

BURLINGAME, Dec. 25. (AP)—Justice of the Peace Jackson has set Friday as the date for Harold S. Anderson, wealthy Hillsborough contractor, to appear in court and answer charges of battery filed by Carl H. Beal, Los Angeles geologist.

The charges followed a fist fight Friday night between Anderson and Beal in Hillsborough.

SEATTLE HIT BY STORM

Fifty-Mile Gale Wreaks Havoc

Wires Blown Down, Shipping Imperiled and Log Booms Separated by Wind

Tacoma Also Suffers Heavy Damage as Early Morning Gusts Buffet City

SEATTLE, Dec. 25. (AP)—Christmas came to Seattle riding a fifty-mile gale out of the south, short-circuiting telephone, telegraph, electric light and power wires, separating log booms, endangering shipping, casting houseboats and barges adrift and smashing windows.

The storm struck the city shortly after 3 a.m. Harbor, fire and police departments soon were swamped with calls for help and wrecking crews of public service corporations were sent out to repair the damage.

Frank D. Boeckling, Purdue University graduate, who recently came to the State, was killed by a falling tree near Tolt north of Seattle, when he got out of his car to remove an obstacle from the highway. His companion was uninjured. Boeckling was employed by the Carnation Milk Company.

While telephone and telegraph wires had been repaired to a great extent, wires north to Vancouver, B.C., still were out tonight. Crews are working feverishly to complete the circuits, but there are so many breaks that it is not possible to estimate how long it will take completely to repair the lines, officials said.

The fireboat Alki, responding to a fire alarm near the Richfield Oil Company's storage tanks at Smith Cove, encountered giant seas in Elliott Bay Capt P. L. Barton was cut by flying glass and Lieut. Donald Roberson cut and bruised when knocked down by a comber. The blaze, a minor one in a shack, easily was extinguished.

Four huge log booms containing 1,000,000 or more feet of timber separated and formed a jam at the west end of the Lake Washington Ship Canal and resisted the efforts of tugs to clear it. Six other booms, adrift and breaking up, rammed a drifting houseboat in Lake Union Ten other houseboats and barges were reported adrift.

Ships in Lakes Union and Washington and Elliott Bay were dragging at their anchors. Power wires were short circuited at more than twenty-five places throughout the city.

TACOMA SUFFERS CONSIDERABLE DAMAGE

TACOMA, Dec. 25. (AP)—The heaviest gale in several years struck Tacoma early this morning and did considerable property damage. The roof was blown off a part of St. Leo's Catholic Church, several plate-glass windows were blown in in the business district, signs were wrecked and light and telephone wires were blown down in several places. The wind subsided before dawn after raging for several hours.

PORTLAND HAS ITS WARMEST CHRISTMAS

PORTLAND (Or.) Dec. 25. (AP)—Today was the warmest Christmas Day in the history of the local Weather Bureau, Edward L. Wells, government meteorologist, announced tonight. With a maximum of 53 deg. and a minimum of 48 deg., the mean temperature for the day was 50 deg.

The sun shone at intervals throughout the day and precipitation totaled .08 of an inch. At noon a rainbow was visible in the northwest.

FLORIDA CONTINUES IN SHIVERING CONDITION

JACKSONVILLE (Fla.) Dec. 25. (AP)—Christmas Day found North and Central Florida continuing to shiver despite sunlight that beamed down from a cloudless sky.

The Jacksonville Weather Bureau predicted warmer temperature tomorrow, but warned fruit and vegetable growers that frost was probable tonight, especially in the Jacksonville area.

RUSSIA AIDS IN SEARCH

Soviet Planes to Seek Eielson

Shestakov, Hero of Flight to United States, Will Head Expedition

Radio From Crosson Gives Word of First Trace of Lost Airman

MOSCOW, Dec. 25. (AP)—The soviet government today dispatched an airplane to search for Carl Ben Eielson and Earl Borland off the Siberian coast and ordered two other soviet planes to join in the mission. It was believed the ice in the district to be covered is too strong to permit the use of ice breakers.

Two of the soviet planes now are at Province Bay in the extreme northeast of Siberia on Bering Strait. Sheskatov, Moscow-to-New York flyer, is at Cape Northern.

(Cape Northern does not appear on available maps, but many of the peninsulas of the Siberian coast have several names, given them by explorers and seamen of various nations.)

The Moscow authorities took prompt action on the request of Senator Borah of Idaho to Acting Foreign Commissar Litvinoff, and the similar appeal of the United States Department of the Interior.

Semyon Shestakov, who has been a national hero since his recent return after making a successful flight from Moscow to New York, was selected as the most able man at the command of the Soviet Union to lead the rescue expedition. He will pilot an airplane of the same type as the Land of the Soviets, in which he and three companions flew across Siberia and then over the northern reaches of the Pacific to Alaska, a route which took them close to where the American explorer and aviator is believed to have been lost.

CLEW REPORTED BY RESCUE SHIP

SEATTLE, Dec. 25. (AP)—A clew has been uncovered in the search for Carl Ben Eielson and Earl Borland, Arctic flyers who have been missing more than six weeks, Alfred J. Lomen, director of rescue operations in Nome, informed the Seattle Times today.

He said Pilot Joe Crosson radioed a message from the trading ship Nanuk near North Cape, Siberia, that traders and natives near there had heard Eielson's plane circling overhead for a long while as though seeking a place to land.

While not stated in the message, it is assumed that the plane was heard near the ship on November 9, last, the day it last was seen flying from the Alaskan mainland to the icebound Nanuk to take passengers and furs off the marooned vessel.

Lomen also said Crosson has had natives build a temporary hangar out of snow blocks near North Cape to shelter his plane and keep it out of cold while warming the motor.

CANADIAN AIRMEN ARRIVE IN SEWARD

SEWARD (Alaska) Dec. 25. (AP)—Carrying three Fairchild planes and a complement of Canadian flyers who are to engage in the search for Pilot Carl Ben Eielson and Mechanic Earl Borland, missing since early November in Siberia, the Coast Guard cutter Chelan arrived here today shortly before noon.

The Chelan entered Resurrection Bay in a blinding snowstorm and was guided to the Alaska railroad wharf by means of radio signals flashed from the army radio station here. The work of transferring the planes to flat cars for trans-shipment to Fairbanks, where they will be assembled and flown to either Nome or Teller, Alaska, began as soon as the cutter was docked.

From Teller the planes will hop off across Bering Strait on the 300-mile flight to North Cape, Siberia, near where Eleson and Borland are believed to have been forced down. The Canadians expect to take off for Teller withoin twenty-four hours after they reach Fairbanks.

The Chelan left Seattle last Saturday and fought its way through heavy weather on the way north. The Canadian flyers are Capt. H. A. Oakes, in charge of the group, Capt.

GALE LASHES BRITISH ISLES

Wind's Fury Banishes Fair Christmas Weather; Ship and Crew of Twenty-four Lost

LONDON, Dec. 25. (AP)—Ye Olde Christmas Day in England came in like a lamb and went out a lashing, roaring gale that sent ships scooting for shelter all around the British Isles. The storm area extended from the Orkney Islands to Spain.

Vigo, Spain, reported the loss of the Norwegian steamer Aslaug with its entire crew of twenty-four off Farallones Bayona early today.

The storm blew out of the southwest, banishing the blue skies and summery weather of Southern England. Rain fell in torrents and hail rattled on the streets of London this morning, while wild weather ruled the south coast districts where Christmas visitors to resort towns watched great seas pound on the beaches and harbor walls at Folkstone and other ports.

Many ships sought sheltered water from Plymouth to Scotland, where a seventy-mile gale swept toward the Orkneys. The mails were held up at Kirkwall and the North Orkneys were without Christmas letters, all sea services being suspended.

For the first time in thirty years no trawlers were in with fish at Aberdeen market today. The harbor bar was not passable. The Aberdeen district has been stormbound for a week, with Southern Britain enjoying warmth and sunshine. Not a vessel has entered or left Aberdeen since last Monday.

Ireland experienced gales which at times had the force of hurricanes last night and early today. Trees were uprooted and minor damage done in towns.

Lloyds reported numerous steamships in difficulties with propeller or rudder trouble, but the Norwegian craft was the only instance where loss of life was reported.

a very genuine response on the part of private citizens."

Doran related efforts being made to revise the prohibition laws, the proposal to concentrate the border patrols under the Coast Guard to stop smuggling of liquor into the country and the study made to improve relations between States and Federal authorities in enforcing the law. As a result, he continued, a plan of prohibition enforcement reorganization will be submitted to Congress, which he said he believed would promote enforcement of the law.

He said the Treasury is prepared to submit to Congress a plan for more effective prevention of smuggling of liquor into the country by establishing a limited number of points of entry and for patrolling the territory between these points by a unified border patrol.

"In conclusion, I affirm that genuine progress is being made in the enforcement of the prohibition law," Doran said, "that the personnel in Federal prohibition service is steadily improving in morale and efficiency, that my observation leads me to believe that under the leadership of the President there has been a much more helpful attitude on the part of the public, and finally in so far as administration is concerned, a program is ready for submission to the Congress."

MITCHELL'S STATEMENT

The text of the Mitchell statement is:

"I cannot for the honor of hundreds of devoted public servants allow to pass without protest a wholesale charge of indifference to prohibition enforcement which has been leveled against United States attorneys, marshals and other officers of the Department of Justice and appearing in the press this morning.

"These men are generally known in their own communities as men of integrity and courage, doing their best to enforce the law. There have been weak spots; we have been working hard to eliminate them.

"From contact with the department over a period of years, I can state that there never has been greater zeal and activity in the enforcement of law than at the present time.

"These men are working under great handicaps. Those in the department connected with prohibition enforcement have been for months past busy on measures for improving personnel, relieving congestion in the courts, reorganizing the enforcement agencies and meeting the multitude of problems arising in the effort to improve conditions. When Congress is ready to consider and adopt legislation to carry out the administration's recommendations for more adequate law enforcement machinery, those whose duty it is to enforce the law will be able to accomplish more. There has been improvement in the last six months. There has also, under the Presidents leadership been a change in public attitude toward law observance.

"All agencies in the executive service having any part in enforcing prohibition, have been too conscious of determined and unceasing pressure from the President for enforcement to leave any room for indifference. Such deficiences as exist in prohibition enforcement are not due to lack of will to enforce the law either at the top or the bottom."

DORAN'S STATEMENT

The text of the Doran statement, which was issued with the approval of the Treasury Department, was:

"My attention has been called to a statement by Senator Borah, in which he says that the prohibition law, in his opinion, will never be enforced by the present personnel. With all due respect to the Senator, it seems to me that such a sweeping condemnation of a group of public servants who are honestly and conscientiously endeavoring to perform their duty, is most unfortunate and bound to have a disheartening effect upon the morale of the service. This is not to say that in a large organization such as that of the Prohibition Bureau there are not weak spots. It is not to say that administration is not susceptible to improvement, but to say that prohibition cannot be enforced wih the present personnel comes perilously near to saying that it cannot be enforced at all. Based on my twenty-two years of experience in the government service, I can affirm that on the whole we are not likely to find a more loyal and conscientious group of men than are now serving under me. In this connection, it should not be forgotten that they are now chosen from civil service lists, based on open competitive examinations in accordance with the Reorganization Act recently passed by the Congress, and it is hard to believe that in the future the Congress will authorize looking elsewhere for new recruits.

"Moreover, such a sweeping statement overlooks the very marked progress which has been made in this particular field of law enforcement which is set forth in detail in my report to the Congress and which is amply supported by facts.

WILL TO ENFORCE BETTER

"Important as is the problem of personnel, it is not the only problem. As I see it, aside from the cooperation of private citizens, there are other factors involved in the enforcement of the prohibition laws. First, there must be the will to enforce. No one, I think, will deny that under the present administration has existed a whole-hearted determination to enforce the law. This has been evidenced by the clean-cut declarations of the Chief Executive, which in my judgment have not only had an inspiring effect on the morale of public servants, but have met with a very genuine response on the part of private citizens. No one in my bureau has any doubt as to the position of this administration on this point.

"But given the will to enforce, given a suitable personnel taken from civil service lists, there still remains the problem of the most effective kind of an administrative set-up, and this relates not only to the enforcement of the law within our borders but to the shutting off of the supply of illicit liquor from without our borders.

"Acting under instructions from the President, in the course of the last few months an exhaustive study has been made, not only of the best means to improve the administration of the law but of the proper relation between Federal and State enforcement forces. As a result of these studies, there has been prepared and will be submitted to the Congress a plan of reorganization, which in my judgment will promote the better enforcement of the law.

PROGRAM PREPARED

"Moreover, the Treasury Department is prepared to submit to the Congress a program looking to the more effective prevention of smuggling on our land borders by establishing a limited number of points of entry and providing for the guarding of the area between these points by a unified border patrol under the Coast Guard. In so far as our water frontiers are concerned, I understand that Admiral Billard has submitted a program looking to the strengthening of our Coast Guard fleet not only on the ocean but on our inland waters, which has met with the approval of the Treasury Department.

"In conclusion, I affirm that genuine progress is being made in the enforcement of the prohibition laws, that the personnel in the Federal prohibition service is steadily improving in morale and efficiency, that my observation leads me to believe that under the leadership of the President there has been a much more helpful attitude on the part of the public, and finally in so far as administration is concerned, a program is ready for submission to the Congress."

Senator Boran remarked on Mitchell's assertion that an effort was being made to improve prohibition enforcement personnel with the assertion that "evidently its conditions were such as to call for an effort and an heroic effort." He wished the Attorney General luck in his efforts, and said if a proposal was before Congress which would help to strengthen the personnel, he did not know of it.

The text of Borah's statement is:

"The Attorney General's statement is encouraging. He states that an effort is being made to improve the personnel. Evidently its conditions were such as to call for an effort and an heroic effort. How much progress has been made, I have no means of knowing as its results have not appeared on the face of things. The truth of the business is that the personnel is in need of drastic overhauling and if the Attorney General is engaged in that work, strength to his arm.

"If there is any proposal before Congress which will help this particular feature of the situation, that also should be speeded, but I know of no proposal which will reach the condition as I see it in this particular matter."

Radio Ban for 'Fake' Doctors Being Sought

NEW YORK, Dec. 25. (AP)—The New York Herald-Tribune tomorrow will say Dr. Shirley W. Wynne, New York Commissioner of Health, has written a letter to the Federal Radio Commission asking whether some means cannot be found to stop fake doctors and quack healing concerns from advertising over the radio.

Dr. Wynne said these doctors and concerns which a year ago were disappearing from public notice because of the ban placed on them by many publications, now find a haven of renewed activity in radio broadcasting.

The doctor's letter said the radio advertising of which he complains is done not from the "larger, reputable stations," but from the smaller stations.

Fire Threatens Children's Toys

NEW YORK, Dec. 25. (AP)—Fire almost thwarted Santa Claus today.

A short circuit in electric wiring started a smoky blaze in the auditorium of the Level Club, a Masonic organization, where $7000 worth of gifts for poor children were stored.

The 250 members of the club seized armfuls of the presents and carried them out to safety. Then, when the flames were extinguished, they took the gifts back inside, ready to be distributed this afternoon.

Damage was principally from water.

Autopsy Shows Poison in Body

ENID (Okla.) Dec. 25. (AP)—Poison discovered today in the viscera of Joe Darnell, 22 years of age, flour mill chemist whose body was found Monday in a ravine two blocks east of Phillips University here, today brought an announcement from Sheriff Baker that an immediate investigation will be made to determine if Darnell had been murdered.

The presence of poison was reported to the Sheriff today by Dr. Paul Champlin, Garfield county physician, following an autopsy.

John D. Plays Golf on Holiday

ORMOND BEACH (Fla.) Dec. 25. (AP)—John D. Rockefeller, Sr., celebrated Christmas today by appearing bright and early on the Ormond Beach golf course.

The remainder of the day he spent quietly at home, where a few neighbors called to pay their respects. John D. Rockefeller, Jr., was not a holiday guest at the casements, though it was reported several days ago he probably would visit his father during the week.

Body Found in Bay Identified

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 25. (Exclusive)—The body of a woman found floating off a rocky point in the bay this afternoon was identified tonight by Peter Benson as that of his wife, Catherine Benson, 56 years of age, of Sonoma. Police at first thought that she had been slain.

Benson, at the time of the identification, said that he and his wife had arrived here in a fishing smack and had tied up to the pier last evening. He said that he believed she had fallen overboard.

POLOISTS TO TANGLE UP AT DEL MONTE

DEL MONTE (Cal.) Dec. 25. (AP)—Leading Pacific Coast polo players were gathering here today for the Del Monte low-goal tournament and consolation events, which start here Friday with a double-header. Six representative Coast teams are entered.

The Del Monte team plays the Eleventh Cavalry Friday morning while Pebble Beach meets San Carlos in the afternoon. There will also be a double header on Sunday with games every day next week until Thursday. The low-goal finals are set for New Year's Day. All games will be at handicap.

construction. Although the interior was a mass of charred wood, from which icicle sstill clung, Mr. Hoover made his way about without difficulty and was able to examine carefully the walls of the structure. He gave as his expert judgment that these are sound, and that they can be retained in the rehabilitation of the building.

Plans for the rebuilding will begin at once, but as the government carries no insurance actual construction must await action by Congress which comes back in session January 6, next.

Although the executive offices only recently had been remodeled at a cost of $60,000 it is believed that further changes now will be made. The new offices recently made were governed necessarily by inside walls already standing, and by the desirability of leaving the rooms of the President and Cabinet untouched, from sentimental considerations. But now that they have been burned out the whole architecture of the building can be considered at one time in the rebuilding process.

PLAN SUGGESTED

There has been some agitation recently for removing the executive offices from the White House grounds. The suggestion has been made that an "executive building" be erected as the central feature of the new triangle plan on which the government has embarked with its new buildings. The argument for this is that the work of the White House constantly is increasing; that even the recent enlargment of quarters leaves a cramped condition at the executive office. But as there probably will be no really pressing need for such a building for some years, the logical thing at the moment is to rebuild the present executive building and Congress is not expected to hold up appropriations for immediate reconstruction. Anyway, the proposal to take the executive office to some other part of town meets with objections.

Presidents are busy men and it is a wonderful convenience for them to have working and living quarters close together. There is recalled, for instance, the time when President Hoover had only ten minutes to go to the White House living quarters and change from his business suit into full afternoon dress. He made it by an eyelash, but couldn't have if first he had been compelled to travel several blocks by motor.

MANY GO TO SCENE

Thousands of Washingtonians spent a part of Christmas Day visiting the ruins of the executive office and those who saw the interior marvelled that the firemen had been able to keep the flames of last night away from the main White House building, which has not been seriously menaced since 1866, when a somewhat similar fire swept through the conservatories at the opposite, east, end of the building. There have been several kitchen fires in the main building, one as recent as the Coolidge administration, but that beautiful structure never has suffered any real damage since the British, in a burst of spitefulness, burned it to the ground during the war of 1812.

An inspection of the ruins today convinced experts that the fire, probably caused by defective wiring, had been burning for hours before the first wisp of smoke broke into the lobby, and those about became aware of what was happening. It is entirely possible that the rafters were ablaze while the President was at work at his desk late in the afternoon. All was quiet at the White House. Most of the clerks were enjoying an extra holiday and the secretaries were rushing about their Christmas shopping. There had been few visitors

TRAGEDY NEAR

Had a strong wind been blowing from the west last night, Christmas Eve might have been tragic for the nation. A rain of sparks carrying across the roof of the main building might have proved too much for the Washington Fire Department. Even with every available piece of apparatus jammed into the streets about the White House, it was nearly two hours before the flames were subdued, and another hour before the fire chiefs felt safe in ordering "all out."

The fire produced the usual number of major and minor heroes. The President himself assumed the lead in this role. When he was called from the dinner table and went out to view the blaze, his first thoughts concerned a number of private papers in his desk. The flames had not then reached the rear of the building, so Mr. Hoover boldly stepped through the long French windows, emptied the contents of several drawers and stepped out again. He would have remained longer had not his son, Allan, and one of his secretaries, Lawrence Richey, persuaded him against taking any chances.

Another hero was M. M. Rice, in charge of the telephone switchboard in the basement at the time, who observed the secret service code by refusing to abandon his post until his superior officer, E. W. Smithers, arrived to order him away. The water was up to Rice's knees and his eyes were half-blinded and stinging from smoke when the word came.

LIQUOR LEGACY ALL BOTTLED UP

Claimant to Elkins Supply in Odd Dilemma

Declared Welcome to Stuff—If She Can Get It

Variety of Legal Barriers in Way, However

NEW YORK, Dec. 25. (Exclusive) There have been many and varied situations arising from prohibition and its administration but the present curious dilemma of Mrs. Evelyn I. Martin, claimant to a part of the $3,000,000 fortune of the late Stephen B. Elkins, and declarant that she was his fiancee, appears to be especially interesting.

For although she learned today that she is quite welcome to a cache of about $75,000 worth of the choicest liquor to be found anywhere in New York, she can't have a single bottle of it.

Several days ago Mrs. Martin, through Max D. Steuer, her counsel, started a court fight to get approximately $1,000,000 she asserts Elkins left her by the terms of his will. Among other things, she contended, she was bequeathed his entire stock of alcoholic refreshments, said to be about 3000 bottles.

REMOVAL CHARGED

She charged that former United States Senator Davis Elkins, brother of Elkins and executor of his estate, had moved the entire cache from his brother's apartment to his own apartment.

Today a surprise was sprung by Philip E. Donlin, attorney for Dave Elkins.

"The Elkins family has no objections whatsoever to Mrs. Martin having the liquor," he said. "She's more than welcome to it. It's just a question of her ability to get away with it and that I doubt seriously.

"To begin with, all of it is stored in closets which are under State seal pending final disposal of the estate. This means that for the time being, at least, it is immune to Federal seizure, because not even search warrants can be used under such circumstances.

SLENDER CHANCES

"Certainly Mrs. Martin cannot remove it now, until the case is settled, and if she attempt to later she will have to take her chances with the government in the little matter of liquor transportation.

"Meanwhile, the Elkins family does not want it and disclaims all desire to have it forced on them, inasmuch as 'prewar ownership' cannot be proved. Another pertinent fact is that nothing contraband can be willed legally to anybody.

"So far as I can see, it's nobody's liquor. Probably if a thief were to break in and seize it, he would have as good a title as anyone. As to Mrs. Martin's claim, the doors are wide open to her. It's merely a case of 'try and get it.'"

RADICALS INVESTIGATE "PAY OFF" OF SANDINO

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 25. (AP)—The newspaper Universal reported today that the Communist party of Mexico, the Mexican chapter of the Anti-imperialist League, and the "hands-off-Nicaragua" committee were investigating rumors that Gen. Sandino, exiled Nicaraguan Liberal leader, had accepted a check for $60,000 as the price of his leaving Nicaragua. Gen. Sandino came to Mexico several months ago. He has been living at Merida where, according to charges brought by the three political groups, he is leading the life of a millionaire.

GAS SUPPLY PERMIT ASKED

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 25. (Exclusive)—Commercial Gas Company, Ltd., has asked the Railroad Commission for a certificate of public convenience and necessity to supply gas in Lancaster, Los Angeles county, and vicinity, financing the project by the issuance and sale of $75,000 in common capital stock with a par value of $10.

Do You Know of Such a Man?

TO connect up a job with the right man is not easy. Frequently you hear of a good man who is looking for a favorable business opening.

The Equitable has an opportunity for a sales representative preferably between 30 and 50 years, of good personality, married or with some dependents, and who has shown his ability to save. He must be a self-starter but willing to accept supervision. (Selling experience valuable but not essential.)

The man we want must be willing to work as hard for himself as he would for some one else and utilize to his own advantage the unusual freedom of action which the nature of the work offers. To such a man training facilities and educational advantages will be offered to aid in his success.

ORTIZ RUBIO'S VISIT AWAITED

He and President Hoover to Talk Issues Frankly

New Understanding Likely as Result of Chats

Mutual Good Will Sought in Nations' Relations

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 25. (Exclusive)—President Hoover and officials of the State Department are looking forward with keen interest to the visit to Washington of Pascual Ortiz Rubio, President-elect of Mexico. This visit will mean more than merely an exchange of courtesies and expressions of good will. It is the opinion of Washington that it will advance greatly the mutuality which Ambassador Morrow has been promoting so earnestly and of which there is vital need in the relations between the great republics of the Western Hemisphere.

Ambassador Morrow in the two years he has been in Mexico has been eminently successful in improving these relations. Suspicion has been obliterated and a sincere desire to promote friendship based on a common understanding has taken its place.

This work, however, has not been completed. It is recognized here that the so-called "Mexican problem" has not been finally solved and that on both sides of the border there are interests, influences and individuals which are disturbing factors both in legitimate and lawless ways and that the task to be accomplished is not one of expanding the agencies of peace alone but of giving them vitality and support.

EXCHANGE OF VIEWS

Senor Ortiz Rubio's visit to Washington as the guest of the President and the nation, will aid in this great undertaking. In the several days that the Mexican leader and his associates spend here he will have the opportunity of conferring personally with President Hoover, Secretary of State Stimson, Joseph P. Cotton, assistant Secretary of State, who through his friend Mr. Morrow, already has a thorough and first-hand understanding of Mexican affairs, leaders of the Senate, among them, William E. Borah, chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, and of course, Mr. Morrow, who will be at President Hoover's side in the private informal talks.

Matters of the greatest moment await consideration. This does not mean that pacts and agreements will be broached or formulated. But Senor Ortiz Rubio's presence will permit a frank and comprehensive exchange between him and his counsellors and the President and members of his government on the problems of the two countries.

These matters are not new; in fact, they are the same issues that so disturbed the relations between the two countries before Mr. Morrow took up his work in Mexico. But now instead of being agencies of stress and conflict they are more and more becoming economic problems to be adjusted and settled amicably and fairly between two friendly neighbors.

DIRECT NEGOTIATION

Instead of sending notes of which Mr. Morrow according to a well-founded anecdote is reported to have said: "A Latin-American statesman can write rings around an American any day," it is the purpose of the two governments to deal by personal contacts, Senor Ortiz Rubio and President Hoover in Washington, the American Ambassador and Mexican officials and leaders in Mexico City.

By such direct, modern and peaceful relations the task of coping with the oil problem, the foreign debt, the railroad reorganization task, the religious issue and the agrarian question will be dealt with. It is the natural and instinctive way that President Hoover and Mr. Morrow do business. In Senor Ortiz Rubio they find another leader who by training and impulse also prefers to transact affairs in such a straightforward manner.

Senor Ortiz Rubio's presence in the capital will be the occasion for a thorough exchange between him and the President on American-Mexican affairs and President Hoover will be the recipient of a pressing personal invitation to return Senor Ortiz Rubio's visit. This the President earnestly hopes to do during his term of office. It was on his schedule when he made his Latin-American tour in 1928, but lack of time prevented his visiting Mexico and the West Indies as he originally planned to do.

TRIPLE MURDER LAID TO NEGRO

Doctor, Wife and Nephew Found Clubbed to Death

Relative Bringing Gifts Discovers Bodies

KNOXVILLE (Tenn.) Dec. 25. (AP) The motive for the slaying of Dr. Barclay J. Jones, 61-year-old physician, his wife, Mrs. Lucy Lane Jones, 32, and her nephew, George Lane, 13, mystified different officials investigating the killings since discovery of the three bodies this morning. They had been beaten to death. A Coroner's jury this afternoon returned a verdict of murder by some unknown person, with robbery as a motive.

Sheriff Anderson and his son, a deputy sheriff, however, expressed belief that the slayings had followed an attack on Mrs. Jones, and announced that they were seeking a young negro named Sam who had been employed in the household for the past week.

Sam, the Sheriff said, made his home in the basement, where Mrs. Jones's stripped body was found with that of her young nephew near by. He also said the door of her bedroom had been broken open and her bed was in a state of extreme disorder.

The body of Dr. Jones, who was one of the most prominent physicians in Knoxville, was found on the floor of a garage. A blood-stained ax and a pair of hedge clippers, also blood stained, were found near by.

The bodies were discovered by Bert Lane, local business man and a brother of Mrs. Jones, who was bearing Christmas gifts to the household. He first called on the telephone, but no one answered. On arriving at the home, which is about three miles from the center of the city, he found the house locked and forced entry. Exploring, he found the bodies of Mrs. Jones and the boy in the basement and then went to the garage, where he found the body of Dr. Jones.

Stubborn motors that say "No" when they're cold

. . start quickly, purr smoothly on "DRY" gas

SOME cold morning—when you are in a hurry—you'll discover what's the matter. "Grind, whine, growl," goes the laboring starter. "Gurgle, sigh, wheeze," goes the flooded carburetor.

Suddenly you'll realize that "wet" gasoline, full of heavy kerosene-like fractions, is causing your starting troubles. Not enough can vaporize to catch from the spark in a cold motor!

Some refiners add "wild" light fractions to make "winter gasoline." That doesn't correct the trouble. Your motor will sputter and miss for blocks after it starts. Such gasoline is still "wet."

Worst of all is the oil dilution which "wet" gasolines cause. The gasoline that can't burn pours down cylinder walls, washing away the oil film, ruining the crankcase oil.

Shell 400, the "dry" gas, has the heavy "wet" parts removed in refining. All of it can vaporize. Half choke is enough to make it start quickly on the coldest morning. It runs smoothly without any choke almost as soon as the motor starts. And because it burns cleanly, you avoid oil thinning.

Fill with Shell 400 the next time your tank is almost empty. Give this really quick starting "dry" gas a chance to cure your stubborn motor.

BLOW YOUR BREATH ON A COLD MIRROR

. . . that's what happens to "wet" gasoline in a cold motor—it condenses in droplets on the cylinder walls. "Dry" gas, on the other hand, stays vaporized better and therefore burns more cleanly.

CRAZED FATHER MURDERS EIGHT

Wife, Six Children and Self Slain by Madman

Absent Son Sole Survivor of Wild Massacre

Victims of Slaughter Laid Out for Burial

WALNUT COVE (N. C.) Dec. 25. (AP)—Becoming suddenly insane, a Stokes county farmer today slew his wife and six children and after laying them out for burial went into a patch of woods near his home and killed himself with a shotgun.

The body of C. D. Lawson, the 43-year-old father and husband, was found about half a mile from the home with a shotgun wound in his chest.

At the home were the bodies of Mrs. Lawson, 38 years of age; Marie, 17; James, 7; Raymond, 5, and Mary Lou, 4 months.

The mother and her oldest daughter had been shot in the chest, apparently with the same gun the father used to end his own life. James, Raymond and Mary Lou had been beaten to death with a blunt instrument.

TWO MORE BODIES

In tobacco barn a quarter of a mile away neighbors found the bodies of Carrie Lawson, 14, and Maribelle, 10. They had been shot in the back. Blood on snow outside the building led to the discovery of the bodies.

The father, after he had slaughtered his wife and children, carefully prepared them for burial. He closed their eyes and folded their hands over their breasts. The heads of the five victims found in the home were placed on pillows. Old sacks were placed under the heads of the two girls, whose bodies were found in the tobacco barn.

After he had done this, Lawson, believed to have become deranged from a blow he received on the head a year ago, went into the woods and shot himself to death.

Arthur, a 19-year-old son who was visiting an uncle near Germantown in Stokes county a few miles from Walnut Cove, was the only member of the immediate family to escape the crazed man's carnage. He was prostrated when he returned home and learned of the tragedy.

TRAGEDY RECONSTRUCTED

Sheriff Taylor of Stokes county in reconstructing the details of the tragedy, said that Lawson apparently beat the three youngest children to death with the barrel of a double-barreled shotgun found in the home He then used a 12-gauge single-barreled gun to slay his wife and their oldest daughter.

Carrie and Maribelle, the two other girls, fled terrified. The father, the Sheriff inferred, pursued them to the tobacco barn and shot them in the back as they ran.

The bodies of the two girls were placed in the tobacco barn, their arms folded over their breasts and their eyes closed and Lawson returned to the house and prepared the bodies of his wife and the other children he had slain.

Sheriff Taylor thought a semblance of reason might have returned to the deranged man and when Lawson realized the monstrosity of his deed he went into the woods and shot himself.

Convict Hancock May be Cleared

SAN QUENTIN PRISON, Dec. 25. (Exclusive)—Hubert Hancock, Los Angeles convict who was one of two who beat a guard and attempted to escape from an automobile yesterday as they were being returned from a hearing in San Rafael, may be cleared of complicity in the attack and the responsibilities for it laid on John Fitch, who is said to have struck the guard with a blackjack.

Both men, however, remain in solitary confinement with their cases scheduled for discussion by the Prison Board Saturday.

Suicide Ends Christmas Joy

SPOKANE, Dec. 25. (AP)—Amid a scene of Christmas festivity Mrs. Catherine Crowell, 31 years of age, shot herself through the heart at her mother's home here today.

Her husband, Sergt. Harold Crowell, United States Marine Corps, had just returned from duty in Nicaragua to be with her during the holidays. The family could not explain her act, but they said she had threatened suicide before.

CHRISTMAS GIFT KEEPS DAWES'S OLD PIPE HOT

LONDON, Dec. 25. (AP)—Ambassador Dawes puffed away on his underslung pipe in complete happiness tonight after Christmas dinner at Lady Astor's, for he got one Christmas present that pleased him very much.

It was not from Lady Astor, but from the Embassy staff, each and every member of which yesterday received a generous personal gift from the Ambassador.

The appreciative staff sent scouts to find what Gen. Dawes wanted in his own stocking. With great decisiveness the Ambassador said that he didn't want anything to eat, wear or drink, and he added emphatically that he certainly did not want flowers.

After thinking for a while, he said that if anyone could find him some of his favorite American smoking tobacco he would be pleased. The Embassy staff found a large jar of it at a London tobacconist's, and the old underslung pipe worked overtime tonight.

Five Hurt When Bus Overturns

PORTLAND (Or.) Dec. 25. (AP)—Five persons were injured, none seriously, near Kalama, Wash., late last night when a Portland-bound Seattle stage overturned on the highway after it had been struck by another car.

Mrs. J. Hill, 31 years of age, of Olympia; Earl Dahlgren, 21, Seattle, and L. E. Clabaugh, 31, Bridal Veil, Or., were brought to a Portland hospital. Mrs. C. R. Gift 21 Seattle, and her 3-month-old daughter were treated at the emergency hospital.

COAST GUARDS' ERROR FATAL

Apparently Innocent Man Killed as Rum Runner

BUFFALO (N. Y.) Dec. 25. (AP)—Shot by Coast Guardsmen while cruising in a small boat in the Niagara River here tonight, Eugene Downey, 27 years of age, son of Police Lieutenant Eugene F. Downey, died in a hospital less than an hour later.

Downey was crossing the Niagara River in a motor boat. Authorities said he failed to stop in answer to a command from the Coast Guardsmen, who then opened fire with a machine gun. No liquor or narcotics was found in the boat.

Pictorial Follow-up on News and Features From Four Quarters of Glob

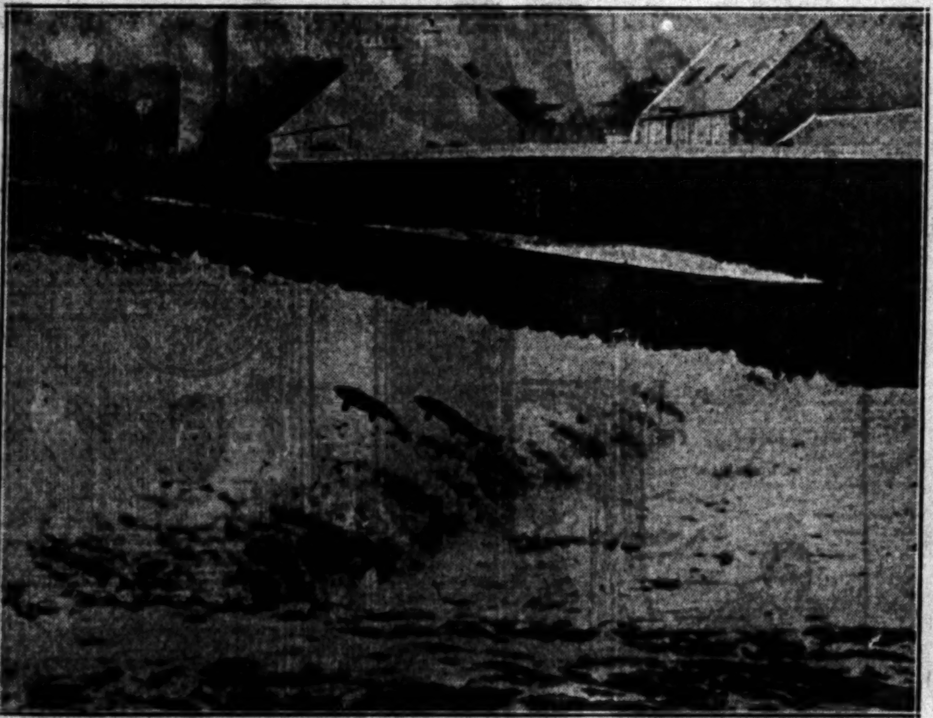
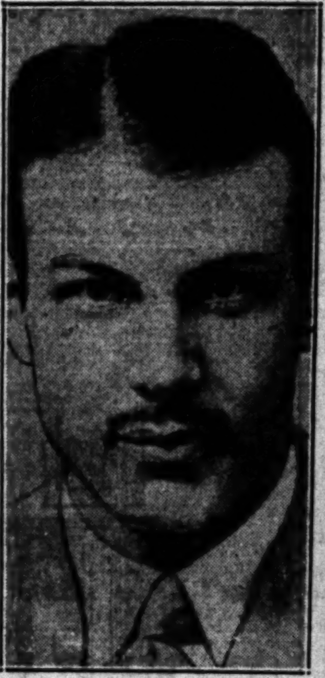
One of the Largest Awards for Personal Injury ever given in a Cook county court was returned a few days ago in the case of Walter Beplay, 43, who asked $100,000 from a railway company for the loss of both legs. He won a $55,000 settlement. (P. & A. photo.)



Salmon Really Do Leap Waterfalls Fighting Their Way Upstream to Spawning Grounds, as this photo, taken on the Elbrick River, near Selkirk, Scotland, attests. The salmon will pass almost any sort of barrier in driving up a stream to the headwaters. The cameraman has been fortunate in catching two big fellows leaping a falls in white water. (P. & A. photo.)

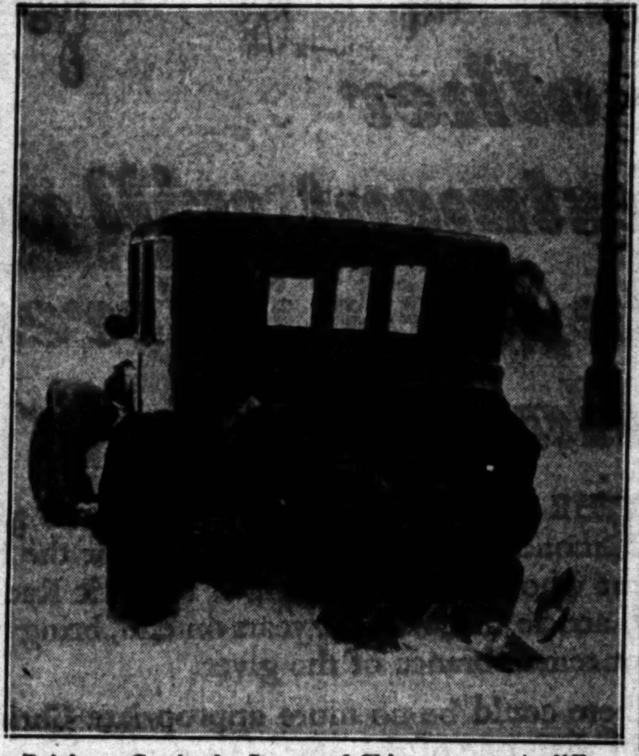


New Bank Examiner, Carlos B. Dawes, 27, will be the youngest ever to hold the post. He is a nephew of Charles G. Dawes, Ambassador to Great Britain. (P. & A. photo.)

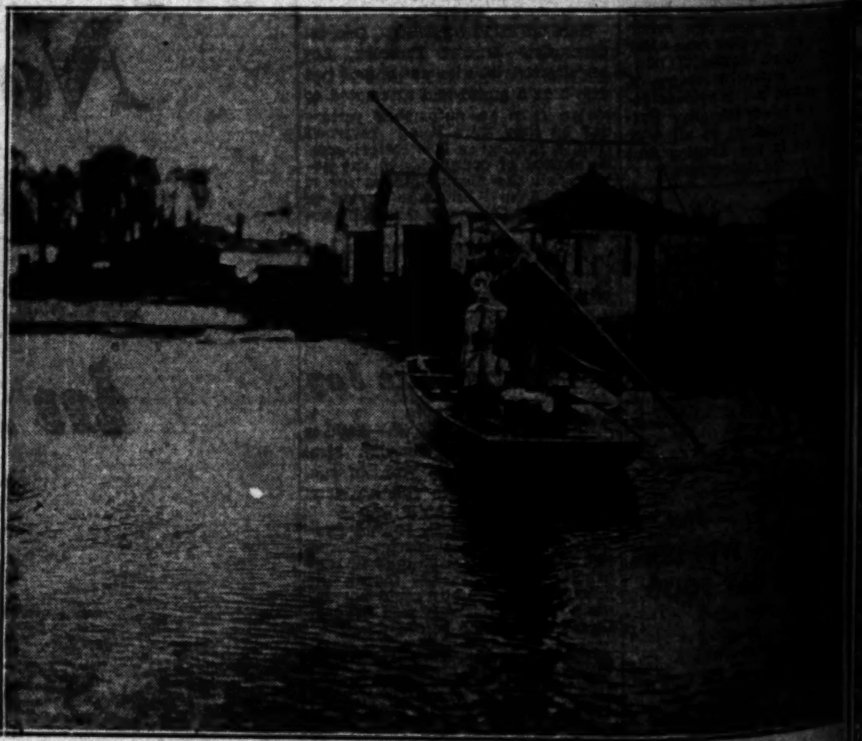
The Key to the City of Pasadena, as well as the lock, are pictured above in the custody of Miss Louise Sigman, who will participate in the official opening of the city to the thousands of sightseers who will journey there for the Tournament of Roses parade January 1. (P. & A. photo.)

She's Just "Singing in the Rain"—The rain, of course, is put in by an artist, but Lillian Roth is all set to sing when, and if, we get rain. Lillian is taking Father Ricard's word for it that there will be plenty of downpour during January.

The First Woman member of the Federal Board of Tax Appeals is Annabel Mathews of Georgia, recently appointed to the post by President Hoover. (P. & A. photo.)



Driving a Car in the Streets of Chicago presents difficulties at any time, but during the blizzard which swept over the Windy City last week it was something more than difficult. The photo shows motorists stalled in Humboldt Park as the blizzard raged. (P. & A. photo.)



The Unprecedented Rise of the Thames River, Due to Heavy Rains in England, brought the punt into prominence as a means of transportation. In many localities in the vicinity of London the punt was the only means of getting about when the flood was at its height. Marooned householders are shown here leaving home at Chertsey. HIGH LIGHTS OF HISTORY 1534

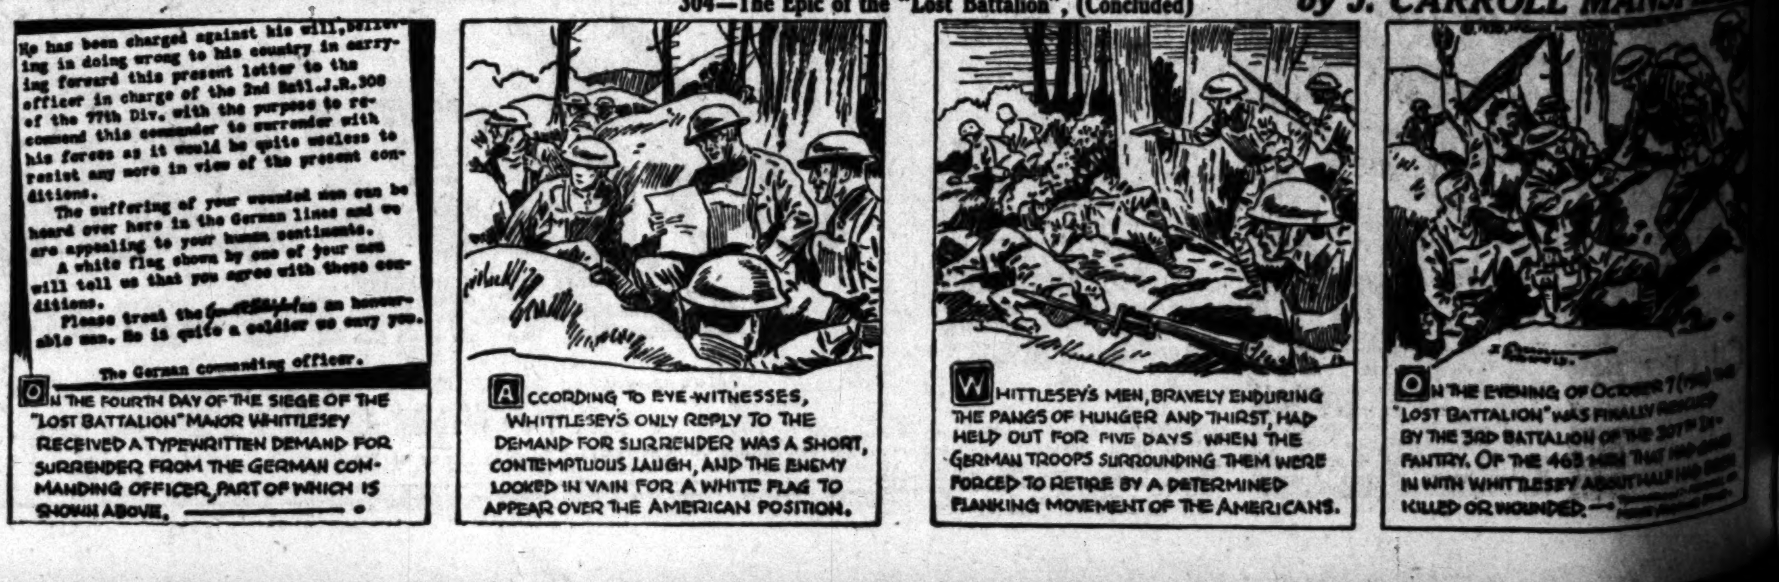
The Story of the World War

304—The Epic of the "Lost Battalion", (Concluded)

by J. CARROLL MANSFIELD



He has been charged against his will, believing in doing wrong to his country in carrying forward this present letter to the officer in charge of the 2nd Batl. J.R. 308 of the 77th Div. with the purpose to recommend this commander to surrender with his forces as it would be quite useless to resist any more in view of the present conditions.

The suffering of your wounded men can be heard over here in the German lines and we are appealing to your humane sentiments.

A white flag shown by one of your men will tell us that you agree with these conditions.

Please treat the [illegible] as an honourable man. He is quite a soldier we envy you.

The German commanding officer.

ON THE FOURTH DAY OF THE SIEGE OF THE "LOST BATTALION" MAJOR WHITTLESEY RECEIVED A TYPEWRITTEN DEMAND FOR SURRENDER FROM THE GERMAN COMMANDING OFFICER, PART OF WHICH IS SHOWN ABOVE.

ACCORDING TO EYE-WITNESSES, WHITTLESEY'S ONLY REPLY TO THE DEMAND FOR SURRENDER WAS A SHORT, CONTEMPTUOUS LAUGH, AND THE ENEMY LOOKED IN VAIN FOR A WHITE FLAG TO APPEAR OVER THE AMERICAN POSITION.

WHITTLESEY'S MEN, BRAVELY ENDURING THE PANGS OF HUNGER AND THIRST, HAD HELD OUT FOR FIVE DAYS WHEN THE GERMAN TROOPS SURROUNDING THEM WERE FORCED TO RETIRE BY A DETERMINED FLANKING MOVEMENT OF THE AMERICANS.

ON THE EVENING OF OCTOBER 7 (1918) THE "LOST BATTALION" WAS FINALLY RESCUED BY THE 3RD BATTALION OF THE 307TH INFANTRY. OF THE 463 MEN THAT HAD GONE IN WITH WHITTLESEY ABOUT HALF HAD BEEN KILLED OR WOUNDED.—

MORE GIFTS TO SHOWER ON PRINCESS

Today Italy's Maria Will Celebrate Her Fifteenth Birthday Anniversary

ROME, Dec. 25. (AP)—While practically all the other Italian parents were heaving sighs of relief tonight between intervals of picking up broken toys, silencing querulous youngsters and packing them off to bed, the first family in the land—the one that lives in the Villa Savoia, near the outskirts of Rome—found that its celebration had to begin all over again.

Tomorrow Princess Maria-Francesca-Anna-Romana has her fifteenth birthday.

Princess Maria, the youngest child of King Victor and Queen Helena, was born in Rome December 26, 1914. Birthday presents will be forthcoming from all the members of the royal house, including Crown Prince Humbert and Maria's future sister-in-law, Princess Marie-Jose of Belgium.

DEATH PLOT ON IRIGOYEN LAID TO ONE

Officers in Buenos Aires Declare Marinelli Alone Planned Assassination

BUENOS AIRES, Dec. 25. (AP)—Police investigation into the attempt on the life of President Hipolito Irigoyen yesterday satisfied them that Gualberto or Gualterio Marinelli acted alone and not as the agent of an organized band. On the other hand, it appears that Marinelli, who was killed by shots of the Presidential escort, had planned his attempt at assassination carefully.

It was found he had bought a revolver some time ago and had practiced marksmanship with it on several occasions. It also was established that he had appeared daily near the Presidential palace and peeped into the gateway to observe the door of the house.

The attack was made yesterday morning soon after the President left the house. He escaped harm from the three shots fired by Marinelli, but two persons were wounded. Their condition is good tonight.

Kentucky Oil Plant Swept by Bad Blaze

LEXINGTON (Ky.) Dec. 25. (AP) Fire late today destroyed the warehouse and office of the bulk plant of the Gulf Refining Company near here, and threatened large storage tanks near by. Loss from the destruction of the warehouse and 500 drums of oil, gasoline, kerosene and alcohol is estimated by an employee at $40,000.

The fire is believed to have started from defective wiring. All available apparatus from the city fire department went to the scene and for several hours threw streams of water on the near-by tanks and other property.

Firemen were endangered by the explosion of the drums of gasoline and other fuel. The tanks were saved at the outset by the fact that the prevailing wind was away from them.

Plane Dash May Have Saved Life

UKIAH, Dec. 25. (AP)—A dash by airplane and automobile here by Dr. Sterling Bonnell from San Francisco and his performance of an emergency operation on his friend, Dr. F. E. Rea of this city, may save Dr. Rea's life, it was said here today.

Dr. Bonnell's plane, which he took at Mills Field, was forced down at Geyserville, and he completed the remaining sixty miles by automobile.

Three Killed as Train Hits Auto

MAUSTON (Wis.) Dec. 25. (AP)—Three members of one family were killed instantly today in their automobile, which was struck by an express train on the way to Christmas mass.

The dead were Clara Smart, 44 years of age; John Smart, 42, and William Smart, 40 years of age today.

KENTUCKY MAN VICTIM OF MOB

Neighbors Lynch Asserted Slayer of Landlord

Farmer Spirited From Jail, Shot and Left to Die

Sufferer, Found Hours Later, Names Aassailants

JACKSON (Key.) Dec. 25. (AP)—Chester Fugate, a tenant farmer, held for slaying of his landlord, was taken from the Breathitt County Jail this morning, shot a half-dozen times and thrown over a cliff, where five hours later his prayers and groans attracted help.

Fugate was brought to a hospital here and when it was learned that he was not expected to live, his signed statement was taken. He is said to have stated that he recognized several of the mob but county officials declined to give any intimation of their names pending arrests.

CAPTURED JAILER

The mob that revenged the death of Clay Watkins, lawyer and wealthy landowner, worked quietly and apparently under good leadership. Five men about 2 a.m. slipped into the bedroom of Sollie Combs, the jailer, in his home adjoining the jail. Combs said that before he was fully awake his arms and feet had been bound. He woke to a warning to keep quiet if he valued his life.

"I couldn't make any outcry," Combs said. "They had guns on me and had my hands and legs tied. Then they took the keys and went and got Fugate. That's all I know. There were five in my room. There must have been seventy-five to 100 in the crowd."

The men did not harm the twenty-five other prisoners in the jail but sought out Fugate's cell, hustled him out into the snow and drove away. The jailer's son, Louis Combs, sleeping in an upstairs room, heard the noise and gave the alarm. A deputy sheriff fired a few shots as the crowd drove off and then search was begun, Sheriff Cockrell being aroused.

HOURS OF AGONY

It was five hours later when Jim Butler, a farmer, heard a man praying and groaning. He summoned help and Fugate was brought to the hospital here. It is not believed that he can survive his wounds and exposure. He had been shot in the head, body and legs and had suffered greatly from lying in the heavy snow at the bottom of a ditch, where he had been hurled some twenty feet from the roadway.

Fugate, who is 25 years of age, was not married but lived with his father and several brothers. His quarrel with Watkins is said to have occurred over his assertion that the latted had failed to pay him for some coal that Fugate had dug for the lawyer. Watkins and Fugate met a week ago in a country store near here and the quarrel was renewed. Fugate shot Watkins to death.

Watkins, 45, was married and had two children.

YOUTH HOME FOR HOLIDAY DIES IN FALL

Body of Student Found in Apartment Courtyard Christmas Morning

NEW YORK, Dec. 25. (AP)—The pajama-clad body of Benson Boring, 20 years of age, a junior at Harvard University, was found in the courtyard of the home of his parents, Prof. and Mrs. William A. Boring, today by a negro porter.

Police said he apparently had fallen from the window of his room on the eleventh floor. His father is a professor at Columbia University.

The boy had arrived at his home Saturday to spend the Christmas holidays with his mother and father. Christmas Eve he went out and returned home at about 3 a.m.

His father told detectives that the boy had first come to the ice box for some cold duck and wine and had then retired.

Prof. Boring said that his son then became ill apparently and went to the window. It appeared that he lost his balance and fell to his death. In the fall he struck a fence.

The youth's mother was hysterical when informed of his death. Prof. Boring scouted the idea that his son might have committed suicide.

Injured Pilot Still Can Grin

MICHIGAN CITY (Ind.) Dec. 25. (AP)—Thomas Hill, 26-year-old Kalamazoo (Mich.) air-mail pilot, whose plane, loaded with last-minute messages of Yuletide cheer, crashed in the blinding snowstorm last night, grinned from beneath a mountain of bandages at St. Anthony's Hospital here today and observed that "it wasn't such a bad Christmas, after all."

He had just been assured that his injuries, which physicians first thought might prove fatal, were not that serious. Hill suffered fractures of both jaws, a crushed face and minor body injuries.

Gang Suspect Found Slain

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 25. (AP)—Frank Cosenteno, asserted gangster, was found shot to death in a vacant lot in outlying North St. Louis today, with his bloodstained automobile parked nearby. The body was in a shallow ditch and partly covered with mud.

Three men were rounded up by police for questioning.

OHIOAN NEW CHEMISTRY PRESIDENT

American Society Elects Officers and Sets Dates of Coming Sessions

NEW YORK, Dec. 25. (AP)—The American Chemical Society today announced the election of William McPherson, dean of the graduate school of Ohio State University, as president for 1930. He will take office on January 1, next.

Moses Gomberg, professor of chemistry at the University of Michigan, was elected president for 1931 pursuant to a new policy of the society. Prof. James F. Norris of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and Charles L. Reese of E. I. Du Pont de Nemours & Co., Wilmington, Del., were elected directors for 1930-32.

The following councillors at large were chosen: Edward Barton, professor of chemistry at Iowa State University; Prof. S. C. Lind, director of the school of chemistry, University of Minnesota; Hugh S. Taylor, professor of physical chemistry at Princeton University, and David Wesson, consultant, of Montclair, N. J.

The society announced that its organic division will hold a national symposium at Princeton from the 30th inst. to January 1. A Mid-West regional meeting will be held at Des Moines, Iowa, on Friday, and at Ames, Iowa, on Saturday jointly with Section C of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

PALS' FIGHT ENDS WITH BOTH DEAD

Double Slaying Caused by Minor Argument, Widow of One Victim Says

TOLEDO (O.) Dec. 25. (AP)—A quarrel which began as a "friendly argument" ended in the death of two men here early today.

Edward Shofner, 43 years of age, a widower and father of a 9-year-old son, was killed and Paul Smith, 34, was fatally wounded in the altercation, which took place in front of the Smith home. The latter leaves a widow and a young son and daughter.

Patrolmen Leonard Mills and Joseph Rosenthal, who were summoned to the scene, were unable to learn the exact cause of the shooting other than that "Shofner wanted to leave the house to visit relatives and Smith insisted that he stay." Shofner lived at the Smith home.

When the police arrived Shofner was lying dead on the sidewalk with a bullet wound in his head and Smith was on the front porch with a revolver in his hand, threatening the officers.

Patrolman Mills accepted the challenge and ran on to the porch, grabbing Smith. A struggle ensued and Mills grabbed Smith's hand holding the gun and pointed it toward Smith.

The gun was discharged, Smith being shot in the head. The wounded man was taken to a hopsital, where he died without regaining consciousness.

Mrs. Smith said the men had been the "best of friends."

Insanity to Be Killer's Defense

OAKLAND, Dec. 25. (AP)—William Shea, Alameda county Public Defender, today indicated he will offer insanity as the defense for Ernest Diaz, confessed slayer of Stanley Montero and Montero's sweetheart, Mary Munoz.

The double killing, which occurred last week when the two refused to "throw up their hands" at Diaz's orders, will be laid before the grand jury and an indictment is expected. Inquests will be held Saturday.

Young Mother Object of Hunt

OAKLAND, Dec. 25. (Exclusive) Mrs. Ida Murray, 19 years of age, dancing instructor and mother of a 3-year-old girl, became the object of a police search today when her mother, Mrs. E. E. Woods, notified authorities her daughter has been missing since the 16th inst.

On that date Mrs. Murray, who is separated from her husband, left her home with $5 in her purse. She said she was going to San Francisco and would return that night. She never returned.

GOSSIP DEFIED BY GILDA GRAY

Found at Rich Man's Home, She Says It's Platonic

NEW YORK, Dec. 25. (Exclusive) Broadway can shrug its shoulders knowingly, for all Gilda Gray cares, but it is a fact, nevertheless, that her friendship for Frank Stewart, millionaire broker, is purely platonic.

Found at Stewart's home on Ocean avenue, Brooklyn, Gilda defied gossips to wiggle viper tongues because she is occupying part of the broker's residence, while he is out of the city.

"We're not engaged and marriage is not in our thoughts," declared Gilda.

"Mr. Stewart is a widower. At the time I was cruelly hurt by Gil Boag's unfeeling conduct following my divorce, Mr. Stewart's sympathy healed my wounds and served as balm for my anguish. I still maintain my suite at the Hotel Ambassador, but feel free to visit Mr. Stewart as a guest."

FRENCH-SOVIET BREAK DENIED

Story of Diplomatic Row Branded as Untrue

Ambassador Declared Not on Way Back to Paris

Reading of Kellogg Pact Held Cause of Split

PARIS, Dec. 25. (Exclusive)—Sensational stories in certain organs of the French Nationalist press to the effect that Jean Harbette, French Ambassador at Moscow, has broken off friendly relations with Maxim Litvinoff, acting soviet foreign commissar, and was returning to Paris to report to his government were denied flatly at the Foreign Office tonight.

The incident, if it can be described as such, is said to have resulted from the French envoy's effort to carry out the request of Rumania to deliver a communication to the soviet government regarding the recent Russo-Chinese crisis. The Rumanian note was in response to the circular request sent by the State Department at Washington to all the signatories of the Kellogg pact and M. Harbette in delivering it merely was performing an act of diplomatic courtesy for a nation not at present having diplomatic relations with Russia.

According to accounts reaching here, M. Litvinoff informed M. Harbette that he could not even accept the note from the "third-rate power," especially since the Russian difficulties with China practically have been regulated.

Thus M. Harbette is reported to have left the presence of the Foreign Minister, broken off all further relations with him and announced his intention of returning to France. Today's accounts further added that it highly is unlikely the French Ambassador will return to his post, and in support of this he is understood to have renounced his position as the dean of the diplomatic corps in favor of M. Tanaka, the Japanese envoy.

Tonight's semiofficial Temps, reflecting the Foreign Office view, says there is no question of such a step being taken.

Police Take 180 Korean Students for Tokio Clash

TOKIO, Dec. 25. (AP)—The arrest last night by Tokio police of 180 Korean students of Tokio universities, who are asserted to have been implicated in recent student troubles in Korea, was revealed here today.

Japanese authorities in Korea say the trouble with the students, which originally was a student affair, has developed a political character under the direction of a "Secret Society of Communist tendency." More than 900 students were arrested at Seoul, Korea, on the 9th inst., and many still are held for examination.

The vernacular papers here assert the movement involved forty schools in six Korean provinces but a recent statement from the Korean Governor-General asserted the trouble was ended there.

STAR OF NIGHT CLUB DROPS MOTHER ROLE

NEW YORK, Dec. 25. (Exclusive) Although she is unmarried Helen Morgan, Broadway stage and night club star, faced the peculiar problem yesterday of choosing between a mother's role and her stage career. The latter won.

Last March the singer adopted the year-old infant of Mrs. Thelma Leonard. It was not a legal adoption, but Helen persuaded the child's mother that she could give the baby an ideal home and Mrs. Leonard surrendered her child to Miss Morgan.

Yesterday the actress decided that the child occupied too much of her time and attention. She dressed the baby in winter finery and sent it to Mrs. Leonard's mother in Newark, N. J.

"An actress must make a choice between her art and domesticity," Miss Morgan explained, "and I have decided that little Helen, as I called Mrs. Leonard's baby, really was too much for me."

ENVOYS TO NAVAL MEET KEEP TOUCH

Washington Plans Quick Exchange of Messages With Delegates

WASHINGTON, Dec. 25. (AP)—The State Department's plans for the London naval conference include the establishment of a system under which messages can be exchanged between officials here and members of the American delegation in London within fifteen minutes, including the time necessary for coding and decoding.

It is expected that a total of approximately 200,000 words will be exchanged between the American representatives and the home government in the course of the conference. Communication will be under the direction of David A. Salmon, chief of the State Department's Bureau of Indexes and Archives, who will be assisted by a staff of code experts, telegraphers and file clerks. A number of codes will be used.

It is estimated that under the arrangements being worked out a message can be coded in London, transmitted, decoded here and placed on President Hoover's desk within a quarter of an hour.

The delegation headquarters at the Ritz Hotel in London will be connected by direct wire with the principal American cable and wireless stations in Great Britain and will also be in direct communication with the British postoffice.

Jealous Youth Kills Montanan

HAMILTON (Mont.) Dec. 25. (AP) As Albert Cowan, 38 years of age, well-known Victor rancher, stood in the kitchen of his home turning a cream separator this morning, William Hogue, 19, of Anaconda, Cowan's employee, shot and killed him, because, the youth confessed, he was in love with the rancher's wife.

Authorities said they procured from Hogue a signed statement in which he admitted the killing.

Edison Receives Flood of Gifts

FORT MYERS (Fla.) Dec. 25. (AP) Thomas A. Edison spent his first Christmas in Florida today inspecting a flood of gifts from all parts of the country, but that did not keep the aged inventor from visiting his laboratory where he is conducting experiments in synthetic rubber.

Up at his usual early hour, Mr. Edison took a stroll through his tropical garden and then dropped in on his laboratory. He did not stay long, however, and soon returned to his favorite chair beside a roaring fire, while Mrs. Edison and a few friends opened the gifts.

Vessel Lost in Crash on Rocks

BELLINGHAM (Wash.) Dec. 25. (AP)—The steamer San Juan went on the rocks on Blakely Island in Peavine Pass at 4 o'clock this morning, belated reports received here say.

The vessel is a total loss, it is reported, but there was no loss of life and no one was injured. The ship was carried on the rocks by a sudden shift in the wind, it was said.

LATE GUEST KILLS SELF

QUINEBAUG (Ct.) Dec. 25. (AP)—While the family party around the Christmas table awaited his coming here this noon, Mark Frissel, 76 years of age, drove up from a visit at Webster, Mass., in a taxicab, paid the driver, stepped behind the barn and shot himself, dying instantly.

ITALY ART SHIP BEATS ARGOSIES

Priceless Treasures Brave Voyage to London

Nominal Value Placed on Cargo $70,000,000

Mussolini Aids in Move to Exhibit Masterpieces

MILAN (Italy) Dec. 25. (AP)—The Spanish Argosies of old, their holds filled with gold from the Spanish main, are far surpassed by the treasure ship of art that Italy recently sent from Genoa to England.

The cargo of the 7000-ton steamer Leonardo da Vinci consisted of 350 masterpieces of Italian art, with a nominal value of $70,000,000. Their market value, if they were permitted to be sold, would run into hundreds of millions of dollars.

STORM PERILS SHIP

Just as the Spanish Argosies passed through many perils before reaching port, so the Leonardo da Vinci passed through the peril of a terrific Atlantic storm on her way to England early in December.

The treasure of the ship was gathered from all the major museums and galleries in Italy and was destined for an exhibition of Italian art in Burlington House, London, opening January 1, next. It will provide the backbone for the third great foreign exhibition in London, the first being of Flemish masterpieces and the second of Dutch.

MUSSOLINI APPROVES

Premier Mussolini approved the temporary transfer of these priceless paintings to London, and enthusiastically assisted in sending them off. They were gathered in Milan before being sent on to Genoa for shipment and the galleries that contributed sent selections from their best.

The Albertini collection lent Titian's "Virgin and the Child," Correggio's "Marriage of Saint Catherine," and Giorgione's "The Tempest."

Milan contributed Tintoretto's "Venetian Judge," Botticelli's "Virgin and Child," Corregio's "Holy Family," and a portrait by Antonello da Messina.

FAMOUS MASTERPIECES

Rome offered Bellini's "Portrait of a Girl," Veronese's "The Cavalier," Botticelli's "The Derelict," and Titian's "The Baptism of Christ" and "Salome."

Verona sent Pisanello's "Virgin" and Bellini's "St. Jerome."

Venice's offering included Bellini's "Virgin and Child," and Carpaccio's "The Two Ladies of the Court."

Bresica's Municipal Museum shipped Raphael's "The Angel" and "Christ Giving a Blessing."

A group of gallery and museum attendants and specialists accompanied the shipment.

Report Given on Execution of Gen. Bouquet

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 25. (AP)—A report to the government by Gen. Juan Felipe Rico, military commander at Nogales, on the execution of Gen. Carlos Bouquet and the detention of seven companions was made public here today.

It was said that prior to the execution Bouquet in a signed statement said he had been commissioned by Jose Vasconcelos, defeated candidate for the Presidency, who now is in the United States, to recruit revolutionists on the Mexican Pacific Coast and that he had gone to Nogales to receive orders, money and munitions from a revolutionary directorate established at Tucson, Ariz.

Those apprehended with Gen. Bouquet have been handed over to the Federal Attorney-General for prosecution.

Live Wire Kills Three in Auto

CASTLE (Okla.) Dec. 25. (AP)—Three men were electrocuted tonight two miles west of Castle on United States Highway No. 66, when their motor car struck and felled a high-tension power line post.

The dead were: Mike Carson of Prague, Okla.; Lawrence Williams, Norman, Okla., and R. Gordon Dovall, Paden, Okla.

Indians Pillage Panama Airport

PANAMA CITY, Dec. 25. (Exclusive)—San Blas Indians yesterday attacked Puerto Escoces and sacked the airport located there, making off with the gasoline supply.

The San Blas Indians are a warlike race. They never have been conquered and occupy territory along Panama's Atlantic coast. The airport is maintained to serve the Colombia-Panama service.

Kidnaped Boy's Godfather Shot

CHICAGO, Dec. 25. (AP)—Salvatore Mastroianni, 44 years of age, godfather of Billy Ranieri, whose kidnaping and subsequent return caused a sensation a year ago, was shot three times tonight by unidentified assailants. Tonight's attack was the second time Mastroianni was shot at from ambush. Physicians said he will recover.

BRITISH BLOCK DUTCH EAST INDIAN AIR LINE

THE HAGUE, Dec. 25. (Exclusive)—The British Air Ministry's uncompromising attitude has nipped in the bud the Dutch air line to the East Indian possessions. The British have refused to allow Dutch planes further use of the air fields of British India, so Holland must discontinue air service for the time being at least.

Nason Acquires Alien Status to Evade Payment

But He Was American When France Asked for Taxes

Secondhand Auto Cause of Whole Mix-up

BOSTON (Mass.) Dec. 25. (Exclusive)—With the arrival of his secondhand automobile in New York last Tuesday aboard the Leviathan, Leonard Nason, writer of war stories and financier, became a man without a country, he revealed tonight.

"I ducked the French income tax as a nonresident," he explained, "and now I'm bringing this car in on a ninety-day tour permit, so I can't be a resident of the United States."

Last Friday Nason telephoned the Leviathan 1800 miles at sea to dump his chariot overboard, inasmuch as it is worth not more than $800 now and would cost him almost twice that sum in customs charges in New York.

"But they had it in the bottom of the hold or something," he said, "and it would have cost almost as much to get it out as the customs outfit is planning to hook me for it."

The trouble all began back in Belgium in 1928, when Nason bought the car for $3400, including a $900 luxury tax, got himself an international customs pass and then had the car seized for duty in France because of French allegation that he was a resident of that country because he paid a French income tax in 1927. The Belgian insurance company which issued the customs pass got hooked for $2600 in duties by the French government, and while the row over who owned the car was on Nason came home, leaving a friend to get the car out of France for him.

Governor's Late Trips Seen as Fence-Fixing

Proffer of State Berth to Sykes Significant

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 25. (Exclusive)—Indications tonight pointed to an early announcement on the part of Gov. Young that he will be a candidate for re-election in a campaign to be based upon his record as the State's chief executive during his first term.

The Governor has been going about the State recently nailing a few pickets here and there upon his political fences. One of his latest moves is the proffer to Frank C. Sykes of San Francisco, member of the Board of Harbor Commissioners, of the post of chief of the Division of Service and Supply in the State Department of Finance. This is the position which former Senator Lyman M. King is relinquishing to take the place being vacated by Alexander R. Heron, Director of the Finance Department.

Sykes, however, has declined the post.

NEWS OF SOUTHERN COUNTIES

CITIES RADIATE YULETIDE CHEER

Communities Report Great Celebrations

Lodges and Clubs Respond to Appeals for Help

Beautiful Trees Add to Children's Pleasure

VENTURA, Dec. 25.—The spirit of Christmas reigned in Ventura today as thousands of Venturans celebrated with worship, feasting and offering of gifts the birth of the Infant Christ in a Bethlehem manger nearly 2000 years ago.

With the city in Christmas dress and practically all business closed down for the holiday festival, the community tree at the Plaza last evening loomed as the biggest event of Yule Eve.

Gifts for 1800 children were distributed there between 7 and 9 o'clock during an elaborate program of carol singing by the Ventura Ministerial Association.

The community tree was sponsored by the local American Legion post, auxiliary and other organizations.

Christmas service to commemorate the holy night were scheduled at the old mission at midnight, at St. Paul's Episcopal Church at 11 o'clock, at the First Methodist and St. John's Methodist at 7:30 o'clock and at the Salvation Army at 8 o'clock.

Charity has been liberally provided by local organizations, and Christmas dinners, gifts for the tots and clothing for those who need it were provided in scores of cases.

EVERYBODY MADE HAPPY IN ONTARIO DISTRICT

ONTARIO, Dec. 25.—Santa Claus was good to everybody in this community today.

What was feared would be a drab Christmas to the poor families turned into one of happiness, when women of the Welfare League, members of Ontario Elks' Lodge and other public-spirited citizens united in providing food and clothing for 150 needy families.

For the past week women of the Welfare League had received donations from many sources. When they were ready to pack the boxes yesterday they put the following in each box: One roast of meat, donated by the Elks' lodge; two pounds of sugar, two pounds of beans, two pounds of rice, five pounds of flour, one pound of coffee, one sack of raisins, nuts, salt, cereal, potatoes, apples, fruit, canned milk, canned fruit, vegetables, tea, onions, oranges, bread, a gift for each member of the family and a toy for each youngster in the family.

Hickey Warehouse Company gave the use of their vans for delivery of the boxes, which was done by the Elks, directed to the destitute homes by the women of the Welfare League.

Foursquare Gospel Lighthouse i the Euclid Building has had a free kitchen in operation for a week and will continue it for another month, feeding all the hungry of the community without charge. Merchants are donating necessities for soup, coffee and rolls, buns and sweets.

LODGES AND CLUBS SPREAD CHEER IN ALHAMBRA

ALHAMBRA, Dec. 25.—Emissaries of Santa Claus were out early today, taking Christmas cheer to poor families of Alhambra and the neighboring towns. Never before has there been such an outpouring of generosity at Christmas time in Alhambra, the offers to aid the unfortunate having flooded lodge and service club headquarters for the past two weeks.

The Alhambra Lodge of Elks this morning staged its annual Christmas party, distributing toys and candy to 600 children at the clubrooms. Members of the lodge called for the children at their homes and took them back after the gifts had been distributed. L. D. White acted as Santa Claus at the giant tree installed in the clubhouse.

At 6 o'clock this morning members of the Alhambra Rotary Club started out on their annual Christmas journey to the homes of the needy. Stockings filled with candy and toys for the children, baskets of food, clothing and other necessities were given. The club cared for 125 families with food and clothing and gave presents to 600 children.

The Masonic bodies, the Knights of Pythias and other fraternal orders, besides numerous individuals, also took part in the Christmas giving and no child in the district was believed to have been overlooked in the widespread effort to make the day a happy occasion.

MEXICAN COTTON MILL ENTERTAINS EMPLOYEES

MEXICALI, Dec. 25.—Christmas gifts and bonuses amounting to $50,000 were distributed here today by the Pacific Cottonseed Oil Mills during a barbecue and fiesta program arranged by the company for its 300 employees and their families.

Cash bonuses and merchandise orders amounted to more than $40,000 and 1200 gifts to the workers and their families made up the balance.

The employees and guests assembled in the huge warehouse at the mill, where the barbecue was served to 1500 persons. Many Americans were present to witness the program.

Fountain Pen Thieves Again Visit Pomona

POMONA, Dec. 25.—Burglars operated here between 5 and 6 a.m. today for the second time within a week and broke into Armour's Drug Store at 153 West Second street, taking nearly $1000 worth of fountain pens and a small quantity of morphine and miscellaneous narcotics. A week ago, Frasher's Gift Store was entered and $2500 worth of fountain pens taken.

Police investigation revealed that the thieves had attempted to gain entrance to Pearson's Drug Store, across the street from Armour's, but being unable to force the heavy doors, transferred their operations, using a crowbar to practically demolish two doors.

Police theory is that an organized band of fountain pen thieves is operating on a wholesale scale throughout Southern California, as in the two recent burglaries pens were the only objects sought.

CLUB HEARS NOTED AUTHOR

Coleman Cox Speaker at Inglewood Rotary at Christmas Meeting

INGLEWOOD, Dec. 25.—Coleman Cox, nationally known writer, and a member of the San Francisco Rotary Club, was the speaker yesterday at the luncheon-meeting of the Rotary Club. The members were fortunate in hearing this author, who says he never refuses an invitation to speak before Rotary clubs, and who also appears before clubs, organizations and other gatherings all over the country.

Mr. Cox, who is author of the books "Believe It or Not," "Think It Over," "Listen to This," "More Than Likely" and "Just as I Thought," is a dynamic and forceful speaker and a profitable half hour was spent by those who listened to him.

The speaker told of noted men of the country, so-called "big men," but as one became better acquainted with them were just "plain men."

In touching on Christmas time Mr. Cox told his listeners that Rotary gave Christmas every week and that Christmas was practiced every day by a Rotarian, as Christmas time is friend-making time, which Rotary offers every day.

He told the members that Rotarians could accept each other as friends because they knew that each member had been thoroughly investigated by a committee before being admitted to membership in the club.

"You cannot buy confidence and respect with profanity and vulgar stories," the speaker said, "and one does not think any more of a man who tells filthy stories and is profane." "Our happiness," he continued, "comes from making others happy."

In speaking of success Mr. Cox said: "You are what others tell you you are" and that "business is what others say it is." A thing that appealed to the speaker in Rotary, he said, was the use of the first name, which custom was the means of bringing the members in a closer tie.

He told his listeners that a man should always be known by his Christian name, as initials were only abbreviations.

His contact with the prisoners of San Quentin, whom Mr. Cox often talks to, he related as a wonderful experience to him. He said that he appears among them as a man to man, and by his past experiences is able to talk their language. He said that it had been told him that through his contact with these men he has been instrumental in bringing 115 men back from the human wreckage.

FEAST FOR PASADENA NEWSIES

Promoter Provides "Eats" at Hotel

Waiting for Word to Go
Little merchants at their Christmas dinner table.

PASADENA, Dec. 25.—Eighteen turkeys were picked clean, but no dishes were broken at the Hotel Green today by 150 local newsboys who were guests of "Morrie" Cohan, this city's young boxing promoter, at a seven-course Christmas dinner.

While motion-picture actresses who served, were forced to run to keep up with the demand for "seconds" and even "thirds," the boys kept their eyes on their plates until they had consumed the last raisin and nut.

At the conclusion of the feast, three of the boys delegated themselves as cheer leaders and their shouts for "Morrie" could be heard three blocks away at local police headquarters.

"There was no need of the police, however," asserted the host, "as I have never seen so well-behaved a group, perhaps they were too replenished to feel like cutting up."

Each guest was presented with toys, including whistles, knives and caps. They listened attentively while "Morrie" told of his own experiences as a newsboy and of his struggle to rise in his chosen profession.

At the age of 23, Cohan came to this city, where he finally succeeded in convincing the officials that he could conduct boxing shows of a type which would reflect credit upon the community.

Today's dinner is the fourth consecutive affair of its kind which the proprietor of the Pasadena Boxing Arena has held here.

GAY PARTY RESULTS IN ACCIDENT

Auto Crash Send One Man to Hospital; Companion Jailed for Drunk Driving

MONTEREY PARK, Dec. 25.—Two men are under arrest as the result of traffic accidents early today. One man received injuries which may result in his death.

As the aftermath of a gay Christmas Eve celebration lasting until an early hour this morning Lee Hughes, 32 years of age, of 404 North Coronado street, Los Angeles, is in the Garfield Hospital here suffering from a skull fracture and internal injuries. He has been unconscious since the crash and his condition is reported as critical. Earl J. Daust, 32, of 3062 Eleanor street, Los Angeles, driver of the car in which Hughes was riding, is in the County Jail charged with drunk driving.

The accident occurred at the intersection of Atlantic Boulevard and Garvey avenue, where two drivers are said to have ignored the boulevard stop. A machine driven by Fred L. Owen, Huntington Park, and the car driven by Daust collided with terrific force. Daust's car, a small roadster, occupied by four persons, was completely wrecked. The other machine was overturned. Owen and his companion, Frank Tobin of Los Angeles, escaped with minor cuts and bruises, while the occupants of the roadster were removed to the Garfield Hospital. Daust sustained a cut over his eye; his wife received deep cuts and bruises and possible internal injuries, and Mrs. Katherine Hughes was slightly injured. Dr. Dee M. Rees, who examined Daust at the hospital, reported he was intoxicated. After first-aid treatment he was turned over to deputies of the Temple City Sheriff's station.

Eules G. Britton of 932 East Broadway, East San Gabriel, was lodged in the County Jail last night as the result of a crash at San Gabriel Boulevard and the Southern Pacific tracks in which Dan E. Smith and his wife, of San Gabriel, were injured. Mrs. Smith suffered a possible fractured jaw and injuries to her back.

Falling asleep at the wheel while driving on Valley Boulevard at a high rate of speed today, Mattias Romero of Upland crashed into a pepper tree. His nose was broken and he lost his front teeth. He was removed to the General Hospital.

POPULATION INCREASE DUE TO SANTA'S GIFTS

GLENDALE, Dec. 25.—Among the contents of Santa Claus's sleigh today were three new babies, all girls, who came to brighten up the Christmas holiday for Glendale families. The recipients of the gifts are Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Carlton, 210 Webb street, and Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Jepson, 1305 Fifth street, whose daughters were born in the Glendale Sanatorium and Hospital, and Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Wright, 838 East Glenoaks Boulevard, who welcomed the little stranger at the Windsor Hospital. Christmas Eve saw the arrival of two other babies, a son born to Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Tompkins, 1300 North Raymond avenue, Pasadena, born at the Physicians' and Surgeons' Hospital last night and a daughter, born to Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Clement, 207 North Avenue 56, Highland Park, at the Windsor Hospital.

JUDGE SLAPS DRY SEARCHER

San Diego Court Orders Wine Returned After Being Taken Without Search Warrant

SAN DIEGO, Dec. 25.—Liquor seized by police in private homes without proper search warrants will be returned to owners in the future, Judge Claude L. Chambers announced today. Not only will the liquor be returned, but prosecution automatically will be halted for lack of evidence in such cases, Chambers said.

This drastic and sweeping court precedent is expected to have far-flung consequences throughout the State, lawyers report, and follows the arrest three weeks ago of Joe Mighetti by members of the police dry squad headed by Lieut. George Churchman. Mighetti's home was raided by Churchman and the dry squad without a search warrant and fifteen gallons of old wine were seized. A. T. Procopio, Mighetti's attorney, petitioned Chambers to return the evidence on the ground that it was seized illegally.

Chambers entertained Procopio's plea for the return of the wine on the grounds stated and City Prosecutor Henry Hache and City Attorney M. W. Conklin appealed from this order before Judge Charles F. Haines in Superior Court. Haines upheld the decision of Chambers, the wine was ordered returned to Mighetti and without evidence, the case must be dismissed when it comes up in Police Court.

"I have no quarrel to pick with members of the dry squad," Chambers said, "but I repeatedly have informed members of this squad that I stand ready, day or night, to issue search warrants where members of the dry squad will present affidavits of probable cause to me. I infinitely prefer to issue search warrants rather than have members of the police force search homes of citizens without proper warrants."

SIX HURT IN CHRISTMAS AUTO CRASH

Machine With Holiday Party Collides With Car Near Riverside

RIVERSIDE, Dec. 25.—One man was perhaps fatally injured and five other persons hurt last night when a car containing a party of Fullerton people en route to Banning to spend Christmas Day, was struck and demolished by a machine driven by a March Field pilot at the Rose Arbor junction of the Moreno Road with the Riverside-Perris highway.

The injured are:

R. M. Calkins, 248 East First street, Fullerton, serious injuries to the skull, possibly a fracture. Reported in a semiconscious condition at the Community Hospital.

Lieut. Van Der Heide of March Field, cuts and bruises; confined to March Field Hospital.

Theodore Johnson of March Field, severe scalp wound; confined to March Field Hospital.

Mrs. R. M. Calkins of Fullerton, cuts and bruises; given emergency treatment at March Field and Community Hospital and later allowed to return home.

Pearl Hansen of Banning, cuts and bruises; released to go home after receiving emergency treatment at the two hospitals.

George Michel of Fullerton, cuts and bruises; treated at hospitals and removed to his home.

The Fullerton machine, carrying four persons, was being driven by Michel toward Beaumont from Riverside at 6:30 o'clock. The car was a sedan. As he turned to the left into the Moreno road, Lieut. Van Der Heide driving a Ford coupe, reached the intersection. The officer's machine struck the other car in the center. So badly were the cars demolished California highway officials who investigated expressed amazement that all did not receive fatal injuries.

The radiator of the air man's motor was pushed back under the cowl and the sedan was bent into a U shape, so terrible was the impact. Neither machine overturned.

Capt. Ray King and Officer Thad Wilson of the California Highway Patrol investigated and King revealed that the matter will remain open to await outcome of the injuries. The victims were first removed to the March Field Hospital in ambulances from the post and later transferred to the Community Hospital here in the county ambulance.

FOREST FIRE BURNING IN SAN DIEGO COUNTY

SAN DIEGO, Dec. 25.—Palomar Mountain is endangered by a fast-burning forest fire sweeping up the west slopes, according to report from Luther C. Gordon, county fire warden. Fifty men are battling the blaze while more will be rushed to the scene as soon as possible, Gordon stated.

The fire is believed to have started about 2:30 a.m. today, near the La Jolla Indian Reservation.

San Diego county's fire truck was dispatched to the conflagration early today while that of Riverside county is being sent south for use of the crews, according to the warden.

NEW GOLF COURSE NEARS COMPLETION

EL CENTRO, Dec. 25.—Nine holes of the new Barbara Worth Country Club's new golf course will be thrown open for play January 1, according to announcement of club officials today. The remaining nine holes are to be opened later in the year.

The new course is being installed on 100 acres of the old Harold Bell Wright Ranch, located between this city and Holtville. The club plans to erect a clubhouse soon after the first of the year on a knoll overlooking the links.

FOOTBALL MYSTERY TO ENGLISHMAN

Prominent Hotel Man on Visit to Pasadena Reads Rule Book of Game

PASADENA, Dec. 25.—Learning the difference between a forward pass and an end run is much harder than running a large hotel in England, according to Herbert Russell Cotes, J. P., proprietor of the Royal Bath Hotel at Bournemouth, Eng., who is a guest here at the Hotel Huntington. Mr. Cotes is spending the holidays with his daughter, Mrs. John Cosgrove of 1043 Armada Drive.

"My principal occupation at the present time," said the visitor, "is studying a football rule book so that I can master the rudiments of your game before the contest on New Year's Day between U.S.C. and Pittsburgh.

"I am a rugby fan, but that little thing doesn't make it any easier for me to understand football. I have given up trying to understand the difference between a safety and a touchback, but I think I shall know it if either side scores a touchdown."

In speaking of the economic situation in England, Mr. Cotes feels certain that the rest of the world has an unduly pessimistic view of English business conditions.

"Actually, economic conditions in my country are quite sound, and any contrary opinion usually can be ascribed to an Englishman's proneness to "grouse" about everything in general," he declared.

The Royal Bath Hotel was opened in 1838 by Cotes's father, who was later knighted for his contributions to art. Mr. Cotes has served as president of the various associations of hotel proprietors in the British Isles.

BOYS RESPONSIBLE FOR ACTION OF SIGNAL

UPLAND, Dec. 25.—Transcontinental trains already running late into Southern California were made still later by the action of five boys, it was learned today.

Railroad officials investigated the reason an automatic signal flashed red so often, delaying the fast trains at a local crossing. A block signal had been short-circuited, thus flashing on the red signal at the approach of a train.

The five boys were arrested by railroad officials. They were found to range in age from eight to thirteen years.

MASONS TO LAY KEY BLOCK

Grand Master Wollenberg and Staff Will Place Corner-stone of New Ventura School

VENTURA, Dec. 25.—Laying of the corner-stone for the new Eugene P. Foster Grammar School on Ventura avenue is to take place January 3, at 10:30 a.m., it was learned today from David J. Reese, Past Grand Master of California Free Masons.

Charles M. Wollenberg, present Grand Master, is to lay the stone, with the ceremonies under the auspices of San Buenaventura Lodge of this city. Masonic officials from all over the State are scheduled to be here on that date to take part in the elaborate dedication rites. A procession, escorted by the Ventura Commandery, Knights of Templar, is to march through the city and proceed to the site of the new building.

Some of the State Masonic officers who are to attend the services are Deputy Grand Master John Ross of Los Angeles, Grand Marshal Henry G. Mathewson of San Francisco, Grand Chaplain George Wright of San Francisco and Grand Lecturer Thomas J. Baker of San Francisco.

LODGEMEN SURPRISE REDLANDS PAST MASTER

REDLANDS, Dec. 25.—Prominent Masons of the Southland participated in a surprise party for J. H. Logie, Master of the Redlands Masonic Lodge, last night at the local temple. Early in the evening Rev. William Cowans took Logie from his home on a pretext that they were to see Bishop Bertrand Stevens at the Casa Loma Hotel. Passing the Masonic Temple, it was suggested that they stop and take Harry Horne along, too. As the lodgeroom doors opened, Logie discovered 200 out-of-town and local lodgemen present to greet him.

Logie is just completing his year as Master. He is a Thirty-third Degree Mason and eight others of the same rank, from Long Beach, Los Angeles, San Diego and other cities, partook of a turkey dinner prepared by the Eastern Star and served by the DeMolay boys. Talks were given by various members in the lodgeroom. Prominent Masons present included Perry W. Weidner, Robert Wankowski and Frank Pfaffinger of Los Angeles; George Burnham and C. Morris of San Diego; Aubrey Parks and William McGinnis of Long Beach and many others.

SWEET PEA CONTEST IS OVER

W. G. Meade Wins Famous Event

Prize for the Winner
Miss Marie Meade receives cup from A. E. Stockburger, City Manager of Alhambra, in behalf of her father, who won Alhambra's sweet-pea race.

ALHAMBRA, Dec. 25.—It's all over for this year. The Second Annual Sweet Pea Sweepstakes is now a matter of racing history.

In a thrilling finish, during which thousands of excited sweet pea fans held their breaths, the sweet pea vines of W. G. Meade of 927 South Fourth street forged ahead in a last-minute spurt and swept across the line one jump ahead of their rivals, the challenging vines of Frisbie Arnold of 924 South Fourth street. By their spectacular victory Meade's sweet peas retained championship honors of the South Fourth-street Sweet Pea Racing Association.

The winning spurt came a few minutes before noon today, after betting had swung to Arnold when his surprise entries in the race tied the score and several promising buds showed signs of blossoming before 12 o'clock.

The winning bud, a lavender sweet pea grown from approved seed, burst forth into full bloom at exactly 11:50 a.m., to the accompaniment of lusty cheers by backers of Meade. The challenger's vines, apparently tired out as the result of the gruelling four months' race, vainly attempted to produce another blossom to even the contest, but failed to do so before the official timekeeper fired his gun signaling that the historic race was over.

Before a great crowd of fans, which included many of the most prominent sweet pea enthusiasts of the West, City Manager A. E. Stockburger of Alhambra presented the trophies of victory to Miss Marie Meade, 16-year-old daughter of the winner, who accepted them on behalf of her father. Meade will retain the perpetual trophy, a cup offered by the Alhambra Chamber of Commerce, for the coming year, while a smaller silver cup, given by the Alhambra Athletic Club, becomes his permanent possession.

"Kindness wins," was the statement of the victor, as his friends surged forward to offer their congratulations. "The success of my vines justifies my confidence that racing sweet peas will always respond to the right kind of treatment. I have fed and cared for them personally all through the contest and they have answered nobly."

"We ran a good race," said Arnold. "We had to overcome several handicaps, including the fact that several of our vines got tangled up in the back fence and grew in the wrong direction, but the spirit and enthusiasm were there, even if they didn't have the racing experience of Meade's seasoned veterans. We intend to come back strong next year as contenders for the title.

"I want to deny at this time all rumors that either the West Side of South Fourth-street Sweet Pea Racing Association or the East Side of South Fourth-street Sweet Pea Athletic Club used any unfair methods to promote the growth of the plants. The conduct of the whole affair was characterized by the good sportsmanship which has always been the leading attribute of this typical American sport."

The interest taken in this year's event insures that in 1930 both Meade and Arnold, with perhaps additional sweet pea growers, will enter their vines in the race to determine which can show the most blossoms on Christmas Day.

TEMPLE CITY ENTERS FLOAT IN TOURNAMENT

TEMPLE CITY, Dec. 25.—Temple City is to be represented in the Tournament of Roses parade on New Year's Day by a float to be entered by the Temple City chapter of the 4H Club.

An automobile, to be donated by Walter White, local merchant, is to be decorated by the members of the boys' agricultural organization.

The boys of the club have been active during the pre-Christmas season in securing orders for live Christmas trees which they have been planting in accordance with plans of the State-wide live Christmas-tree movement. More than a dozen trees have been placed here.

NEW USE FOR AIRPLANES

Ship Put Into Service as Mechanical Persuader for Balky Mule

BLYTHE, Dec. 25.—A new use has been found for airplanes.

Zim Trout of this city was busy down near the river working on a pair of balking mules, attached to a tractor. The tractor was hopelessly sunk in the sand and mire. Trout used persuasion and profanity, but to no avail. Meanwhile, a crowd gathered.

Jack Moffett, pilot of the new plane owned by the Blythe Fire Department, slipped to town on an errand, to be heard from later.

In less than half an hour, there was noise of a plane overhead. The plane swooped down, the mules became electrified with energy, and out came the tractor. And the tractor was pulled 100 yards to the road, just where Trout wanted the machine.

Infant Killed in Auto Crash

SAN DIEGO, Dec. 25.—Death of Remaldo Cesena, 18 months of age, in an automobile crash at Thirty-fourth street and Ocean View Boulevard last night, brought San Diego's traffic fatality toll to sixty for 1929, according to reports by Coroner Schuyler C. Kelly.

The infant was injured fatally when the car driven by Arthur Cesena, the father, struck a parked car and plunged down a ten-foot embankment.

Five other persons were hurt in the same crash. They are: Jennie Cesena, 33, mother of the dead child; Arnold Cesena, 8; Arthur Celgada, 7, and Mrs. Isabel Avilez, 3820 Teak street. None of the injured were hurt critically, police said.

The party which ended in tragedy for the family was en route to a Christmas celebration when the crash occurred. Coroner Kelly ordered the body sent to the Goobody mortuary pending an inquest.

WATER SUPPLY INCREASE

Huge Pumps to Bring Millions of Gallons From San Fernando Valley Gravel Beds

VAN NUYS, Dec. 25.—Four huge pumps are being installed newly built water department plant on Vanowen street, between the North Hollywood section, which are expected to be put in ation soon after the start of the new year.

Water department engineers say the pumps will turn out about 75,000,000 gallons of water daily. The pumping equipment represents an investment of more than $100,000, of which $80,000 has been spent for the pumps and $20,000 for the buildings housing them.

Each of the pumps is capable of drawing 18,000 gallons a minute from the underground flow of water in the gravel beds in this section of San Fernando Valley. They will serve Van Nuys, North Hollywood, San Fernando, Owensmouth, Reseda and other valley towns and communities in conjunction with the city water reservoirs at San Fernando city.

The completion of this station is a major part of the water department's program to

Here are the seven huskies who form the forward wall of the Pittsburgh eleven, which will face the Southern California Trojans January 1 in the Rose Bowl. Joe Donchess and Ray Montgomery have received a lot of All-American mention for their work this year, while the other five performers are well rated. Capt. DiMeolo, Donchess and Montgomery are seniors, Tully has another year of competition ahead of him, while Daugherty, MacMurdo and Collins are sophomores. It is this fine array of line talent that enabled the Pitt backs to race through for an undefeated season.

LOS ANGELES TEAM VICTOR

Southern California Soccer All-Stars Beaten

The Los Angeles star soccer team triumphed over the Southern California League all-stars by a 7-to-0 score on the Loyola field yesterday. The game was played before a capacity crowd that turned out to witness the only sporting event on Christmas Day in Los Angeles.

What was scheduled to be a close battle between the two teams resulted in an utter rout for the visiting forces, who were unable to check the powerful advances of the winners. The Los Angeles all-stars held a comfortable margin of five goals to none at half-time. Espinosa and Montserrat scored two goals apiece, while Thomson, Downie and Heppel, tallied one each.

In the preliminary game the Pasadena all-star team won a 3-to-1 victory over the Los Angeles grammar school all stars. All of the players in this contest were under 15 years of age.

Risko, of course, is one of the marvels of the ring. He is no pretty boxer. Frequently he looks as if he has little, except courage and aggressiveness; yet he holds decisions over some of the best of them. He is not supposed to be a very hard hitter but he makes an opponent think that it is raining boxing gloves. Johnny hits an opponent so often that it becomes most annoying.

Every so often, they say that Risko is all through. Then he comes back and ruins the social ring standing of some prominent contender. He may not be able to fight much, but mighty few can trim him. At one time or another, he has been given decisions over Sharkey, Paulino, Von Porat, Scott, Christner, Schaaf and Maloney. It was the indifferent showing Sharkey made against such opponents as

PITT HAS GREAT LINE

Sutherland Blessed With Sterling Forward Wall for Battle Against Thundering Herd

BY RALPH HUSTON

A chain admittedly being no stronger than its weakest link, a football line, correspondingly, is no stronger than its weakest player. And if you have a line without a weak spot, you've got a pretty fair football team

It is universally agreed that football coaches have but one plea on Christmas and that is, "Oh, Santy Claus, bring me a lot of good linesmen. I'll take care of the backs myself." And apparently Santa has bent a kindly ear to the wall of Jock Sutherland, the Pitt coach, for the Panthers boast one of the strongest forward walls in the entire country.

Not only is the seven-man front a strongly welded unit, but it possesses individual stars of the front rank. In Joe Donchess and Ray Montgomery, Sutherland has a couple of all-Americans of exceptional ability. Capt. Al DiMeolo, Charles Tully, Paul Collins, Ralph Daugherty and Jim MacMurdo, while not attaining all-American distinction, have proven themselves more than efficient in their particular efforts.

Donchess, a senior, has been an outstanding wingman for the past three years. He has been all-

Official Figuers Show O'Doul Hit .398; Four League Records Set

BY BRIAN BELL

Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 25. (AP)—Frank J. (Lefty) O'Doul of the Phillies was formally proclaimed champion batsman of the National League today with the issuance of the official averages for the 1929 season. O'Doul, a former pitcher and cast-off by other major league clubs, led the pack with an average of .398. Unofficial averages had credited him with an even .400.

FRANK O'DOUL

O'Doul procured 254 hits during the campaign, establishing a new major league record. This topped by four safeties the record of 250 established by Rogers Hornsby for St. Louis in 1922. O'Doul and Lloyd Waner of the Pirates each registered 181 singles.

Rogers Hornsby, who won the most valuable player award as a result of his consistent efforts for the Chicago Cubs during the season, also broke a National League record by scoring 156 runs. Hazen Cuyler, now a Cub with Hornsby, scored 144 runs with Pittsburgh in 1925 to establish the previous high. Hornsby led, too, with the most total bases, 416.

Hornsby, however, saw one of his league marks shot away by another newcomer in such select class. Chuck Klein, also of the Phillies,

RICHFIELD HOCKEYITES TO TRY FOR COMEBACK

The arduous task of climbing back up the tough comeback trail will be started by the Los Angeles Richfields against an old enemy, Lloyd Cook and his San Francisco Tigers, at the Winter Garden Ice Palace tonight in a California Hockey League contest.

Past defeats are just so much ancient history to the Oilers, who figure that it is about time that the worm was turning. Instead of curling up, the Oilers are out to make the fight so hot for other league teams that they all will go into Richfield games with dread.

The style of defense in use the past few weeks has been wronged so the Oilers will be back using their rough and ready, slam-bang type of play tonight. They figure that if they lose it will be all right and if they win it will be better, but that, win or lose, they will give the fans the thrills they want.

More than the mere style of play will interest the Oilers, however. They have a long-standing grudge against the Tigers, stimulated by an 8-to-1 defeat by these same Tigers on the Garden ice early this month and that Oakland debacle Monday night.

Two of the Oilers are stepping around in good shape, Rube Brandow and Jake Lawrence are those players and they are showing their mates how it is done.

TAYLOR, MASTRO COMPLETE CONDITIONING FOR REMATCH

CHICAGO, Dec. 25. (AP)—Bud Taylor and Earl Mastro, featherweight rivals, spent Christmas finishing the strenuous part of their conditioning for their ten-round return engagement in the Chicago Stadium Friday night.

The winner has been promised a match with Kid Chocolate, sensational Cuban battler, and with this in prospect, the action promises to be of a spectacular variety. Mastro, the Chicago youngster, rules a favorite to defeat the Terre Haute terrior.

In their previous bout, Mastro and Taylor battled ten swift rounds to what was declared a draw, with the judges and the referee all disagreeing on the verdict.

Pitt Special to Make Four Stops on Long Trip

PITTSBURGH (Pa.) Dec. 25. (AP)—University of Pittsburgh officials tonight announced that John B. Sutherland, head coach of football at the university since 1924, had signed a new five - year contract. The announcement was made shortly before Sutherland boarded a Pennsylvania train with his undefeated 1929 squad en route to the Pacific Coast, where the Panthers will play the University of Southern California in the Tournament of Roses game New Year's Day.

PITTSBURGH (Pa.) Dec. 25. (Exclusive)—Forty-nine strong, the official party of the University of Pittsburgh football team left the Union Station in Pittsburgh Christmas night at 11 o'clock. Thirty-two players and seventeen others were in the party.

JOCK SUTHERLAND

The team worked out in the afternoon at the Hunt Armory. It was not much of a drill, merely a thorough loosening-up exercise before they started on their long trip to the Rose Bowl in Pasadena.

The team will be on the way four days. Thursday they will practice at the Washington University field in St. Louis, Friday at the Southern Methodist field in Dallas, Tex., Saturday in El Paso, and Sunday will be spent in Tucson, Ariz.

They will arrive in Pasadena early Monday morning and will go directly to the Hotel Huntington, which is to be their headquarters while on the Coast.

HAGAN IN CHARGE

The Pitt party will be in the care of Jimmy Hagan, assistant director of athletics. Hagan scored the Pitt touchdown in the 1928 game. The following players will make the trip:

Ends — Donchess, Collins, Loehr, Hirschberg and Schultz.

BOROTRA LOSES CHRISTMAS BET

Tilden Wins Dinner From Bounding Basque

PARIS, Dec. 25. (AP)—Jean Borotra was compelled to play host to his tennis rival, "Big Bill" Tilden, this evening for a Christmas dinner at one of the most expensive restaurants in Paris as the result of a friendly wager between Tilden and the Bounding Basque concerning their prowess on the courts.

JEAN BOROTRA

Tilden, paired with Charles Kingsley of Great Britain, with whom he will play in the covered courts Christmas Cup tournament beginning tomorrow, defeated Borotra and Luis Torralva of Chile, 7-5, 17-15, in a practice match. Borotra had anticipated an entirely different result and had backed his opinion to the extent of the best dinner in town.

Like the wager, the match proved to be a personal duel between Tilden and Borotra in which "Big Bill" had a slight edge.

MERCURIES AND COUGARS CLASH

L.A.A.C. and Brigham Young Fives Mix Tonight

Bruins and Utah Cagers in Struggle Tomorrow

Trojans Tackle Utah Aggies in Pair of Games

BY BOB RAY

With three Utah quintets invading Southern California, this section is going to be in for a busy week-end of basketball. The trio of invading fives are from Brigham Young University, Utah University and Utah Agricultural College, and they are out to take the measure of the best basketball outfits in Southern California.

F. F. TWOGOOD

Coach Ott Romney's B.Y.U. Cougars, who split even with the Westwood Bruins in a two-game series, continue their efforts tonight at the L.A.A.C. gym, where they will tackle Coach F. F. Twogood's speedy Mercury cagers. This game, which is scheduled to start at 8 o'clock, figures to be a thriller for the club five this year is one of the best it has had for several years.

In "Rags" Wilcox, lanky center who formerly starred for Iowa; "Curly" Raridan, ex-Indiana forward, and Nip McHose, former Stanford dead-eye, the Mercuries have a scoring combination that is tough to stop. Gage and DeMers are the L.A.A.C. guards.

The Brigham Young outfit has the snappy, short-passing plan of attack down to a tee and the Mercury defense will have a hard time checking it unless they play their very best basketball. Brinley and "Eli" Romney, the coach's young brother, are the chief scoring threats of the Cougars, while Magleby, their floor guard, is a whiz at taking the ball down the court and feeding it to his two sharp shooting mates.

Tomorrow night there will be three high-class clashes on tap and it'll be up to the local cage fans to take their choice. All figure to be exciting games.

Coach Caddy Works's Bruins, who defeated B.Y.U., 47 to 43, Monday night after dropping a 47-to-49 decision to the Cougars Saturday, open a three-game series against Utah University's fast five tonight at the Olympic Auditorium. The Utah outfit has been barnstorming around the bay section and proved its worth by trimming the strong St. Mary's quintet by a ten-point margin. Utah and U.C.L.A. have billed their other two games for Saturday and next Monday night.

The Bruins have been coming along nicely and have a couple of sure point-getters in Capt. Larry Wilds and Carl Knowles. Knowles, who plays center and is a junior, looks like one of the best shots developed around here for some time.

Coach Sam Barry's rapidly improving Trojan cagers also swing into action tomorrow and Saturday nights, the U.S.C. outfit playing host to Utah Aggies in a two-game series. Both contests will take place at the Shrine Auditorium, which is to be the Trojan's home court for all conference games this year. The Aggies are coached by another of the famous Romney family, this one being E. L. Romney.

The Trojans hold victories over the Hollywood Athletic Club and L.A.A.C. and Barry believes they'll develop into strong contenders for the conference championship.

Brigham Young's Cougars journey to Long Beach for a crack at the powerful Pacific Coast Club five in the third game billed for tomorrow night. The P.C.C. five defeated the Trojans by a lopsided score early in the season and is likely to give the Cougars a thumping. The B.Y.U. outfit makes another local appearance Saturday night when it faces the Hollywood Athletic Club quintet in the Movie City squad's gym.

O'DOUL GIVEN BATTING CROWN

making a new home-run record with 43. Hornsby hit 42 in 1923.

Johnny Frederick's fifty-two two-base hits were enough to create another record and Lloyd Waner led in triples with twenty. Freddy Maguire, Boston, topped the sacrifice hitters with twenty-six and Kiki Cuyler showed the way to the base-stealers with forty-three.

The hitting in 1929 was better than that offered for 1928. Sixty players hit for .300 or better while in 1928 the .300-hitters numbered only forty-seven.

Only five players participated in all the games their teams played and Philadelphia had three of the exclusive quintet, O'Doul, Arthur Whitney and Frank Hurst. The others were Hornsby of the Cubs and George Sisler of the Braves, who probably has played his last season as a regular.

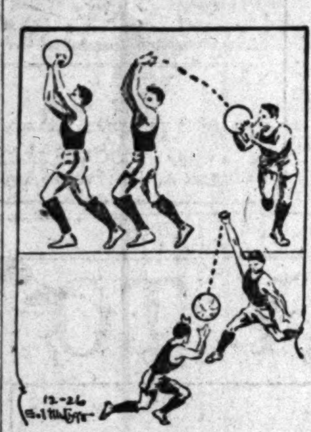
O'Doul is the fourth player to lead the National League while wearing the uniform of Philadelphia and the first for nearly twenty years. Sherwood Magee had the honor in 1910. Ed Delehanty had topped the heap in 1899 and Billy Hamilton in 1891.

O'Doul won the batting championship by 17 points from Floyd (Babe) Herman of Brooklyn. The Robin outfielder took the runner-up position from Hornsby by a single point.

BLAKE WHIPS MALLICK

ALLENTOWN (Pa.) Dec. 25. (AP)—Mickey Blake, Los Angeles, junior welterweight now living here, dealt out a terrific lacing to Georgie Mallick of Wilkes Barre, in the feature eight-round bout here this afternoon to win the unanimous decision of the judges and referee.

Backward Pass in Two Sports



BY SOL METZGER

Many principles used in attack are common to both basketball and football. As we saw Yale make its last play effort to overcome Harvard's 4-point lead in their recent football game this point was clearly driven home. On this play the Yale fullback went through all the motions of kicking, but instead of kicking the ball he tossed it backward to a circling end. Had the ball been handled cleanly instead of being jostled around, Yale would have had a great chance for a long run for the winning touchdown.

Last winter Yale's basketball five had a like play. A player preparing to shoot found himself blocked. Like a flash a team-mate cut around back of him, received a backward pass and had a clear course for a dribble to the basket.

Some years back Sewanee had a forward pass in football that beat Vandy, a toss to an end. The passer then circled and caught a lateral pass from this end. What difference between that and the tap pass of basketball, shown in the lower panel. Ball is passed to one player. Another is rushing by on his left toward the basket. Instead of catching the ball he taps it to his team-mate headed for the basket.

MARINE TOPS LEGION CARD

Devildog Boxer Meets Starr at Hollywood Tomorrow

Tony Starr, the devildog leather-slinger from the United States Marines, and Ed Herting will provide the main fistic entertainment on the holiday bill tomorrow night at the Hollywood American Legion Stadium. Starr is a youngster from San Diego, who has done some classy work to date, and is regarded as a very promising boy.

Tony Starr is substituting in the main event at Hollywood for Al Morro, the heavyweight sensation that Jim Jeffries has uncovered. Morro has a bad ear giving him trouble now, so his local ring debut has been postponed until sometime in January.

Starr was to have appeared in the semi-wind-up on tomorrow night's card, so the preliminary fight has been changed also. Joe Bitto, who has the distinction of holding a technical knockout victory over Wally Fraser, will take on Bud Doyle. Both are light-heavyweights.

In the special event, Clayton Gouyd will reappear in the Legion Stadium after an absence of several months, and will fight Tommy McGowan, who is rated as a very tough youngster.

PITT PANTHERS ON WAY WEST

Guards—Capt. Dimeo'o, Montgomery, H. Morris, Milligan, Yentch and Lewis.

Centers—Daugherty, Edwards and Wagner.

Halfbacks—Uansa, Walinchus, Murphy, Rooney, Wilps, Kelly and McDowell.

Fullbacks—Parkinson, Clark and Hood.

In addition Josh Williams, halfback, who was injured in midseason will make the trip although he won't be able to play.

With the team will be Coaches Jock Sutherland and Alec Stevenson, Trainer Bud Moore, Physician Ralph Shanor, Property Man Percy Browne, Varsity Manager Joseph Bower, Cheer Leader Gordon Maize and the Panther, who happens to be Anthony Holil.

There will also be a group of non officials including Mr. and Mrs. Furlawnger, Robert Herbert, J. F. Harrison, Mr. Morris, Wilbert Daugherty, R. R. and Percy Browne.

SUTHERLAND RETICENT

Dr. Sutherland, coach of the Panthers, had very little to say concerning his team's chances. It is hard to be optimistic when one's team has been forced to practice in such unfavorable conditions. The last few days, the center has had difficulty passing the ball his fingers were so stiff.

A large crowd gathered at the station to see the Golden Panthers off on the first lap of their trip to the land of sunshine. Due to its being a holiday, there were no bands to send them off, but almost every player had a number of friends there and then there were followers of the team who didn't know any of the boys personally.

MIAMI PREPS ANNEX EASTERN INTERSCHOLASTIC GRID TITLE

MIAMI (Fla.) Dec. 25. (AP)—Miami High School defeated Salem (Mass.) High School, 7 to 6, in a fast intersectional football game here today for the unofficial preparatory school championship of the Eastern States.

RABBIT PUNCHES

BY PAUL LOWRY

THE IDEAL CONFERENCE

PUT six teams in a conference, make each one play the other in a sort of yearly round robin, and there you have the ingredients of an ideal football conference. This is the observation of Maj. John L. Griffith, for many years commissioner of athletics in the Big Ten.

The commissioner is now a visitor in our midst, going north today for the Stanford-Army game, and is quite well qualified to speak on matters pertaining to football in particular and athletics in general.

For the past two years the Pacific Coast Conference, which is in much the same fix as the Big Ten as far as top-heavy membership is concerned, has been considering the appointment of a commissioner with powers pertaining to those of Maj. Griffith.

That man has not been appointed for the simple reason that the gentleman of Griffith characteristics has not been found. There have been various applicants for the job, but the Pacific Coast Conference members have looked at them askance.

Perhaps a Moses may arise some day that will appeal to them universally as a leader, but to date that man has not appeared, and the conference gents are unwilling to take a chance on the others.

Maj. Griffith's remarks on the ideal conference were inspired by an informal gathering fathered by Ralph McCord, former football official, the other day.

Griffith says the Big Ten takes no action in awarding football championships. In fact has no rules on the matter. It is his belief that in a conference of that size one school at least each year will have a schedule in which the strongest teams are not encountered, and might come through with a clean slate. It is unfair to the others to award a championship on a percentage basis. Big Ten football championships, therefore, are the result of universal opinion on the matter, such as may be inspired by the newspapers.

BELOIT AND MERRILL

THEREFORE, the Big Ten commissioner argues, it is better for the larger institutions to band together in a conference where the relative strength is the same and for the smaller schools to do likewise.

He points to the case of Beloit, his own college, a small one in the Middle West.

When he was in college Beloit met Wisconsin, Minnesota and all the other tough schools of the Big Ten.

Now it sticks in its own circle, and tangles with colleges nearer its own enrollment, like Ripon, Lawrence, etc.

Maj. Griffith, by the way, was a classmate of big Ed Merrill, who coached at Occidental a quarter of a century ago, and is now a practicing physician in this city.

Merrill was one of the greatest athletes ever developed in the Middle West in football, track and baseball, and Griffith can relate many an incident of his remarkable prowess.

They called him Bill at Beloit, although his given names were Edward Strong.

And there is a young Bill with tremendous hands, who is growing up down at Venice, where his father has charge of a sanatorium.

There have been two generations of Merrills at Beloit, and young Bill will make the third.

THE SATURATION POINT

ALTHOUGH he has made a lot of study on the matter Maj. Griffith is unprepared to say when the saturation point in football will be reached—that is, when the interest will begin to recede instead of increase as it has in the past five years.

At least that point is a long way off, Maj. Griffith believes.

He says he doesn't think the Big Ten universities, for example, will enlarge their already capacious stadiums to any great extent, but that expansion will be noted in the smaller colleges and in the preparatory and high schools.

There it is possible to expand the stadiums and take care of the overflow of excess interest which now converges largely on the doings of the larger teams.

GLASGOW THE BEST

GLASGOW of Iowa rates his position on all the All-American football teams for the current year.

Maj. Griffith says he was the hardest hitting back in the Big Ten conference and the greatest inspiration to his team.

He was the player who could have been least dispensed with.

Bronco Nagurski of Minnesota was a great player, but didn't have a chance to do himself justice because he was used interchangeably as fullback and tackle.

Purdue had Sleight and Harmeson and Welch, but none stood out conspicuously above the others as did Glasgow at Iowa.

JUST A STARTER

One might visualize Maj. Griffith as a czar. He has those powers, but never uses them. That's why he is so successful.

A chat with the man reveals his charm of conquest.

He is quiet, keen, and any new rules that develop in Big Ten circles are the result of votes taken by the athletic directors and faculty members of the conference. The commissioner is merely the inspiration accelerator.

Maj. Griffith likens himself to the starter in a 100-yard dash.

"My job is to see that everybody gets off even every year," he says.

Maj. Griffith is naturally reticent about the Iowa situation, and passes it off by stating that he doesn't believe any new member will be admitted to Big Ten circles, the assumption being that Iowa will be returned to good graces.

Bears Beat Oilers, 5-3

The Sunfreze Bears, aided by "Woody" Woodley, star forward, defeated the Union Oilers last night in a Southern California Amateur Ice Hockey League game played at the Winter Garden Ice Palace. Woodley scored four of the Bears' five tallies, running his season's total up to 15, and incidentally taking the league lead in point scoring.

Going into the third period, with the score tied, 3-3, Woodley scored twice, giving the Bears the victory.

CHRISTMAS FISHING GOOD OFF HERMOSA

SHELL OILERS OUT TO BEAT STATION

Fighting with their backs to the wall after three defeats in a row, Ernie Miller's league-leading Shell Oil ice hockey performers will be expected to wage a hot battle tonight when they meet Hector Proul and his fast-skating Van Fleet-Durkees at the Palais De Glace rink. It will be a Southern California Senior League battle and is expected to attract a capacity turnout of fans.

Referee Jackie Dugan, who was kept busy handing out penalties Monday night when the Shells went down before the onslaught of the Arrowheads is expected to be kept hustling again this evening. Miller's club has about had its fill of defeats after three disastrous attempts and the players know that unless they snap out of it tonight Proul's Station Men will nose them out in the race for the flag.

BOB BERKEY PROUD PAPA ON CHRISTMAS

A future prospective all-American football star arrived at the Hollywood Hospital yesterday. It is Robert A. Berkey, Jr., newest heir to Bob Berkey, all-Coast end of California during 1919-23. Mother and baby are both doing well, it was reported. The future great tanbark player will make his residence with his parents at 250 Bonita avenue, in Pasadena.

Johnny Bassler was again the best fielding catcher in the Coast League circuit during the 1929 season. He finished with an average of .985, the third best ever compiled by a player in this league. Bassler established the high fielding average for catchers at .994 in 1928. Baker of Oakland compiled a fielding mark of .989 in 1924.

RICHARDS RANKS NET STARS

Professional Luminary Puts Cochet, La Coste at Top of International Court Listing

BY VINCENT RICHARDS

International Professional Tennis Star

(Copyright, 1929, by the North American Newspaper Alliance.)

NEW YORK, Dec. 25.—The United States Lawn Tennis Association will soon announce officially its ranking of amateur tennis players for 1929. The publication of this list is always followed by an acrimonious discussion. Every tennis star has a group of staunch admirers and each of these groups, large or small, never fails to present its reasons why its favorite should not be a peg or two higher on the list.

Just to start the discussion a little sooner than usual, I offer my own list of this year's first ten:

(1.) Henri Cochet (France.)
(2.) Rene La Coste (France.)
(3.) William T. Tilden II (United States.)
(4.) Jean Borotra (France.)
(5.) F. T. Hunter (United States.)
(6.) George Lott (United States.)
(7.) John H. Doeg, United States.)
(8). John Van Ryn (United States.)
(9.) H. L. De Morpurgo (Italy.)
(10.) A. Austin (England.)

Unquestionably, Henri Cochet is the greatest amateur tennis player in the world today. The little French star had one of the finest seasons in his career this year and from all indications he will be up among the leaders again next season. I say this because I take little stock in his recent defeat by T. Harada at Tokio. Having had a few experiences myself in playing matches just after a long sea trip I can readily understand how the French players felt when they took the court at the Tokio Tennis Club against the Japanese stars.

PEAK OF GAME

Within a week after his defeat by Harada, Cochet was able to take Harada's measure rather easily in the final matches of the international series. This would indicate that the former Lyons ball boy is right at the peak of his game.

Rene La Coste's record in the European matches is almost as good as Cochet's. The sad-faced Frenchman played beautiful tennis in the early part of the season, but, unfortunately, he was forced to retire in some of the later engagements because of ill health. Recently the report has become current that La Coste has played his last serious tennis.

Tilden is placed in third position mainly because he was able to recapture his national singles championship at Forest Hills. The lanky Philadelphian did little else during the season, but his five-set victory over Hunter in the final round gives him the edge for that spot.

There can be little or no argument concerning the relative merits of Cochet, LaCoste or Tilden, but the next seven rankings will probably not be so well received.

It has been definitely decided that the United States will challenge next year for the Davis Cup in the American zone and for the Wightman Cup in England. Some eighteen players have been notified that they have been made members of the Davis Cup squad for the season of 1930. These men have been requested to stay in good condition for the entire season. From time to time new names will be added to the list, which probably means that we will have a squad of at least twenty-five during the early rounds of the American zone play.

MUCH ACTIVITY

Although the outdoor tennis season is officially closed there is plenty of activity among the indoor followers of the game. Many of the players are getting their strokes in working order for the various indoor national championships, which start a bit earlier this year than usual.

For the past five years the men's national indoor singles championship has always been held during March at the Seventh Regiment Armory, New York City, but this year there is a movement on foot to hold it during February. I imagine the reason is the committee feels they will get a better entry list at that time because the players will not yet have started southward.

William T. Tilden II, national singles titleholder, seems to be just as versatile off the court as he is on. London tennis critics report that Tilden recently made his debut in a West End cabaret and that he is more than holding his own. Just what "Big Bill" does is somewhat of a mystery, unless he has hidden talents in the way of soft-shoe dancing.

At any rate, Tilden is not letting his cabaret work interfere with his tennis. Since arriving in England he has represented Great Britain in the international team matches between that country and France and has played several exhibition matches on London courts.

Recently he definitely stated he will never play on a Davis Cup team again, which probably means that the famous Philadelphian will be in there again next year tackling Cochet or Borotra in the singles and coaching the younger players in the doubles encounter.

The first unassisted triple play by an outfielder and one of a very few recorded in the entire history of baseball, has been credited to Paul Hines, who played on the Providence club more than fifty years ago. Only one unassisted triple play in the outfield has been made in the Pacific Coast League in more than a quarter of a century. Walter Carlisle, Vernon player, made the rare play during the 1911 season.

DARO BIDS FOR DR. SARAPOLIS

Ira Dern Also Sought by Olympic Mat Promoter

Dr. Carl Sarapolis, a young heavyweight wrestler who is as fast, clever and as sensational as Joe Malcewicz, and Ira Dern, the Mormon flash, are the two grappling top-notchers "Carnation" Lou Daro, local promoter, expects to line up for matches at the Olympic the first of the new year.

Daro stated yesterday he expected to leave for Salt Lake City within the next few days to talk terms to both Dern and Dr. Sarapolis for mat battles here. In addition to these two, the local promoter declared that he was also after three other great heavyweights in that section, but he will not reveal their names until after he has them signed.

The promoter's trip to Salt Lake City will mark his second this year for grapplers. Last January he went to Chicago to get Champion Gus Sonnenberg signed for his first match here. He was successful. He expects to have contracts for the appearance here of several new grapplers within the next week, he stated yesterday.

Of the two grapplers mentioned, Dern, a 195-pounder and former world's light heavyweight mat king, has been the only one to wrestle here. Dern's work is still talked of by the fans. He is fast, tough, and a spectacular wrestler. His pet grip is the airplane spin, which usually winds up with a nose dive for his opponents.

Dr. Sarapolis, Daro stated, will prove as big, if not a bigger sensation than Nick Lutze has been here. The doctor, according to the local promoter, has nearly all of the essential mat characteristics that Lutze possesses, including a great wrestling ability. Dr. Sarapolis has met nearly every top-notcher in the game, and like Lutze, he has beaten most of them.

GRIFFITH AND RISKO BATTLE

Risko and Heeney which cost the Boston man his chance to meet Tunney. There was no good reason for Sharkey's poor showing in those engagements. The temperamental Boston man merely looked like a powerful fighter who was too proud to fight—or too lazy. Sharkey always has looked like a great fighter. The only thing which, for a time, kept him back was an attitude of mind. He had to be stirred to a certain mental and emotional condition to give his best.

Risko, on the other hand, always has given the best he had. This Bohemian doughnut moulder appears to enjoy bouncing around an adversary and throwing boxing gloves at him. If he happened to be a hitter he would force the promoters to take him very seriously indeed.

Johnny is not backward about proclaiming that Sharkey is afraid of him and that Tunney sidestepped him for Heeney, because he thought Tom was easier picking. I extremely doubt the first, and I know the second is not true. It happens that I was the only outsider present when Rickard and Tunney agreed on Heeney, and they took him because they hoped and believed Tom would draw more at the gate.

JUNIOR COURT MEET LAUNCHED

School, and Edwin H. Luch, University of Pennsylvania.

Richard Murphy of Utica, N. Y., now a Harvard freshman, won the title last year at Baltimore, but because of illness will be unable to defend it.

The field, however, is the biggest on record for this annual tournament with a total of 111 contestants. For this reason the national indoor boys' singles, originally scheduled to open the same day, will not begin until Friday. The doubles in both classes will get under way after the early rounds of singles have been played.

Baby Joe Gans Bout Winner

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 25. (AP)—Lew Massey won an unpopular decision over Johnny Datto, Cleveland slugger, in the ten-round wind-up of the Christmas matinee at the arena today. Each scaled 125½ pounds. The verdict given by the referee after the two judges had disagreed was hooted by the fans.

In the fourth round Datto clipped Massey on the jaw with a terrific right that sent the Philadelphian down for a count of eight. Massey fought a great battle, but the Filipino from Cleveland took everything he had to offer and was always boring in for more.

Matt Adgie, 170½, Philadelphia, was given the decision over Billy Jones, 172½, Philadelphia, in the ten-round semi-wind-up.

Baby Joe Gans, 140, Los Angeles, defeated Harry "Kid" Brown, 137½, Philadelphia, in another fast ten-round bout.

Hollywood batters sacrificed 314 times during the 1929 season. Oakland established a Coast League record of 324 sacrifice hits in 1927.

Dewey's Trick Aids Pitching

HANDS AHEAD
Sol Metzger
12-26

BY SOL METZGER

Dewey Longworth plays his pitch shots by pressing his hands forward as he addresses the ball. This causes the shaft to slant upward and forward from the ground toward the green he is approaching. The result is that the ball is met by the clubhead as it is descending. It must be struck or punched crisply in order to force the clubhead through the turf after contact.

The idea uppermost in playing a pitch in this manner, rather than to get the same downswing hit by playing the ball a little further back, is that you better insure striking the ball first, instead of the turf.

Just a matter of opinion that. The golfer who has too little time for practice will simplify his game if he plays his pitches by placing himself just a few inches more in front of the ball as he addresses it. Then it is a far less complicated matter to hit it on the downswing than in the manner herein described.

The action of the knees, the hips, the arms on the backswing and at time of impact is well described in Sol Metzger's leaflet on "The Pivot." He will send it to any reader requesting it. Address Sol Metzger, in care of The Times, and inclose a stamped and self-addressed envelope.

PITT BOASTS STELLAR LINE

American for two seasons. He isn't a flashy player, but he does everything an end is supposed to do, and does it extra well. He is a fine pass receiver, a smart defensive player, quick at diagnosing an enemy attack, a capable blocker, goes down fast under punts and in every way turns in a steady, consistent, strong game. Donchess is 25 years of age, stands about six feet, weighs 170 pounds and is majoring in medicine, which is comparable to majoring in dentistry at Southern California.

SOPHOMORE END

Paul Collins, the other end, is a sophomore, is 22 years of age, stands six feet one inch and weighs 190 pounds. Apparently the only thing that ranks him behind Donchess is his lack of experience. He goes down fast under punts, is a fair pass receiver, a good blocker, plays a waiting game and is fairly strong defensively.

Chuck Tully, left tackle, is 21, weighs 185 pounds and stands six feet two inches. Tully is known as the best-looking man on the club, but that doesn't stop him from being the team's best tackle. He is aggressive, charges hard, faster than the average tackle and is exceptionally good at using his hands. The Trojan power play off tackle is likely to find Tully a tough guy to move out of the way.

Jim MacMurdo, the other tackle, is a sophomore, weighs 190 pounds and stands more than six feet. He lacks Tully's experience, but makes up for it in downright fight. Sutherland is bringing only five tackles west with him, which indicates that he places a lot of confidence in his sophomore star.

Ray Montgomery, All-American guard, and Capt. Al DiMeolo are almost identical in ability. Montgomery has just a bit more finesse, which is the only reason he is rated above the Pitt leader. Montgomery is a senior, weighs 186 pounds and has been piling up honor and distinction ever since he started playing football. He has been selected on practically every All-American team picked, which ought to be a fair indication of his ability.

Capt. Al DiMeolo is to Pitt what Capt. Nate Barrager, at his best, is to the Trojans. It is a strange coincidence that both teams should have All-American ends wearing No. 11, and that both captains should be guards, playing identical games.

DOES EVERYTHING

DiMeolo backs up for defense against passes, goes down under punts, wheels out of the line to run interference, and plays a bang-up defensive game. He is an aggressive, alert player, and is said to possess the greatest line of "chatter" ever heard on a football field. If it is possible to get anybody's goat via the conversation route, DiMeolo will get it.

The Pitt captain played two years of football at the Bellefonte Academy before entering the university, and is an all-around sports star. In summer he spends his time as a lifeguard on the Ohio River and has 137 rescues to his credit.

Ralph Daugherty, sophomore center, has the distinction of having beaten out a senior, Barclay Barnes, for the pivot position. Daugherty isn't particularly big, tipping the scales around 175 pounds, but is built along the scrappy lines that distinguish Heinecke of Stanford. He'll give George Dye, behemoth Trojan center, a merry afternoon, if Pitt followers can be believed.

With that sort of a forward wall, it's easy to see why Toby Uansa, Bill Walinchus and "Pug" Parkinson have such an easy time chalking up consistent gains. Sutherland, following closely the Warner system of play, shifts his tackles, so that MacMurdo and Tully get together to open the holes for Parkinson to plow through.

...HE SON OF TARZAN

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

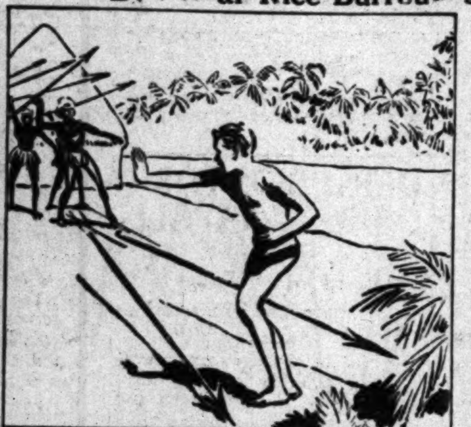
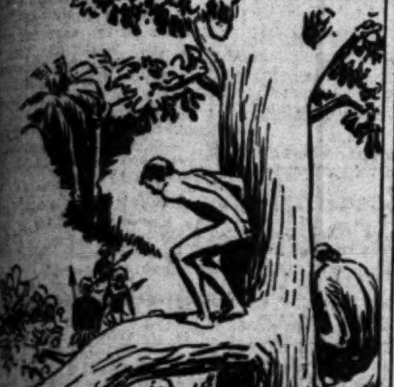
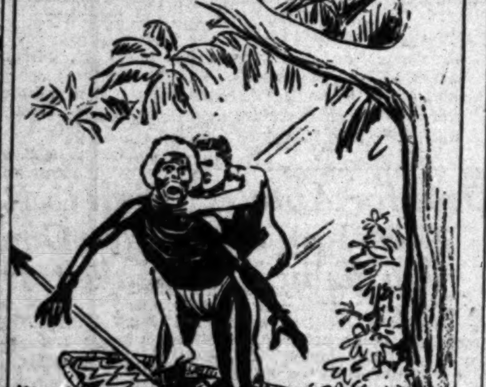
...e sound of his voice brought every head ... Wide-eyed the children viewed him an in- ...then with screams of terror fled toward ...the village. To the alarm came a score of ...warriors with hastily snatched spears. The boy ...halted, the glad smile fading from his face as ...with wild shouts the warriors ran toward ...Akut called to him to turn back. Instead, ...he raised his hand in a gesture of peace. A ...



The missiles struck all about the boy, but none touched him. Again his spine tingled and the short hairs on his neck bristled. His eyes narrowed. Sudden hatred flared in them to wither the glad friendliness that had lighted them a moment before. With a low snarl, quite similar to a baffled beast, he turned and ran into the jungle. Akut awaited him in a tree. The wise old ape urged flight, knowing the sinewy black warriors would search for them.



But the son of Tarzan held back. Rage and hatred now consumed him. He wanted to fight but he knew he could not meet these armed men with his naked hands. Moving slowly through the trees he could hear below him the savages advancing with shouts and cries. For a mile or so he followed above them. At last they turned back. One young warrior dropped behind his companions as they went down the narrow trail. A grim smile lit the boy's face.



Swiftly he hurried forward until he moved almost above the unsuspecting black, stalking him as Sheeta, the panther, stalks his prey. Suddenly and silently he leaped forward and downward upon the warrior's broad shoulders. As he landed, hurling the black heavily to the ground, his fingers sought and found the man's throat. The warrior struggled frantically in vain effort to dislodge the grim, silent thing clinging to him.

OCAL BUSINESS PROFITS HIGHER

arnings of Large Companies Advance This Year

il Corporations Lead Gains of All Reporting

ndustrial Income Increases About 30 Per Cent

All industrial, public utility and oil ompanies, the stocks of which are sted on the Los Angeles Stock Exhange and which have reported net rofits for nine months or more this ear, show a combined gain in arning power of nearly 30 per cent ompared with the corresponding eriod last year.

Oil companies are at the top of e list both in point of volume and r the rate of increase in net profs. On the basis of volume of arnings the public utilities are a ose second, but since many of the tility organizations report for elve months instead of quarters the year, an exact comparison annot be made. The increase in arnings of six oil companies, howver, overshadowed the increase in e profits of the utilities.

OIL PROFITS GROW

The combined net earnings of the x oil companies, which are all at have reported for nine months osed September 30, last, reached aggregate of more than $48,000,-0. This is an increase of approxately $15,000,000, or about 48 per nt. Increase of more than ,000,000 for the nine months this ar over the same period of 1928 ere made by Union Oil Company California, Rio Grande Oil Comny, Shell Oil Company and Barnsall Corporation.

The latest published earnings of e six utilities, some reporting for elve months and others for nine, n and eleven months, show when mpared respectively with reports r corresponding periods in 1928 a mbined increase of more than 14 r cent.

UTILITY INCOME UP

Southern California Edison Comny, reporting net earnings after ed charges but before depreciaon of $18,709,244 for the eleven onths this year, leads in volume earnings the other five companies sted on the Los Angeles Stock Exange. Pacific Telephone and Telraph Company reported a net for ne months of $11,615,725, a gain $600,000 and Pacific Lighting reorted net earnings for twelve onths ending September 30 of ,591,517, an increase of $2,500,000. he latter company owns Los Anles Gas and Electric Corporation, outhern Counties Gas and Southn California Gas. Pacific Gas and lectric earned $12,000,000 in the rst nine months; San Joaquin ight and Power, $2,804,727 for the rst ten months; and Pacific Pub Service, $2,142,631 for twelve onths closed October 31, last.

Earnings of other major compaes listed on the Los Angeles Stock xchange reporting for nine months more this year show a combined crease in earning power of 50 per nt. This list includes Byron Jackn Company, Emsco Derrick and quipment, Hydraulic Brake Comny, Moreland Motor Truck Comny, Republic Supply, Western pe and Steel, Barker Brothers, ommercial Discount, Pacific nance Corporation and Seaboard airy Credit.

Combined earnings of the comnies strictly industrial showed a mbined increase of approximately per cent compared with last ar, while the others grouped as iscellaneous increased their earng power by almost 60 per cent.

PICKWICK LINE PLANS EXPANSION

Bus System to Develop Service Traversing All Mexico

Pickwick Corporation has laid plans to stretch its network of bus lines before the end of 1930 across Mexico from the Rio Grande on the north to the Pacific Ocean on the south, augmenting its transcontinental stage system which now traverses more than 30,000 miles, Charles F. Wren, president, announced yesterday.

"Pickwick Corporation," said Mr. Wren, "has just completed erection of a $300,000 motor-coach plant at El Segundo for the manufacture of sleeper busses and other rolling stock and new terminal facilities have been added, notably at El Paso, Salt Lake City and several other points. The coming year will witness erection of a 200-room hotel terminal at Eureka, and a similar structure at Phoenix, Ariz. The Eureka hotel alone will represent an investment of $500,000.

"At Kansas City, headquarters for Pickwick-Greyhound Lines, there is in course of construction a combined hotel terminal and office building which will be the finest structure of its kind in this country or the world. The building will cover an entire city block, will be nine stories high, with 415 hotel rooms, 90 per cent of which will have baths, and will cost $3,500,000. Ten thousand bus travelers will pass through this terminal daily, it is estimated by Howard H. Morgan, general manager of Pickwick-Greyhound Lines. It will be known as the Pickwick Hotel.

"A deal has just been closed for erection of a 200-room Pickwick hotel at Tulsa, Okla., at a cost of $1,000,000. This hotel terminal, as well as the one at Kansas City, will be completed during 1930.

"In the Pacific Coast territory Pickwick and affiliated stage lines will augment their rolling stock by addition of 100 new busses of the most modern type and costing approximately $1,250,000. This new equipment is scheduled for delivery before next summer's tourist rush."

Western Dairy Reports Record Sales This Year

Total sales for the year of Western Dairy Products, Inc., have passed the $30,000,000 mark and will show an increase of $6,000,000 for the full year of 1929, S. H. Berch, president, announced yesterday.

His report of operations, Mr. Berch said, shows that the two Southern California subsidiaires, Arden Sanitary Gold Seal Farms, Inc., and California Dairies, Inc., have recorded a gain in sales of well over $3,000,000. The satisfactory development of business in this territory is attributed to the decision of the parent organization to locate its headquarters in Los Angeles. Plans were announced a few days ago for a $750,000 building to house the executive offices of Western Dairy Products.

Output of milk by the two local companies totaled 17,000,000 gallons during 1929, an increase of 3,000,000 gallons over the preceding year. Ice cream sales by Western Dairy Products in this territory reflected a 1,000,000-gallon increase, the total to date running slightly more than 7,000,000 gallons, as compared with 6,000,000 gallons in 1928. Butter sales before the holidays in Southern California exceeded 5,000,000 pounds.

Reports of sales do not include returns from several companies in Utah, Texas and midwestern States.

BUSINESS SEERS AT WORK

Experts Busily Engaged in Issuing Forecasts for Next Twelve Months; Comments Optimistic

BY EARLE E. CROWE

From now on the readers of financial pages will be taken step by step on advance tours through the twelve months of 1930 and informed by competent tour managers of what should take place in business, industry and finance. Sometimes these visionary excursions refuse to coincide with the actual route of the business cycles as subsequently outlined in the record, but then it is not the fault of the business experts. They conduct the advance tours with the tacit understanding that "all statements, while not guaranteed, are believed to be correct until the truth is known."

While most of these little adventures into the business future seem to produce the same line of predictions year after year, there are a considerable number sponsored by forecasters with excellent records for accuracy. A few members of this select group have already offered their comments, all well tinctured with sanguine remarks.

LAST HALF FAVORABLE

The Brookmire Economic Service, a professional agency, believes that the general trend of business activity will be downward until about the middle of 1930, possibly longer, after which a renewal of business expansion is expected. The recession period, the Brookmire agency suggests, may be interrupted by a temporary recovery during the current winter months.

"A cycle business reaction, following the prolonged industrial and financial expansion which proceeded with relatively minor interruptions from the middle of 1921 to the third quarter of 1929, seems to be under way" according to this forecast. "This reaction is likely to be somewhat more severe and prolonged than that of 1924. Certain powerful constructive influences now operative render it unlikely that any such depression as that of 1921 will be encountered. A temporary recovery in business before the end of the winter is not unlikely and the final turning point may be seen by the middle of 1930.

"Following this period of readjustment and consolidation, we anticipate within a reasonable period strongly renewed business expansion. This may not reach the proportions of the 1928-29 boom and will probably be marked by certain new and important characteristics. Among these are likely to be a modified governmental regulation of business, growing out of the recent merger movement which has given rise to numerous corporations lying in large measure outside of the scope of present regulatory laws; second, the five-day working week, with its resulting increase in leisure; third new international credit arrangements to avoid the rigors of a general gold shortage."

More detailed predictions have been issued by Col. Leonard P. Ayres of the Cleveland Trust Company, some of which are listed below:

AYRES'S PROPHECIES

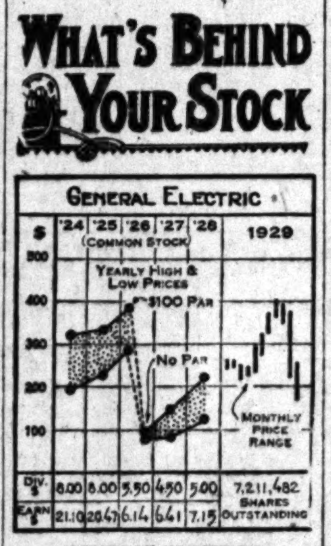
Short-term interest rates will probably have a downward trend as we enter the early months of 1930, changing to a rising one before the close of the year, with average levels well below those of 1929 but not below those of 1927.

Production of cars and trucks in the United States and Canada in 1930 will probably fall below that of 1929 by more than half a million, but not by more than 1,000,000.

The total value of building construction in 1930 will probably not differ from that of 1929 by more than 5 per cent.

Stock prices in the closing months of 1930 will probably be well above the levels of the closing months of 1929, but still below the recent high levels.

Average industrial wages will probably not differ in 1930 by more than 3 per cent from the 1929 average.



GENERAL ELECTRIC

In addition to building electrical energy plants, electric locomotives, lamps, lighting system installations and other fundamental lines, General Electric Company's list of manufactures are diversified throughout the electrical appliance field, including radio apparatus, electric refrigerators, washing machines, vacuum cleaners, "talkies" and photo-broadcasting. Plants in this country have a combined area of over 2000 acres. Foreign interests include Associated Electric Industries, Ltd., controlling the largest similar group in Great Britain, Canadian General Electric and International General Electric which owns subsidiaries operating in Germany and France and many other countries. A dominant interest is held in the Radio Corporation.

Net income for the first nine months of 1929 amounted to $49,-896,925, or $6.65 per share on the common stock, as compared with $38,841,625 or $5.12 per share for the same period in 1928. Thus the $4 annual dividend has already been covered. The financial position is exceptionally strong, with a working capital of $239,183,000. Of the total current assets of $281,847,000, over $170,000,000 consists of cash and United States government securities.

CAPITALIZATION

Funded debt	$ 2,047,000
Special Stock 6 per cent cum. ($10 par)	42,932,480
Common stock (no par)	7,211,482 shares

COTY SHOWS RAPID GROWTH

Banking House Traces Saga of Perfume Business in Corporation Analysis

NEW YORK, Dec. 25. (Exclusive)—Upon the twenty-fifth anniversary of the establishment of the Coty business, Lehman Brothers, investment banking house, is circulating here an analysis of Coty, Inc., which attributes the rise to world dominance of the American subsidiary of the business to the impetus given for the demand of its products to the perfume souvenirs brought home from France by the A.E.F.

The rapid expansion of the business resulted in the formation in 1922 of the present American company to take over the assembling and distribution in the United States and Porto Rico of all products then on the market or to be developed. Last summer this company, established as an affiliate of the French corporation, became the dominant factor in the Coty group, acquiring a majority interest in the five European companies. Thus, control of the largest perfume and cosmetic business in the world passed to American interests.

FACTORIES LARGE

Details of the operations of the European companies are presented in the analysis for the first time in this country. Coty Societe Anonyme, the original French company, has its largest factories at Suresnes-sur-Seine, just outside of the Bois de Boulogne, in the environs of Paris. Its factories occupy about thirteen acres of land, contain more than 4,000,000 square feet of working space and give employment to between 3000 and 4000 persons.

Its products are distributed directly to every country in the world except those countries served by affiliated concerns. The financial record of the company has shown consistent growth, net income, for example, having increased 158 per cent from 1925 to 1928. From 1925 to 1929 a total of 73,950,000 francs was paid as dividends, supplemented by the distribution in 1927 of a bonus in new shares of a par value of 20,000,000 francs.

Coty (England) Limited was formed in 1924 to handle distribution in the British Isles, while Coty Societate Anonima Romana, formed in 1927 because of tariff restrictions in the Balkans, manufactures at Bucharest finished products from essential materials imported from the parent company in Paris for distribution in the Balkan States. Both these companies are established on a satisfactory earning basis.

Societe Francaise des Parfumes Ballet is carrying on a business dating back to 1842 in Russia and destroyed by the Russian revolution, only to be revived in France after the war. Les Cultures Florales Mediterraneennes is the fifth unit of the European group, having been organized in 1925 to develop an independent source of supply for jasmin and orange blossoms.

The rate of growth of Coty, Inc., has even exceeded that of the French companies, the business here benefiting from an expansion of more than 700 per cent in the perfume and cosmetic industry in this country in the last fifteen years. Retail sales of toilet articles in the United States are expected to top $350,000,000 this year with the full potentialities of the market undeveloped.

Net profits of the company have risen consistently, amounting to $4,053,019 in 1928, compared with $1,070,460 in 1923. During the first nine months of 1929, net was $3,-628,313, each quarter having shown an increase over the corresponding quarter of the preceding year. Capital and surplus meanwhile has increased from approximately $1,500,-000 to $7,938,371. Cash dividends have been paid regularly since 1925.

Irish Free State Develops Power

Two important economic steps have been taken in the last few years by the Irish Free State with the development of the Shannon River hydroelectric system and the adoption of a Free State legal-tender currency, according to a credit position study just issued by the Institute of International Finance, which is a fact-finding body organized to study foreign credit conditions and conducted by the Investment Bankers' Association of America, in co-operation with New York University.

The Shannon River development, the institute points out, will not only meet the Free State's present demand for electric power but will also provide for the need of industrial establishments. The total cost of the enterprise will be about $32,-704,000. The currency system is on the basis of notes backed by the government and is especially stabilized by the feature of being convertible into Bank of England notes.

Dealers View New Ford Line

NEW YORK, Dec. 25. (Exclusive) Ford dealers in the metropolitan district are being given their first view of the new Ford line of passenger cars which will be officially announced on January 1, next. The new models will be priced identically with corresponding types of current models and changes in construction are only minor ones.

Outstanding changes are in the body, wheels and tires and these have not been radical enough to alter materially the appearance of the car. Ford plants already are in fair volume production on the new line and by January it is expected the output will be at the rate of 5000 or more cars daily.

INCOME OF STANDARD GAS GAINS

San Diego Subsidiary of Utility Organization Leads Increase.

Net earnings of the San Diego Consolidated Gas and Electric Company and the Southern Colorado Power Company, both subsidiaries of the Standard Gas and Electric Corporation, were higher for the twelve months closed, October 31, last, than in the preceding year, while the other western subsidiaries of the system, Market Street Railway and California Oregon Power Company, reported a decrease, according to a detailed statement of subsidiary earnings just issued by the parent company.

San Diego Consolidated Gas and Electric Company reported the largest increase of all the subsidiaries with net earnings of $3,507,590, up $333,788, or more than 10 per cent over the corresponding period last year.

Earnings of the Southern Colorado Power Company for the twelve months ended October 31, amounted to $1,081,613 against $1,046,927 for the same period last year, a gain of $34,686, or more than 3 per cent.

Market Street Railway Company reported net earnings of $1,458,203 for the year which, compared with $1,507,001 for last year, represents a decrease of $48,798, or in excess of 3 per cent. The California Oregon Power Company reported a net income of $2,070,246, off $78,-003, or 3.5 per cent.

The combined net earnings of all subsidiary and affiliated public utility companies of the system increased $6,277,157 or 9.4 per cent, to a total of $73,031,864. The gross revenues aggregated $152,969,504, up $6,929,543, or 4.67 per cent.

NET INCOME OF UTILITY IN DECLINE

November Report Issued by Nevada - California Electric Corporation

Gross operating earnings of the Nevada-California Electric Corporation for November totaled $348,143.51, as compared with $355,-151.27 for the same month last year, a decrease of $7,007.76, or 1.9 per cent, while for the twelve months ended November 30, last, the gross total was $5,616,327.30, a gain of $175,024.08, or 3.2 per cent over the $5,441,303.22 shown in the similar 1928 period, according to a statement just released by the corporation.

Operating and general expenses and taxes increased from $147,971.31 for November last year to $190,628.14 for the same month this year and for the twelve months increased from $2,323,951.33 to $2,764,124.21, leaving operating profits for November this year at $157,515.37, against $207,179.96 for the 1928 month and for the twelve months, $2,852,203.09, against $3,112,351.89.

Total income including net nonoperating decreased from $215,037.76 in November, 1928, to $166,635.14 for the same month this year and for the twelve months' period the decrease, as compared to last year, was from $3,221,134.08 to $3,013,-817.38.

After interest, depreciation and miscellaneous charges surplus available for the redemption of bonds, dividends, etc., for November amounted to $6163.12, as compared to $33,823.84 for the 1928 month, and for the twelve months totaled $917,388, as against $1,060,099.29 in the 1928 period.

Better Market Seen for Bonds

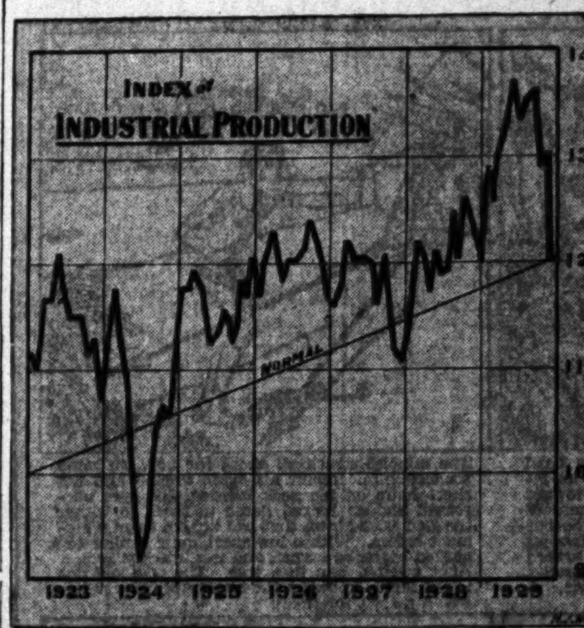
Although it is not expected that bonds will immediately take the place of stocks in the hearts of investors, it is generally believed throughout the East that bonds will return to their rightful place in the investment portfolio, according to F. M. Marx, general partner, in the current issue of Gorman, Kayser & Co.'s Investment Topics.

In a brief analysis of the status and outlook for convertible bonds, preferred stocks and common stocks W. F. Sisson, sales manager, in the same issue, reaches the conclusion that a convertible bond which is selling on a pure investment basis is particularly attractive; that high-grade preferred stocks promise to benefit if the bullish outlook for bonds continues, and that, whether or not an irregular market continues, good common stocks at current levels are now well bought for investment.

BANK AND INSURANCE STOCKS UNIT FORMED

NEW YORK, Dec. 25. (Exclusive) Organization of Financial Stock Clearing Company, Inc., has been completed by those dealers who have agreed to join an association for the clearing of bank and insurance stocks. Officers are Mark A. Noble, president; Otto Culman, vice-president; Willis M. Summers, treasurer, and Clinton Gilbert, secretary.

Production Curve Shows Sharp Dip



Theoretical Normal Touched

November's 7.8 per cent drop in the volume of industrial production was the sharpest decline witnessed since May, 1924. From the above chart it will be seen that the ebb flow in industrial activity has lowered the tide to theoretical normal for the first time since early 1928. Notwithstanding the sharp reduction last month it is likely that 1929 will go down in history as a record annual peak.

Deal for Auto Accessory on Cards in East

WATERBURY (Ct.) Dec. 25. (AP)—Subject to the approval of a stockholders' meeting Monday, the Scoville Manufacturing Company of this city will acquire the entire capital stock of A. Schrader's Sons, Inc., of Brooklyn, N. Y. The price has not been disclosed but the local company intends to issue $25,000,000 5½ per cent debentures of which, an official announcement said, "a substantial portion" will be used to finance the acquisition.

The Schrader concern manufactures tire gauges, valves and tire tools.

The Scoville company, in addition to two larger plants in this city, owns the American Pin Company of Waterville; the Oakville Company of Oakville; the Hamilton Beach Company of Racine, Wis., the Gilchrist Company of Newark, N. J., and the Morency-Van Buren Manufacturing Company of Sturgis, Mich.

INVESTORS RECEIVE INITIAL DIVIDEND

VENTURA, Dec. 25.—Stockholders of the Rincon Investment Company today received checks representing the corporation's first dividend, declared by the directors at a special meeting Monday.

President Thomas Bergseid declined to make public the amount of the dividend, inasmuch as the company is a closed corporation. He said that it came out of a considerable sum of money recently accumulated by the company from lease bonuses and rentals or parcels of its land near the Seacliff oil field. The corporation, now about two years old, has sixty or seventy stockholders, nearly all of them local men. It owns what formerly was the Dunshee ranch of 600 acres just north of the long causeway on the Rincon.

VOLUME OF NATURAL GAS GAINS SHARPLY

Natural-gas deliveries of the Missouri-Kansas Pipe Line Company increased 282,000 cubic feet, or 298 per cent, during the year closed November 30, last, compared with the preceding twelve months, Frank P. Parish, president just announced. Sales of nearly 9,750,000 cubic feet of gas in November to the Central States Gas Utilities Company, a Missouri-Kansas subsidiary, was an increase of 217 per cent over October.

Plan to Revamp Cuba Cane Sugar Makes Headway

NEW YORK, Dec. 25. (AP)—Federal Judge Thacher today approved with slight modification, a reorganization plan proposed by creditors of the Cuba Cane Sugar Corporation, which was placed in the hands of receivers last October.

The plan provides for the formation of a new company which is to acquire the assets of the Cuba Cane Sugar Corporation and assume all liabilities except the outstanding debentures, distributing its securities to depositing debenture holders and stockholders of the old company.

Before the plan was brought to the attention of the court 88 per cent of the debentures, 90 per cent of the preferred stock and 83 per cent of the common had been deposited under the plan.

Valley's Lettuce Crop is Large

RESEDA, Dec. 25.—A last report from this and the Van Nuys district shows that more than 900 cars of lettuce were shipped from the San Fernando Valley area this fall, despite the continued statement that the crop this year would not be large because of adverse weather conditions.

It is estimated that 2200 acres were planted to lettuce in the valley this autumn. Most of the crop came from 1500 acres, as much damage was done by cut worms to the remaining 700 acres. Growers in various localities say that the crop shipped out has brought about $525,000. It also is estimated that nearly 35,000 tons of ice were used in preparing the shipment of lettuce into far-eastern and middle-western markets.

OPERATIONS RESUMED

The Earl Petroleum Company recently took over the Paderewski No. 1 wildcat drilled to 4000 feet southeast of Santa Maria by the Keystone Petroleum Company. It now is drilling below 4250 feet and may be carried to at least 5500 feet.

The Paderewski No. 1 is situated on a 500-acre lease near Santa Maria and is one of two wildcats drilled by Keystone several months ago. The other is True No. 1 on the True Ranch, three miles south of Surf. It was drilled to about 4200 feet but failed to find production and has since been abandoned.

Distress Selling Drawing to Close, Is Belief

NEW YORK, Dec. 25. (Exclusive)—The action of the stock market on the day before Christmas had an effect in causing a more cheerful disposition toward the close and there were many in the street who insisted that a further change for the better is in evidence for the rest of the week.

It was generally assumed that the supply from one source dried up after the selling Tuesday forenoon and that while there might have been liquidation in some quarters before midday that the offerings did not measure up to the demand even while the selling was in progress. A good deal of doubt was expressed as to the character of the buying late in the day, some insisting that the last-hour rallies were chiefly due to covering of shorts, but in important quarters the view prevailed that prices have already reached a level at which many stocks make a strong appeal to buyers both for investment and for speculative ventures.

Investment Counselors for over a Quarter Century

A BULLETIN that states the right policy for investors to follow

So much conflicting opinion as to proper investment procedure under present conditions has recently been held out by more or less qualified sources, that we have prepared a special report to cover this extremely important subject.

The more than 25 years experience of this organization—oldest and largest of its character—is reflected in it. What policy is wise now is stated clearly. A number of important points are brought up and analyzed, with the result that any one reading this report will know what he should do and why.

The supply is not large, but we will send a copy without obligation to those mailing the coupon promptly.

BY HOWARD KEGLEY

In order to aid the producers in carrying on their campaign of oil curtailment in the California fields, it is expected that a plan for allocating shipments of California oil during the coming year will shortly be announced.

Unofficial information is to the effect that a schedule already has been prepared which calls for the movement of 141,500,000 barrels of petroleum products from Los Angeles Harbor during 1930. The unofficial allocation assigns 24,000,000 barrels to Gulf and Atlantic ports, 60,000,000 barrels to foreign ports, and 57,500,000 barrels to the coastwise trade.

If this tentative plan stands up, Southern California will market more petroleum, by 30 000,000 barrels, than it has ever before moved from Los Angeles Harbor in a single year.

Seacliff Revival

Fresh interest in the Seacliff oil field is indicated by the re-leasing of eighty acres from the Rincon Investment Company by the Shell Oil Company. The new lease is for one year and the parcel adjoins, on the south, the Elmer Oil Company's Rincon Investment lease where operations were carried on last year, but without an oil discovery.

Officials of the Rincon Investment Company state that a cash bonus was paid by Shell for the eighty acres. This is regarded as significant in view of the fact that Shell is reported recently to have quitclaimed several other parcels in the Seacliff district.

The Elmer company's wildcat well has encountered a showing of oil sand and now is standing at about 3800 feet. It was originally drilled to 5000 feet, but mechanical trouble developed and sidetracking started at 3000 feet. Indications are that a production test may be made at 3800 feet within a short time.

Wildcats Progress

Search for connecting links along the Santa Barbara county coast is progressing. The Shell Oil Company's Fithian No. 1 on Fithian Ranch, four miles north of Carpenteria, is drilling below 1300 feet. It is not far from the Standard Oil Company's Shepard No. 1, in Casitas Pass, which is preparing foundation for derrick.

A southeasterly extension of the Signal Hill field is being sought by the Continental Oil Company. Its Bryant No. 1 is drilling below 5732 feet in gray sand and shale. It is less than a mile from the Seal Beach field and a short distance from the Shell Oil Company's Alamitos No. 1, drilling ahead below 3500 feet.

The Standard Oil Company is searching for an extension of its Coyote Hills-Murphy properties by drilling Bastanchury No. 1 on Bastanchury Ranch, near Fullerton. Yesterday, the drill was below 3250 feet in sand and brown shale and making steady progress. The Shell Oil Company tested the area northwest of Fullerton by drilling Bastanchury No. 1 below 6000 feet but later was forced to redrill and now is below 4500 feet and making progress in a new hole.

On the south flank of the Puente Hills, the Union Oil Company is drilling ahead in Sansinena No. 1 on a 3761-acre lease. Oil sand showings were encountered before the drill had traveled 100 feet and by the time it had reached a depth of 1600 feet the test was good for a producer, according to reports, but it will be drilled to at least 5500 feet for deep production. Union's test is between Brea Canyon and the company's Stearns lease.

Preparing to Test

The A. T. Jergins Trust is preparing to make a production test in Municipal No. 9 near the intersection of California Boulevard and Spring street, at Signal Hill. Drilling halted in this project with bottom at 8324 feet and nine and five-eighths-inch casing has been landed at 7154 feet. Liner was being run yesterday.

More than 1000 feet of oil sand in the Municipal No. 9 will be tested and if the well should come in as a producer it will be the deepest in the State. The test is on the north flank of the Signal Hill field.

To be Completed

The Standard Oil Company will complete its No. 8 and No. 81 on the north dome at Kettleman Hills, and not suspend them at top of the oil sand, as was previously reported. Both of these wells are near the Milham Exploration Company's Elliott No. 1, discovery well, and the original plan to partially deplete its gas pressure will be carried out.

Standard's No. 81 now is standing cemented with bottom of the hole at 6673 feet, and will be drilled out in a few days. This well formerly produced 1000 barrels of high gravity oil per day. The company's No. 8, a short distance away, is standing cemented at 7108 feet and soon will drill out.

Drilling Ahead

The Archer Oil Company's Watson No. 1 wildcat near Wilmington, is drilling below 5135 feet. Geologists think it probable that this project may strike the same structural fold encountered by the Ohio Oil Company's Recreation Gun Club No. 1, southeast of Venice. Archer's test is about ten miles southeast of Venice, and thought to be on a recently discovered fold against a fault.

To Resume

The Bolsa Chica Oil Corporation has recovered 7300 feet of drill pipe in Ferguson No. 1 at Kettleman Hills. The project now is being under-reamed to bottom, where casing will be landed. There still is a bit and collar to be recovered, but little difficulty is anticipated in their removal.

Returned to Production

The Barnsdall Oil Company has returned to production its Hazelton No. 1 at Maricopa Flat at a depth slightly below 3400 feet. This test was the company's first on Sec. 17, 11-23, and in that field, and it came in for approximately 2000 barrels of oil per day. It sanded up after flowing several hours, however, and has since had difficulty in producing. Although returned to production, sand continues to be the main source of delay there.

Nearing Completion

In the Ventura-avenue field, the Shell Oil Company may complete two wells within the next two weeks. The company's Taylor No. 43 at 7170 feet and Taylor No. 47 below 7775 feet are drilling ahead and deep in oil sand Each will be deepened approximately 100 feet before preparations start to bring them in.

Probation Plea Made by Driver of Death Car

ONTARIO, Dec. 25.—Plea of guilty to a charge of manslaughter against Ramon Chavez, local Mexican, as result of the death of S. L. Shannon, Armistice Day, was followed by a strong plea for probation in Superior Judge Charles L. Allison's court, and January 4 was the date set for hearing the application.

Shannon was killed while standing at the side of Foothill Boulevard, talking with a traffic officer. Chavez's automobile swerved from Foothill Boulevard, and crushed Shannon to death between two automobiles. The Traffic officer escaped with his life by a quick leap.

Shannon's wife sitting in the car, swooned at the grewsome accident.

Motor Officer Hurt in Fall

UPLAND, Dec. 25.—Having been thrown from his motorcycle a score of times while in pursuit of speeders, Louis Kronmeyer, Upland's State traffic officer, has conceded defeat to the two-wheeler.

While in San Antonio Community Hospital, now recovering from several fractured bones received when his motorcycle plowed into a truck while pursuing a speeder, Kronmeyer announced his days of motorbiking are over.

As soon as he is able to return to his duties he will patrol the highways in a car if the State department gives its okeh.

WOMAN GETS BIG FINE FOR SELLING LIQUOR

VAN NUYS, Dec. 25.—After a plea of guilty of possession and the sale of liquor, Mrs. Ella Rubo of Calvert street, was fined $1000 or 100 days in jail, by Judge Clifford Brown of the Van Nuys Municipal Court.

The woman was arrested by Officers Brown and Sparks of the San Fernando Valley dry squad during a raid on what they asserted was a speakeasy. During the last two months there have been only a few liquor raids in the valley area. As the Christmas season has approached Brown and Sparks have made a number of arrests. Mrs. Rubo was one of several brought into court.

YULE GREETING HAD ALCOHOLIC CONTENT

ONTARIO, Dec. 24.—J. McMillan, 41, of 439 Second street, San Bernardino, made a grave mistake.

He entered Ontario Firehall, and very eloquently wished the firefighters all kinds of Merry Christmases and Happy New Years.

The police department is in the same building, and Chief of Police Arthur Axley, hearing the greetings, looked out from his office. Then he invited McMillan in, and ordered him held for hearing before Judge George R. Holbrook, on liquor-possession charges.

BRAZIL OFFERS FRANCE PAYMENTS ON LOANS

PARIS, Dec. 25. (AP)—Brazil has made France a greatly appreciated Christmas present by offering to pay coupons on four loans in gold. The Ministry of Finances today issued the following official note: "The Brazilian Embassy has just informed the Ministry of Foreign Affairs that all necessary measures have been taken for the payment in gold of the coupons of the 4 per cent Brazilian loan of 1911, due January 1, 1930.

SHORTER ROUTE TO PASADENA PLANNED

ROSCOE, Dec. 25.—The ordinance of intention for the paving of La Tuna Canyon Road from a point near Wildwood street to a quarter of a mile beyond the Belmont Country Club has been adopted, residents here have been notified. Protest date is January 21, next. The paving of the road will result in a shorter route with easier grades, from San Fernando Valley, over a mountainous section, into Pasadena.

FRANK M. KEFFER RUN DOWN BY AUTO

VAN NUYS, Dec. 25.—Frank M. Keffer, publisher of the Van Nuys News, former president of the California Newspaper Publishers' Association and prominent Kiwanian, suffered a broken rib in an auto accident while he was in Hollywood last night. Mr. Keffer was knocked down by an automobile while he was walking in a pedestrian zone.

VETERAN POLICEMAN DIES

SAN JOSE, Dec. 25. (AP)—Capt. David N. Campbell, 79 years of age, for thirty-five years an active member of the San Jose Police Department, was found dead in bed at his home this morning.

MASONS TO INSTALL NEW LODGE OFFICERS

MONTROSE, Dec. 25.—Installation of officers in the Crescenta Valley Lodge of Masons is scheduled for Thursday night, when Newton Van Why, past Master of Unity Lodge of Glendale, will conduct the ceremonies.

Caltech Ranks High in Average of Graduations

PASADENA, Dec. 25.—Through restrictive entrance requirements inaugurated in 1924 the percentage of students who are graduated from the California Institute of Technology has been increased from 30 to 40 per cent, which is 8 per cent higher than the national college average of approximately 32 per cent, it was revealed today.

Recently, the United States Bureau of Education reported results of a tabulation covering colleges in all parts of the country. These results indicate that out of seventy-two youths and girls entering college, only twenty-three are likely to graduate, a percentage of 31.94.

During the last seven years, the percentage of students who have been graduated from the California Institute was 31.25, or slightly less than the national average, but in the last five years, during which the present system of entrance examinations has been in vogue, the local institution's graduation percentage has risen.

White Spot of America Still in Southland

REDLANDS, Dec. 25.—Southern California is still the "white spot" of business in the United States in the opinion of Bruce McDaniel, general counsel for the Mutual Orange Distributors, who returned last night from the East where he visited the large cities in the interests of his organization and spent some time in Washington conferring with Federal Farm Bureau members.

McDaniel said he found business fair in most places but that it is not brisk and not as good as it is in California. Most persons have their eyes turned to California and are hoping to come out here to live some day.

McDaniel reported that the weather was anything but pleasant while he was in the East. There were blizzards, snow and ice and transportation was at a standstill part of the time.

HARBOR ISSUE WILL BE ARGUED MARCH 4

VENTURA, Dec. 25.—March 4 has been agreed upon as a date for hearing of arguments and the submitting of briefs in the county harbor mandamus action. Originally the State Supreme Court had fixed January 7 as the time for the Board of Supervisors to show cause why a special election had not been called, as demanded by the County Harbor Commission, on a $2,000,000 bond issue. Dist.-Atty. James Hollingsworth, who is counsel for the Supervisors, has received a signed stipulation from Francis Price of Santa Barbara, the Harbor Commission's attorney, agreeing to the later date. Oral arguments and the submission of briefs will be made on that occasion, when the court sits at Los Angeles.

CITY HALL SITE BONDS SCHEDULED FOR SALE

VAN NUYS, Dec. 25.—The Van Nuys City Hall site bond issue which was voted by residents to buy property on Sylvan street and Sylmar avenue as the location for the proposed $275,000 City Hall for San Fernando Valley will be offered for sale on January 14, next, it became known here today through a communication from the Los Angeles City Council. Bonds for $350,000 to meet pending claims as a result of the St. Francis Dam disaster will be offered for sale at the same time, it was stated. The sale of the City Hall bonds will clear the way for the appropriation by the Los Angeles Council of the money with which to erect the City Hall.

cussion, but it was believed this situation will change immediately after Christmas, and that funds will then be in ample supply to forecast a lower rate for both call and time loans.

The foreign exchange market continues to attract attention, chiefly because of the firm tone of sterling exchange and of the manner in which French exchange is maintained above the gold export point. It was not thought, however, that even if further shipments of gold are made that they will have a special influence on the money supply.

Offerings of stocks are expected now to be limited to short intervals each day, as most of the stocks that are expected to meet pressure are already in broad enough demand to withstand any moderate selling and to absorb offers in the same manner that was done Tuesday.

TAX SALES NEAR END

Only another week remains in which there can be any purpose for selling stocks for income tax returns. It has been understood that selling of this character had been in progress all through the past week and that there had been some sales in yesterday's trading, but those in position to judge of present market conditions hold to the view that the volume of such selling this year will be comparatively small and has about been completed. The street now looks forward to a recovery of the stocks sold for this purpose and buying back of many lines is expected to begin within a short time.

Little was said about any special issue or group, but there are reasons for believing that concerted bullish activities are under consideration in a number of stocks and are only waiting for an opportune time to begin operations. Some of the low-priced dividend issues are spoken of as having been put in a strong position through the tying up of large holdings under the control of important houses or operators and those issues are expected to be among the first to be directed in their movement by bullish demonstrations.

MOTORS WATCHED

In some quarters it was thought that the leading motor stocks should receive consideration as bullish possibilities at the present time, chiefly because of the low prices of many of those stocks compared with their dividend return and known asset value. General Motors has been stubbornly held at around its present price over a long period and at times some of the largest houses on the street are known to have taken amounts in excess of 100,000 shares of that stock within short periods.

Important interests in the oil group assert that they are well satisfied with the action of the oil stocks in general and only desire that the leading oil stocks will retain their present position for a few more days. After that time affiliations of the control by some stocks expect to see the issues in which they are concerned have sharp advances.

Bond Prices Advanced Steadily

during 1921 and 1922. Bond yields were correspondingly lowered. We believe that 1930 will witness a repetition of this movement and suggest the advisability of purchasing such securities.

Child Snatched from Death as Auto Nears Her

CHICAGO, Dec. 25. (Exclusive)—Five-year-old Jessica Rolph is speeding on her way to her home in Pasadena, Cal., alive and happy because an unidentified bashful hero risked his life to save hers in the Loop this afternoon. The child had just come out of a theater with her parents and started to cross the street, to go to another theater while waiting for a train.

The child dashed ahead of her father and mother, Mr and Mrs. Ralph Rolph, and in doing so slipped in the slush on the car tracks, falling prostrate in the path of an automobile. As she fell a pedestrian leaped to her rescue and scooped her out of the slush as the car slid past, splattering him with mud. Putting the girl in the arms of her father, a retired oil operator, the man disappeared in the holiday crowd.

Bay City Auto Crashes Many

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 25. (Exclusive)—Eleven persons were injured in seven Christmas Eve and early Christmas morning automobile crashes within the city limits and throughout the night and day reports of scores of accidents came in from points throughout the Bay District.

Four local accidents were of the hit-run variety. In virtually all of the crashes police said liquor probably had played a part.

Hoover Pardons Three Soldiers

ALCATRAZ ISLAND, Dec. 25. (AP) Presidential pardons today made three men incarcerated in the army prison here free. They were released on recommendation of Col. G. Maury Cralle, barracks commandant, for the best behavior during the year. The men are Henry C. Moore, 25 years of age; Frank Thomas, 33, and Theodore Ballinger, 40.

WIFE SEES EX DEPUTY SAY HIS FIRST MASS

SEVILLE (Spain) Dec. 25. (AP)—Count De Aldama, former Deputy from Granada, who now is a monk in the Salesian Monastery here, today celebrated his first mass, assisted by his two sons. His wife, who also has just taken religious vows, and two daughters, who have been nuns for several years, attended the services. Papal dispensation made it possible for the family to forsake the world.

HOLT TRIUMPHS IN DEL MONTE EVENT

DEL MONTE (Cal.) Dec. 25. (AP) Harry Holt of Pebble Beach won low gross and low net in today's Christmas golf tournament at Del Monte, scoring 79-22—57. It was a real Santa Claus tournament as all putts were conceded. A. L. Dunn, Seattle, won second low gross honors with 81, while L. S. Uhlman, Carmel, took second low net 84-22—62. The next Del Monte tournament will be the New Year's event, December 29-31.

MacDonald Goes to Scottish Home for Christmas

ELGIN (Scotland) Dec. 25. (AP)—Prime Minister MacDonald arrived here this morning and departed immediately for his Scottish home at Lossiemouth, where he will spend a fortnight.

Mr. MacDonald was radiant and cheerful over returning. Friends who met him at the station said they noticed, however, that he had lost much of his healthy color since his last visit to the north. He will return to London during the second week in January to clear up the Labor Ministry's final tasks before the opening of the five-power disarmament conference and the reassembling of Parliament January 21.

Arizona to Free Burke Suspect

NOGALES (Ariz.) Dec. 25. (AP)—Sheriff Patterson said tonight the fingerprints of J. P. Barton, arrested on the belief he was Fred Burke, Middle Western gangster, are unlike classifications received from Chicago, and the man will be released.

NOTICIAS MUNDIALES DE ULTIMA HORA

NOTAS TELEGRAFICAS

Los Radicales Hacen una Encuesta Acerca de Sandino

CIUDAD DE MEJICO, Diciembre 25.—El diario El Universal informa hoy de que el partido comunista de Méjico, el cabildo mejicano de la Liga Anti-imperialista, y la comisión "No Meterse en Nicaragua" habían abierto una información para averiguar si es cierto que el general Sandino, líder liberal nicaragüense desterrado, haya aceptado un cheque de $60,000 como precio de su salida de Nicaragua.

Hace varios meses que el citado guerrillero se vino a Méjico, y ha estado viviendo en Mérida, la capital de Yucatán, según cargos formulados por los tres grupos políticos aludidos, está llevando vida de millonario.

Presidentes Hispanoamericanos que Se Restablecen

BALTIMORE, Diciembre 25.—Estaban hoy para poner término a su estancia en Baltimore, el presidente electo de Méjico, Ortiz Rubio, y el general Horacio Vázquez, presidente de la República Dominicana.

El señor Ortiz Rubio partirá mañana para Washington, y se han hecho algunos preparativos para que el general Vázquez se embarque el 2 del entrante Enero rumbo a su país. Ya pasa sentado una parte del día, y hoy dijeron los encargados del hospital de Johns Hopkins que si continúa su mejoría, podrá ser dado pronto de alta con su esposa, que también ha estado recibiendo tratamiento médico en el citado hospital.

El presidente electo Ortiz Rubio, que vino a descansar en el sanatorio de Johns Hopkins hace como diez días, salió de ese establecimiento el lunes junto con su señora, y se reunieron ambos con el resto de la familia en el Hotel Belvedere.

Los Pobres de Colonia Atacan las Tiendas

BERLIN, Diciembre 25.—Debido a que no pudieron comprar comestibles y regalos para sus familias en Navidad, cientos de hombres sin trabajo de Colonia se organizaron y atacaron las tiendas y los grandes bazares judíos.

Pequeñas escuadras capitaneadas por socialistas nacionales destrozaron a pedradas los escaparates, y no se retiraron sino hasta que la policía dio una carga contra ellos.

MacDonald Va a Pasar la Navidad a su Casa de Escocia

ELGIN (Escocia), Diciembre 25.—Esta mañana ha llegado aquí el primer ministro MacDonald, y acto continuo se ha marchado para su casa de Lossiemouth, donde pasará una quincena.

Radiante y satisfecho parecía el señor MacDonald, si bien hacen notar los amigos que fueron a saludarlo a la estación, que ha perdido mucho de los buenos colores que tenía cuando su última visita al norte. Regresará a Londres en el curso de la segunda semana de Enero, a fin de liquidar las tareas finales del ministerio del Trabajo antes de la apertura de la conferencia de las cinco potencias sobre el desarme, y de la reapertura del parlamento, el próximo 21 de Enero.

Funcionarios de Inmigración que Suplantan a Cupido

SAN FRANCISCO, Diciembre 25. Los funcionarios de inmigración de ésta desempeñaron hoy el papel de Cupido, y ordenaron a la señora Palagala Klenchina, de Rusia, que vaya a Newport Beach y se case con George Kemeneff.

Hace ocho años que se conoció la pareja en Rusia. Kemeneff emigró hacia California y se estableció en Newport Beach. En el interin, la señora Klenchina se casó y tuvo un niño.

Al morir su esposo en Rusia, hace seis meses, la familia de Kemeneff ofreció a la viuda pagarle su viaje acá, para que se casara con Kemeneff. Ella aceptó y se vino.

Ahora, según manifestó a la Oficina de Auxilios a Viajeros, va a ir a Newport Beach y a casarse con Kemeneff. Si no se casa, tendrá que ser deportada.

NOTAS LOCALES

Suicida que se Sale con la Suya

La mañana de Navidad expiró la señora T. D. Chenoweth, de 31 años, que vivía en el 2123 del bulevar de Santa Mónica. Yacía muy enferma desde hace cuatro días en el Hospital Luterano de California, a consecuencia de haber ingerido veneno con ánimo de suicidarse.

La señora Chenoweth, según parte de la policía, estaba abatida por disgustos conyugales, y se había ido a la casa de su mamá, sita en el bulevar de Plymouth Norte, 419. Allí fue donde tomó el veneno, que, a la postre, se la llevó a la tumba.

Muere un Cocinero por Exceso de Libaciones

Demasiado regocijo pascual, en forma líquida, es lo que, al decir de la policía, acabó ayer mañana con la vida de Giuseppi Carboni, de 57 años, cocinero del Hospital General. Fue hallado su cuerpo en el cuarto que él ocupaba, en los pequeños pabellones anexos al hospital, y llevado de allí al depósito judicial del condado. Carboni no deja parientes conocidos.

Charlas Infantiles para Chiquillos de Escuela

Pero los osos saben de trepar a los árboles, y Carson comprendió que pronto vendrían en busca suya (But bears know how to climb trees. Carson knew that they would soon be after him). Sacó su cuchillo, y comenzó a cortar una rama para hacer con ella un palo (He pulled out his knife, and began to cut off a limb. He wanted to make a club).

Un oso es mucho más grande y fuerte que un hombre, y no puede matársele con una estaca (A bear is much larger and stronger than a man. He cannot be killed with a club). Pero todo oso tiene un sitio sensible, que es la nariz (But every bear has one tender spot. It is his nose. No le gusta que le peguen en el hocico, y le duele muchísimo un golpe fuerte en tal región (He does not like to be hit on the nose. A sharp blow on the nose hurts him a great deal).

CRIPPLED SHIP IN PORT

PROVIDENCE (R. I.) Dec. 25. (AP) The Norwegian freighter Karmoy, with a crew of twenty-six, limped into port here early today with one of her holds flooded, after grounding and being refloated off Nantucket Monday night.

IMMIGRATION OFFICIALS ASSUME ROLE OF CUPID

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 25. (AP)—Immigration officials here assumed the role of Cupid today when they ordered Mrs. Palagaia Klenchina of Russia to go to Newport Beach and marry George Kemeneff.

Eight years ago the couple met in Russia. Kemeneff came to California and settled in Newport Beach. In the meantime, Mrs. Klenchina married and had a child.

When her husband died six months ago in Russia, Kemeneff's family offered to pay her expenses over here so she could marry Kemeneff. She came.

And now, she told the Travelers' Aid Bureau, she must go to Newport Beach and wed Kemeneff or be deported.

Three Children Die in Flames

PARIS (Ky.) Dec. 25. (AP)—Three negro children, the oldest 4 years of age, were burned to death here today as they slept, their mother being absent on a trip to a grocery store.

The dead were Robert Harris, 1-month-old infant; Sargeant Harris, 2 years of age, and Willie May Harris, the latter a girl.

The home, a small frame structure, is located in Ruckerville, negro settlement. Neighbors discovered the flames and succeeded in rescuing two older children, but were unable to reach the other three.

Yacht Skipper Freed in Death

CADIZ (Spain) Dec. 25. (AP)—[illegible] Franceschi Caballero has regained his liberty. The court found he was not responsible for the death of his one-man crew, Angelo [illegible], who was drowned on September [illegible] at San Lucar de Barrameda, the day after they completed a voyage from San Juan, Porto Rico, by way of New York in a forty-foot yacht.

The stowaway on the [illegible], Roberto Lopez, member of a wealthy Porto Rican family, bore out the statement of the boat's commander that Carbo Rivera had picked a fight with him and had fallen overboard.

LITTLE CHAP HERO IN HOLIDAY BLAZE

BOY SAVES PLAYMATE FROM FIRE

Five-Year-Old Figures in Rescue of Tiny Girl and Then Gives Alarm

Peeping into the dark corner of a clothes closet with the help of a flaming paper torch yesterday, a 5-year-old boy emerged a hero in a Christmas fire, but at the cost of $1000 damage to his mother's home.

The lad who last night was enshrined in the hearts of his neighborhood playmates as a result of his nimble-mindedness and bravery is Joseph Krohne, son of Mrs. Bessie Krohne of 2749½ Bolder avenue. With little Jenna Jarlotte, 4, who lives a few doors from Joseph and is his playmate, the boy was enjoying his assortment of Christmas toys. Leaving the two unattended for a moment, Mrs. Krohne left the house on an errand.

During the mother's absence Joseph missed one of his new playthings. Search of the room failed to reveal it. Then he remembered leaving it in the closet. With an improvised torch of newspaper lit from a gas-heater he led the way into the closet. Suddenly there was a burst of flame as clothing hanging in the closet took fire. Jenna screamed and, it is believed, would have dropped in a faint from fright had not Joseph dragged her to safety. Once outside the house, the boy gave the alarm.

Federal Dry Officer Quits

James E. Helping, an investigator for the Federal dry enforcement department, has turned in his resignation, to take effect the first of the year, it was announced yesterday. Helping was active in the investigation that led to the statements made by Harry McDonald regarding police administration of the Wright Act.

He stated that this is the "driest" district in the United States so far as prohibition is concerned.

POISONED CHILD DIES ON CHRISTMAS DAY

Manuel Escabar, 2 years of age, of 815 East Twenty-ninth street, died yesterday at General Hospital as a result of lye poisoning, according to a Coroner's office report. The child swallowed the lye November 29, last, while playing on the kitchen sink in his home.

CHURCHES SING OF CHRISTMAS

Thousands Attend Services on Holy Birthday

Seasonal Decorations and Special Music Feature

Bishop Stevens Outlines Spirit of Festival

Thousands of persons gave Christmas thanks yesterday at special services conducted in practically every church in Los Angeles.

Churches were decorated in keeping with the program of sermons, music and pageantry. Morning services brought forth thousands to programs starting as early, in some instances, as 6 a.m.

Bishop W. B. Stevens sounded the spirit of a majority of the Christmas sermons when he spoke yesterday morning at St. Paul's Cathedral.

"There are no words that bring a quicker response from the hearts of aspiring men and women," Bishop Stevens said, "than those of St. John—'God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son that whosoever believeth on Him should not perish but have everlasting life.'

HARD TO GRASP

"The truth revealed is that redemption takes its roots in divine love. God loved the world—not a part of it; not groups or classes. There are no limitations or exclusions in divine love. This is a truth which it is hard for us to grasp. We have so many inherited notions about the harshness of God and His hatred of the unrighteous.

"It might be clearer to us if the world were perfect in beauty and human love, but it is not. Almost from the dawn of creation its ways have been corrupted and God sees it with all of its strife and hatred and grief and selfishness.

"Seeing our sin and all our helplessness, and the sorrow which grow from these, He continues to love and His love turns to pity and compassion, which is directed toward those who seem to be lost in the struggle for decency and righteousness. This truth was reflected by Jesus when He said, 'He came to call not the righteous but sinners to repentance.'"

SPECIAL PROGRAM

Bishop Stevens's sermon followed a service of holy communion earlier in the morning and a special program of music by the choir of men and boys, directed by Dudley W. Fitch. Fritz Hummell, violinist, and Ludwig Foerstel 'cellist, also appeared on the special music program.

The church was decorated for the occasion by the Altar Guild, with Mrs. Colin M. Gair acting as chairman.

Services at Catholic, Episcopalian and Lutheran churches were especially impressive with their pageantry and solemnity.

Starting at 6 a.m. low masses were conducted every half hour until 9:30 a.m. at St. Vibiana's. Rt. Rev. Bishop John J. Cantwell presided at a 10:30 a.m. mass. Sermons were preached during the day by Rt. Rev. Mgr. Cawley, Dr. O'Keefe, and Father Fenton.

Rev. William Kernan occupied the pulpit of Dr. Irving Spencer at St. Matthias Episcopal Church in making the address of the day. A choir of men and boys sang Gounod's "Noel" under the direction of Ernest Douglas.

Twenty minutes of Christmas carols preceded the early morning service at the Highland Park Lutheran Church. Rev. W. G Ruhele, pastor of the church, chose as the subject for his sermon "Thanks be to God for His Unspeakable Gift."

At least in one instance services were given in the native language of members of the congregation and then repeated in English. This took place in the Norwegian church, Our Savior's Evangelical Lutheran Church.

Other places of worship which conducted special services yesterday or last night include St. John's Episcopal Church, St. Mary's Liberal Catholic Church, St. James' Episcopal Church, Mt. Calvary English Evangelical Lutheran Church, Amanda Chapel.

At Amanda Chapel, Carthay Center, a community Christmas program is scheduled for tomorrow and Sunday evenings.

"The Coming of the King," a cantata by Dudley Buck, will be presented tomorrow and Sunday evenings at the First Methodist Church.

PANTAGES FIGHT DUE TODAY

Plea for Release From Jail on Bail Will be Heard; Failing Health to Be Described

Alexander Pantages, millionaire theatrical magnate, convicted of an attack on Eunice Pringle, 17-year-old dancer, is scheduled to seek today his release under bond from the County Jail on the plea that his health is impaired. Hearing of the motion is set for 2 p.m. before Superior Judge Fricke.

Affidavits of eight physicians, it is stated, will be offered in support of the motion. They will set forth that the convicted millionaire is afflicted with the following ailments: A leaky heart valve, angina pectoris, mitral insufficiency, myocardian hypertrophy, chronic cholecystitis, chronic tonsilitis and chronic nephritis. In addition, it is believed they will advance the contention that Pantages has lost weight as a consequence of his confinement.

The affidavits will represent the professional opinions of Dr. Henry M. Lisner, Dr. J. Horton Nichols, Dr. S. F. Fagan, Dr. Ernest Fishbaugh, Dr. O. M. Justice, Dr. Robert W. Langley and Dr. C. P. Kalionzes.

Five other physicians, appointed by Chief Deputy District-Attorney Robert Stewart, whom Dist.-Atty. Fitts has named to represent him at the hearing, will present orally from the stand the outcome of an examination of Pantage's physical condition, conducted in the jail Tuesday. The State's examiners are Dr. Charles D. Decker, Dr. Edward M. Pallette, Dr. C. F. Nelson, Dr. O. V. Sweet and Dr. P. B. Mason. They will re-examine the theater man in jail this morning.

Chief Deputy District-Attorney Stewart yesterday repeated his assertion that the petition will be governed entirely by the findings of the

HELEN GOES A-YAWLING ON HOLIDAY

Mrs. Moody Changes Mind and She and Husband Sail to Catalina Christmas

Exercising her woman's prerogative, Mrs. Frederick S. Moody, Jr., nee Helen Wills, world's tennis champion, yesterday changed her mind again and spent Christmas with her husband of three days aboard the auxiliary yawl Galatea, placed at the couple's disposal for a marine honeymoon by Cyril Tobin, San Francisco attorney and friend of the bridegroom. At 4 p.m. Tuesday the pair embarked on the yawl, but a half-hour later Mrs. Moody decided to abandon the original plan and spend the holiday on land.

Contrary to expectations, however, Mr. and Mrs. Moody drove up to the California Yacht Club at 10 a.m. and shortly afterward were clipping along toward Catalina aboard the Galatea.

The couple indicated their intentions to spend two or three days cruising around Catalina Island and to visit some of the numerous coves that abound in the vicinity of the isthmus, but after that they said they have no definite plans.

Shortly after their departure,

DAY OF DAYS FOR 'NEWSIES'

Solomon Plays Host to 2057 at Christmas Dinner, With Chief Scott and Firemen as Aides

At 11 o'clock yesterday morning there were 2057 vacant chairs in the Sala de Oro ballroom at the Biltmore.

One hour later there were exactly 2057 Los Angeles newsboys in those chairs.

Before them on tables that glittered with shiny silverware on snowy linen lay plates heaped high with turkey, mashed potatoes and "all the fixin's" that go with a real, fine Christmas dinner. At their backs and in the aisles stood some 200 city firemen in the roles of monitors and assistant hosts.

On the stage at the end of the world's largest hotel ballroom stood their host, Fred H. "King" Solomon, whose annual newsboy dinner on Christmas Day has become one of the city's institutions.

HOST'S DAY AT HOME

To these more than 2000 Los Angeles newsboys Fred Solomon was "at home" for the day. Himself a year-'round resident of the Biltmore, it was to his home that he invited his old-time friends. Solemn waiters looked after the inner wants of the guests and Solomon himself hurried here and there, along the aisle between the heavily laden tables, to make sure that each guest was served his share of the wonderful Christmas dinner.

Nor was food, although the main attraction, the only item on a well-filled Christmas program. There was a seemingly unending parade of entertainment. There were brief, heart-to-heart talks and no less a personage than Fire Chief Scott was master of ceremonies. With approximately 200 firemen, captains, lieutenants and the rank and file of the Los Angeles fire department assisting, Chief Scott was on the job to assist in making the fourteenth annual Christmas dinner given the Los Angeles newsboys by Mr. Solomon a real event. For many men in the fire department it was the fourteenth time they have so officiated.

TAXI PROCESSION

More than 100 Yellow taxicabs, led by Chief Scott and his firemen, gathered up the newsboys from the various newspaper offices in the city and, gaily the cavalcade wended its way to the Grand avenue entrance of the Biltmore where each boy, ticket in hand, was passed through the iron-grilled gates and into the fairyland of the Sala de Oro.

An orchestra greeted them as they entered the Galeria from the street. On the second landing another orchestra played lively tunes. In the ballroom still another and larger orchestra played as the newsboy guests filed to their places in orderly ranks, led and guided by Chief Scott's firemen.

There was a ringing cheer from the assembly as Solomon mounted

STORK PLAYS ST. NICHOLAS, TOO

Ten Homes Made Happy on Christmas Day as New Babies Arrive, Five Boys and Five Girls Being Added to Residents of Los Angeles

Father Stork took exception yesterday to Santa Claus taking over all the Christmas delivery of good cheer and happiness and did a little presentation work of his own by bringing sunshine and pleasure to ten homes.

Five boys and five girls were ushered into California sunshine to brighten homes and firesides on Christmas Day, according to reports from various hospitals.

At the Good Samaritan Hospital Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Roberts of 29 Palm street were enjoying the gift of a girl, who arrived at 11:30 a.m.

Two couples were happy at the Angelus Hospital, where a boy and girl made their Christmas Day appearance. The boy arrived for Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Janssens of 469½ East Thirty-seventh street, and the girl for Mr. and Mrs. T. P. Bacca of 334 North Hobart Place. The boy checked in four hours in advance of the young lady, arriving at 11:08 a.m., with the girl announcing her appearance at 3:45 p.m.

A cooing trio, two boys and a girl, arrived at the Hollywood Hospital in pink-and-blue wrappings for two Los Angeles couples and one from Pasadena. Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Berkey of 250 Bonita avenue, Pasadena, were presented with a son; as were Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Brame of 632 South Highland avenue, while Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Williams of 7271 Oakwood avenue, were made happy by the arrival of a girl.

At the California Lutheran Hospital honors were even, Father Stork ringing the door bell with a boy and a girl. Mr. and Mrs. Harry P. Moller of 3350½ Pepper avenue receipted for the girl and Mr. and Mrs. Leland C. Jennings of 1811 South Mansfield avenue signed on the dotted line for the son.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Shudde of 5318 Romaine street thanked the winged visitor for the safe arrival at the Santa Monica Hospital of a boy. The youngster arrived just at daybreak or at 5:10 a.m., and the scales registered seven pounds and ten ounces when he was weighed.

A tiny girl was presented to Mr. and Mrs. Fred Gormley of 7611 Santa Monica Boulevard, after the stork paid his visit to the Abbey Hospital.

CHARITIES FEED HOST OF HUNGRY

Salvation Army Pools With Midnight Mission

Twenty-five Hundred Filled by Combined Efforts

Los Angeles was a generous Christmas host yesterday to the friendless, the homeless and the needy.

Churches, civic organizations, charitable institutions, business firms and individual citizens co-operated to extend the spirit of the Yuletide until it enveloped the entire city.

No one who wanted a Christmas dinner with turkey and all of the trimmings was denied, whether his pocketbook was empty or not. No child went without toys if their lack was made known. No man or woman in need of a helping hand was denied that aid where known.

POOLED RESOURCES

Perhaps the largest concentrated effort to make a merry Christmas for those who otherwise would have spent a dreary day was that conducted by the Midnight Mission at Fourth and Los Angeles streets. There the Mission and the Salvation Army combined earnest efforts in feeding 2500 hungry men. Workers also hurried to all parts of the city with baskets of groceries, when they were informed of the whereabouts of worthy poor. In the Mission chapel practical Christianity was dispensed as freely as the food was given in the dining-room. Speakers urged men to work and offered help in getting them jobs.

The Midnight Mission not only played host to those who applied directly to it for aid but also, under an agreement reached between the two organizations, fed all men who applied to the Salvation Army.

Dinner was served at noon but before the dining-room was opened Col. J. W. Gooding, head of the industrial division of the Salvation Army, and Mrs. David R. Covell, superintendent of the Mission, talked to the men gathered in the assembly hall. The plea of the speakers was for those upon whom misfortune had descended to have courage enough to fight on; they challenged the "down-and-outer" to look for a job and pledged the support of the Mission and the Salvation Army in finding work for those who want it.

MULTITUDE COMES

More than 1500 tickets for a free Christmas dinner were given out at the Mission by Mrs. Covell and her assistants in less than two hours. Approximately 250 men were fed in the dining-room at one time. The menu included turkey, pork and beef, cauliflower, salad, olives, celery, pickles, pie, cake, ice cream and other delicacies.

Nor was the dinner the only charitable work of the Mission as a part of the Christmas program. Christmas Eve every man who slept at the Mission was presented with a pair of socks, each filled with candy, fruit and some article of wearing apparel.

Throughout the day yesterday, in addition, there were many calls for outside work by the Mission staff. Such automobiles as she could command were used by Mrs. Covell in hurrying baskets to needy poor throughout the city.

"MOST SUCCESSFUL"

"Altogether, I believe that this has been perhaps our most successful Christmas," declared Mrs. Covell last night. "Co-operation between the Community Chest, the Salvation Army and other charitable organizations has resulted for the first time in putting charity on an efficiency basis. It means real help for the worthy and at the same time it means the weeding out of the unworthy.

"When the Mission decided to pool its resources with those of the Salvation Army in the matter of Christmas dinners it profited by all the saving that goes with concentration of effort."

FRIEND IN NEED

As a result of her Christmas work Mrs. Covell last night took to her home Buford Hughes, 16 years of age, who wandered into the Mission Christmas Eve with cut and bleeding feet and empty stomach. The lad told Mrs. Covell that he was born in Greenville, Tenn., and that both of his parents were dead, the mother passing away a few months ago.

Young Hughes decided to come to California three weeks ago in search of a married sister, Mrs.

MANY JAIL INMATES FREED

Scores Win Liberty But Rules Modified Only Slightly for Others Who Get Pork Dinner

Between 100 and 125 County Jail prisoners were free yesterday to enjoy Christmas in the usual manner. Those released, according to jail records, were persons whose terms had expired, been modified or who in some instances had been granted parole or probation during the last few days.

For several years it has been the custom of the County Parole Board, consisting of Dist.-Atty. Fitts, Sheriff Traeger and Chief of Police Davis, to consider deserving applicants for parole and in some cases make recommendations.

Dinner in jail yesterday consisted of the ordinary Sunday fare of roast pork, sweet potatoes, gravy, bread, coffee and jello. No one, regardless of their wealth or status before entrance in the jail, was permitted to receive food from outside sources, or have other than the ordinary jail food, unless under a diet or an inmate of the jail hospital.

Prisoners, such as Alexander Pantages, former Dist.-Atty. Keyes and a number of others, ate their meals in their respective tanks, according to rules.

Practically the only unusual phase of jail activity during the day was the continual stream of visitors. The usual period of twenty minutes per visit was extended to an hour and the rule that each prisoner be allowed but two visits a week was not enforced.

STATE MEETINGS OMITTED

The Kentucky Blue Grass Club and Arkansas and Tennessee State societies will omit their December meetings, but will hold their January reunions as usual.

The Lancer

by Harry Carr

THIS is a truly alarming bit by information contained in a dispatch from London—

The Prince of Wales always emerges from the bath tub whistling "Alice, Where Art Thou!"

"Then," says the dispatch, "he takes a ten-shilling note; rolls it into the tiniest ball imaginable, throws it playfully at the head attendant; jumps to the wheel of his sports car and drives away."

Let us hope and trust that he puts on a little something or other before he finds Alice.

PEACHES' DADDY

Daddy Browning has moved coyly back into the limelight with some shining medals to contribute to children who are brave; who are self-sacrificing, and who have good morals. Having supplied the money to slice the surplus beef from the too-opulent calves of "Peaches"—so she could leave him for a stage career—it would seem that Daddy himself rates at least one of the medals.

FAMINE

For the relief of the famine sufferers of China something like seventy-five tons of farm seed have been shipped from the United States. Meanwhile, China is burning up enough money every day in one or the other of her civil wars to supply seed for all the farms in the world.

CLARA CELEBRATES

Clara Phillips sent out from the San Quentin prison a number of Christmas gifts for her friends. The presents consist of photographs of herself with blond hair—according to the war correspondents at the front. Clara says that the reason she wishes to get out of jail is to show the world that she can be a simple, devoted little housewife. Well, I—for one—am kind of worried about it.

SUZANNE COMES BACK

Almost with the echoes of Helen Wills's wedding bells tingling in the air. Suzanne Lenglen is applying for reinstatement as an amateur tennis player. She evidently believes that husbands are no benefit in the great game.

Alas, that we should be compelled to admit the grievous fact, but Suzanne could beat any woman player who ever lived—married or single—in about three tournaments out of five. She is the rare genius who happens but once during the life of any sport.

OUR GREATEST SOLDIER

One of the important books of the year is one about Gen. Sherman by H. Liddel Hart, the English military critic. Sherman has always been the soldiers' soldier. His was probably the finest military brain in the Civil War. Grant was neither adroit nor especially brilliant. He assumed command of the Federal armies after another general's victory and had the rare common sense to realize that victory could be quite as disastrous as defeat for the Confederate armies if he did not give them a chance to rest or to feed themselves. He defeated far more skillful generals on the same principle that a man walks down a wild horse.

OFFICERS HUNT DRUG ADDICTS

Three of Six Still at Large After Spadra Break

Trio Captured in Pomona as They Wander About

Guards Swept Aside When Group Starts Flight

Deputy sheriffs and police of Southern California last night were enlisted in a widespread hunt for three drug addicts, members of a gang of six inmates who made a successful break for liberty from the State Narcotic Hospital at Spadra at 3 a.m. yesterday, cut telephone wires, swept guards aside in the mad rush and leaped a high fence bordering the institution to escape in the darkness.

Three of the fleeing addicts were apprehended last night in Pomona, where they were found by police wandering idly on the streets. None of the trio gave the searching officers any trouble and submitted meekly to capture, according to the Pomona authorities.

The three picked up are Ernest Dills, 48 years of age, committed from San Joaquin county; Robert Ingersoll, 49, Sacramento county, and Herman C. Schick, 42, San Joaquin county. The three at liberty and the object of the intense search are William Casaux, colored, 39, San Joaquin county; Joseph Mybrat, 42, San Francisco county, and Fred W. Worthington, 37, San Francisco county.

Ernest Thomason, another addict, committed from Los Angeles last month, joined the rush of the six who escaped but was captured by Guard William Marr as he was scrambling over the fence behind the others. Thomason put up a frantic battle but was subdued by Marr.

PHONE ALARM BALKED

Immediately after the successful break of the six and after the guards forcibly brought order among the drug-ridden inmates of the institution, Supt. Joyce reported to deputy sheriffs of the San Dimas substation that he tried to communicate with officers but found the telephone wires had been snipped.

Dr. Joyce announced to the deputy sheriffs and police of Pomona that today he will authorize Dr. Wyers, his assistant, to appear before the authorities in Pomona and prefer charges of attempted escape against Thomason, the fleeing addict, who was captured at the fence.

Yesterday morning's uprising and escape among the addicts is the third serious break at Spadra this month. On the 7th inst. four men escaped in a midnight rush after they overpowered and severely beat a guard with blackjacks. On the 9th inst. two more of the inmates went over the fence to liberty.

DESPERATE GROUP

Last summer fifteen of the inmates revealed a revolt that had been brewing for weeks when they suddenly rushed their guards in the dining-hall of the institution and fled. Several of the guards were beaten badly in that uprising.

When the hospital's telephone communication had been restored Dr. Joyce enlisted the aid of all peace officers in Southern California in the attempt to get the escaped addicts in custody. They are reported to be of the most violent types under treatment at the hospital and every effort is being made to capture them before they begin desperate attempts to obtain their coveted narcotics.

an automobile at Sunset Boulevard and Everett street.

At Georgia-street Receiving Hospital he is reported suffering a skull fracture and severe lacerations of the face and neck.

The automobile into which Squillante crashed is reported by police to have been driven by L. Hilliker of 420 North Broadway. He was not reported injured.

HIT-RUN VICTIMS

Apparently the victim of a hit-and-run motorist, Fred Lindstrom, elderly music instructor of 2170 Pepper Drive, Altadena, was found unconscious near the intersection of Allen avenue and Washington street, Pasadena. He was taken to the Pasadena Receiving Hospital suffering serious injuries.

A portion of an automobile found by deputy sheriffs near where Lindstrom was lying gave the investigating officers their only clew in their search for the motorist believed to have struck Lindstrom.

A hit-and-run motorist also ran down George A. Stroud, 62, of 1017 East Adams street, as he alighted from a street car at Vernon and Central avenues. Stroud received a fractured left leg, a broken ankle and a dislocated shoulder.

Miss Charlotte Haugland, 27, of Olive View Sanatorium, suffered a fractured pelvis and cuts when the car in which she was riding with Ruth Kilstofte, 636 Frigate street, Wilmington, collided with another car driven by York Waldau of 2036 West Seventy-ninth street.

Richard Hale, struck down by a hit-and-run driver at the intersection of San Fernando Road and Granada street, is not expected to live, according to the examining surgeons. He suffered a compound skull fracture and was taken to White Memorial Hospital.

LAGUNA BEACH CRASH KILLS TWO, HURTS TRIO

LAGUNA BEACH, Dec. 25. (AP)—Charles Moore, 82 years of age, of Virginia City, Nev., was killed, and his wife, who is 84, probably was injured fatally, while his son-in-law, George Forster, of Fullerton, and the latter's two daughters, Vivian and Melita, were injured less seriously tonight as the automobile in which they were returning from a family reunion in San Juan Capistrano, went out of control and overturned near here.

Mrs. Forster, the only other occupant of the car, which Moore was driving, escaped uninjured.

A SAILOR'S ship is his home, and when that ship happens to be in port on Christmas Day and by good luck his family happens to be in that port at the same time, the family Christmas dinner is held on board ship. Admirals are no exception to this rule, and this year, his family being in port, Admiral Louis M. Nulton, commander-in-chief of the battle fleet, stationed in the Pacific, held his family Christmas dinner on board the fleet flagship California, at anchor in Los Angeles Harbor. The dinner was held in the admiral's cabin and there were four generations present.

Following the dinner, advantage was taken of the opportunity to christen the admiral's little grandson, Richard Nulton Francis.

BORN IN INDIANA

Richard Nulton Francis was born at Indianapolis, July 17, 1928, and is the son of Dean D. Francis and Admiral and Mrs. Nulton's eldest daughter, Virginia Nulton Francis. Dean D. Francis, the father, graduated at the United States Naval Academy, Annapolis, in June, 1918, and served as a commissioned officer during the World War with the United States Destroyer Flotilla based at Queenstown. At the close of the war he returned to the United States and served on board the fleet flagship Pennsylvania, of which Admiral Nulton then was commanding officer. Later he resigned from the Navy to enter commercial life and now is president of the Wheeler-Schebler Carburetor Company at Indianapolis. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Richard Francis of Flint, Mich., and a grandson of Mrs. John M. Dalrymple of Indianapolis.

FAMILY GATHERING

Of the family present at the dinner were Admiral and Mrs. Nulton, Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Francis, two grandchildren, little Miss Dorothy Dalrymple Francis, and the little grandson, Richard Nulton Francis, together with Mr. and Mrs. J. Richard Francis and Mrs. John M. Dalrymple, thus making four generations present at the dinner.

The christening brought about by the unusual opportunity for the family gathering, took place in the after cabin of the flagship, and was performed by Fleet Chaplain Leroy N. Taylor of the admiral's staff.

Others present were the admiral's chief of staff, Capt. A. St. Clair Smith, wife and daughter, Chaplain and Mrs. Taylor and Commander J. S. Evans of the admiral's staff, and Capt. E. C. Kalbfus, commanding officer of the fleet flagship California.

SOME ABSENTEES

Unfortunately, owing to his relatively recent arrival and extreme youth, the admiral's second grandson, Master Laurance LeWright Browning, Jr., and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Laurance L. Browning of Maysville, Ky., could not be present. Little Laurance is the son of Laurance L. Browning and Admiral and Mrs. Nulton's second daughter, Dorothy Nulton Browning. Laurance L. Browning, the father, was graduated from the United States Naval Academy in 1924, and served on board the flagship California. After the requisite number of years' service afloat he resigned to enter commercial life, and at present is engaged in manufacturing with his father, S. Pierce Browning of Maysville, Ky.

THIEF DIMS LIGHT ON CHRISTMAS TREE

UPLAND, Dec. 25.—Some one with a distorted idea of Christmas, has been doing the best he could to spoil the community Christmas here by stealing light bulbs from the Christmas trees in the business district of Upland.

A number of valuable light bulbs were reported taken from the largest tree in the business area. Careful watch is being kept on the trees now to apprehend the thief.

JAIL DOORS OPEN AS CHRISTMAS PRESENT

CALEXICO, Dec. 25.—Police Judge Tom Anderson and Chief of Police Louis Manss observed Christmas here today by opening the jail doors and releasing all prisoners now serving time. Six men, who were being held on misdemeanor charges walked out when the jail doors opened. Anderson advised them to stay away from the border during the Christmas holidays.

CARDS SHOW HOW WINDS BLOW

Financial Gales of Passing Year Induce More Sober Tone in Seasonal Greetings of Filmland's Notables; Outside World's Fancies Told by Writer

BY ALMA WHITAKER

There is just a soupcon of a tendency to be more economical in this year's Christmas cards . . . no let-up on quantity, you understand, but a trifle less gorgeosity. The top-notchers in motion-picture circles for the most part run to inexpensive elegance.

Charlie Chaplin, for instance, sends a buff card with one gilt edge offering "Christmas Greetings" and "All Happiness in the New Year" in chaste old English type. Bebe Daniels's bears a patrician gold crest with the motto "Semper Paratus" (Always Ready,) in the center of a large plain white rough-edged card. Mr. and Mrs. John Ford use four good pages and red ribbon to send greetings from their Little Gray Home in the West, which is charmingly pictured.

LORNA'S AFFAIR

One significant card is from dear Lorna Moon . . . soft gray and silver, where she usually is so colorful and dashing. But Lorna, recently reported very ill, has fooled us again and will yet live to write six more books and have six more hectic love affairs.

W. J. Cowen and his spouse Leonore Coffee likewise have a simple crest and "Invictus Maneo" to top their plain black and white greetings. This is a style affected by Pola Negri for several years. Last year Pola's cards read "Prince and Princess Serge M'dvani," but now—oh, well. Mr. and Mrs. Park Frame content themselves with a saucy splash of red sealing wax and cutey ribbon ends on an otherwise severely plain card. Hal Wallace and Louise Fazenda give us an engraving of an old French church. Edmund Goulding's card bears only his hefty dashing signature and "Greetings." Richard Barthelmess comes in plain white with a white embossed crest with a unicorn rampant.

Ramon Novarro sends his usual large card depicting a Madonna, but this year she is in prayerful pose against a deep blue background, touched up with gold leaf. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Armstrong go in for richly embossed parchment in four stylish folds and gay colors. Hobart Bosworth sends a replica of an ancient document, signed affidavitly by the entire family and sealing waxed with luxurious abandon. Hobart is not economizing this year, either. Neither, presumably, are Anthony and Zelma Bushell, for their card is a precious original etching of generous size. Fred Niblo sends a picturesque photogravure of his whole family in his garden. Sojin's Chinese seascape and Chinese greetings have arresting charm. Mr. and Mrs. Finis Fox wax old-coachy in golds and reds and blacks. The Warner Baxters have a three-fold affair in rough cardboard, with frisky trumpet-blowing pixies on the front and more of the winged sprites hovering over a shadowy snow-capped house inside. One notes, too, they prefer the word "joyous."

NEW-STYLE OLD-STYLE

Doris Lloyd sends a piquant picture of her new-stylish old English home, four-fold, in black on chocolate. The Frank Reichers have a three-fold card showing a Christmassy house, outside and in. Estelle Taylor's card doesn't mention Jack Dempsey but is a luxurious affair in gold beveled parchment and a gorgeous picture of coach and gable. Little Mary Brian's also is parchment, but tiny, showing a lovely crinolined lady with an impetuous lover. Lois Weber and Harry Gantz send a huge black candle with a red and gold light on a wasteful four-fold card.

Colleen Moore has a cutey little red, green and white wooden Dutch dolly, surprisingly like Colleen. Her John doesn't get in on this one, either. Margaret Livingstone goes in for some dizzy futuristic sleigh riders with a bull's-eye moon in the background.

Barbara Leonard has a gold-and-green crinolined damsel peeping at a huge bell on which "Christmas Greetings" appears in five languages. The Gleasons include the family in a dashing red scroll on plain white. Jeanette Chandler, the new beauty, sends a charming picture of herself. Ruth Clifford includes her hubby on a dashing green card with a big black house and three big wasteful empty pages.

EMOTIONAL RELIEF

One of the most jazzy cards comes from a sedate writer, Maude Latham, who must have been feeling nice and rich. Black lightning, red, green and gold moons, etc. Kitty Brown sends a facsimile of an old earthen rum jar marked "Old Stuff." Anita Page is represented by a red card and a big holly wreath. Just one plain card, to include her family. Dolly and Al Rockett, on the other hand, went in for art, both in line and color, of expensive caliber. Betty Ross Clark sends a radio card and Edna May Cooper a clever sketch of a fledgling taking its first flight!

Polly Walker's card is dashing, like herself—black with red innards, silver and copper, camels and sheiks. Eve Unsell's is rather gorgeous in blacks and greens and golds . . . a beauteous damsel spinning at a latticed window. The Arthur Lakes send a sort of circus poster in huge red letters on a rough wrapping paper. Josephine Brown sends telegrams, as do Lawrence Grant, Hegee Hays, Hedda Hopper, Lou Wilson and Reginald Shouland.

Joe Jackson, the writer, sends a page of newspaper with an interview with himself, in which he assures the world Santa Claus has never passed a dividend yet, so not to sell him short.

FLAMBOYANT SOULS

Actually, the press agents send the grandest, most expensive cards, though. Fanchon Royer and Ray Cannon and Tec-Art all go in for sophisticate black and silver, wastefully four-fold, and Jimmy Fidler, who claims to be broke, gives us six pages of original drawings proving it. Arch Reeve of Paramount reeks of costly simplicity in gold embossing on white . . . also large and four-fold. Ida Koverman, who has forsaken politics for screenland, sends a sentimental pair or lovers trudging down a snowy road, with mistletoe. And Barrett Kisling sighs expensively wishing us "quiet pleasures, sweet content"—and he a Wampas, too!

Society really outdoes screenland in magnificence. Mrs. Charles Henry Thompson has sent exquisite reproductions of many of the old masters . . . Gainsborough's Blue Boy, for instance, to all her friends. Everyone different and worthy of a stylish frame. Mrs. Chester Brown sends a sumptuous affair in red and gold, blues and greens and blacks, with rich cord tassel. Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Preuss favor dazzling red and gold in large size. Mrs. Orra Monette's cards are large beautiful etchings.

MARIONETTES MARCH

Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Darling have a parchment picture of wooden soldiers in gay colors on a gold underslip, the whole inside a four-fold dashing red-and-white folder. Mr. and Mrs. Elsbery Reynolds of La Verne also have a fine old colored print on a huge buff card, twice folded. Four layers of fancy parchment, too, from Mrs. Gustav Biorkman and a dashing green silica card with black-and-white loose-leaf of a snow-laden cottage from Hazel Haynes, who was the dashing Mrs. E. R. Williams before she was the ex-dashing Mrs. Robin Hayne of Santa Barbara. Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bowen (nice yacht and two lovely babies) are content with a chaste little three-fold, red-bordered slip engraved with their visiting card without expressed greetings.

McNabb Called in Barnett Case

U.S. Atty. McNabb will leave on Friday for Washington to confer with the Attorney-General's office regarding various cases involving Jackson Barnett, wealthy Indian, formerly of Oklahoma.

The estate of the Indian, who was declared incompetent, involves several millions of dollars.

YULE SPIRIT LACKING IN BANDIT TRIO

Lone Robbers Hold Up Two Gasoline Stations and Hotel on Christmas

The giving spirit of Christmas apparently is not included in the philosophy of some of the residents of Los Angeles. Three of them, in the role of bandits, celebrated the early hours of yesterday by robbing two gasoline service stations and one hotel.

C. E. McCutcheon reported that a negro, armed with a revolver, held him up in the Shell station at 1711 East Washington street, and robbed him of $35.

Another bandit, white, held up A. Harris in a service station at 832 Wilshire Boulevard and obtained $25.

And the third bandit, described as having iron-gray hair and wearing large goggles and a slouchy cap, held up George Wowaver, night clerk in the Santa Rosa Hotel at Fourth and San Pedro streets, and took $50 from the cash register.

to the stage and endeavored to bid them welcome. It was several moments before he was permitted to speak. After welcoming his young guests the dance-hall proprietor asked all to be silent for a few moments while a silent prayer was offered for "those who have passed on."

No less popular with the newsboys was Chief Scott, whom Mr. Solomon introduced as master of ceremonies. He was given an ovation that long will be remembered.

After reading letters from Mayor Porter, Rev. J. Whitcomb Brougher, Postmaster O'Brien, Harry Chandler, Rabbi Magnin, J. P. Bullock, Police Chief Davis and a number of others prominent in the civic life of Los Angeles, Chief Scott introduced the various guests of honor.

The presentation of gifts from Mr. Solomon to each guest marked the finale of what those who have assisted in the management of the annual event through the years described as the greatest and best Solomon Newsboys' Christmas Party ever held in Los Angeles.

however, a woman friend of the tennis champion appeared at the yacht clubhouse to get the Moody automobile parked there. She volunteered the information that the honeymooners will head presently for Mexican water and possibly visit Mazatlan, to be gone for three weeks or a month, according to J. S. Peyton, superintendent of the club. The Galatea is lardered for a two months' cruise.

Mrs. Moody was attired in a brown sports outfit and her husband in a roomy mackinaw and a yachting cap.

The Galatea is commanded by Capt. Edwardson. Her crew consists of a cook and one sailor.

BUCKO MATES

In Valhalla, the shades of all the bucko mates of the ghosts of the deep-sea ships are roaring phantom oaths. In a San Francisco court, a colored sea cook has been awarded $500 damages because the captain of a fruit ship put him in irons for refusing to paint the mess-room.

Other days; other morals. To a certain degree the rough stuff of old-time sea discipline was necessary. The crews were rough and the captain had no wireless to summon help in the event of mutiny. He had to rule at any cost.

HAWTHORNE ANNEXING VOTE DELAY ADVISED

City Attorney Werner has advised the City Council that the matter of circulating petitions calling for a special election for the consolidation of Hawthorne and Los Angeles had best be held in abeyance, inasmuch as the cities are not contiguous. In the event, he adds, that the Supreme Court upholds the annexation of the Wiseburn addition, the cities then will be contiguous and the proposition can go forward.

ARGENTINIANS STUDY RANCHES

South American Party Gains California Ideas

Buenos Aires Senator Heads Farming Group

Senor Bustillo Gives High Praise to Hoover

Agricultural ideas, as worked out on the ranches of Southern California, will be taken back to South America and there adopted by the ranchers of the Argentine, it was disclosed here yesterday. Senator Joseph M. Bustillo of Buenos Aires, heading a party of Argentine cattle raisers and ranchers, arrived here yesterday for a tour of the Southland. The visitors are quartered at the Ambassador, whence they will carry on excursions into the farming and ranching districts of this section of the State. The party will remain here several days.

Senator Bustillo, publisher of an Argentine newspaper, who is on his first visit to the United States, has met President Hoover and yesterday he was unstinting in his praise of the nation's Chief Executive. Trade relations between the Argentine and the United States are on an excellent basis, he told reporters yesterday.

"The recent visit of your President to our country has had a splendid effect. Our people like Americans and the things that are made in America. American automobiles dominate in the Argentine, of course, and, I am sure, we will continue to use American cars," Senator Bustillo declared.

"It is rank anarchy," the Argentine Senator said, in commenting on the attack Tuesday on President Hipolito Irigoyen of the Argentine Republic. "If the policemen of the world were as good shots as our policemen have proved themselves to be, the anarchists would have to find a new 'racket,'" he said, in praise of the President's body guard, who killed the attempted assassin of the Argentine President.

Included in Senator Bustillo's party of visitors from the South American republic are Senor and Senora Fermin Ortiz Basualdo, Senor and Senora Jose B. Devoto and Senorita Devoto. Senor Basualdo is a brother of Carlos Basualdo, who recently married Leonora Hughes, American dancing girl. They are now in Paris.

WIFE KEEPS HER DOG BUT LOSES HUSBAND

Because Mrs. Marie Freil Woodrow insisted on keeping a mangy dog, she lost her husband, Arthur Alvin Woodrow, it appears from the records of Superior Judge Keetch's court. Woodrow testified that his wife's dog caused him considerable "anguish."

"I pleaded with her to sell it, but she refused," said the plaintiff.

Another complaint by Woodrow involved one of his wife's girl friends, Olive Monroe. Mrs. Woodrow insisted on her friend staying at the house as a "chaperon," he said. Judge Keetch granted the divorce on grounds of cruelty.

AN FOUND DEAD IN CAR OF RELATIVE

Deputies Told He Went to Sleep in Automobile in Intoxicated Condition

Investigation was being made yesterday by the Sheriff's office into the death of Joe Garcia, 26 years of age, a barber, who was found dead in the automobile of his brother-in-law, Paul Contreras, in the garage at the rear of the latter's home at East Second street, according to a Sheriff's office report.

According to the report made by Contreras to the Belvedere substation, he met Garcia, who was in an intoxicated condition, the previous night and when the man refused to leave the automobile he took him to his home, where Garcia requested that he be allowed to sleep in the car. He was found dead yesterday morning when Contreras went to awaken him to breakfast, according to the report.

The body was taken to the undertaking parlors of J. A. Coleman, Whittier Boulevard.

TY STILL BOASTS WATERING TROUGH

Proof that there still are horses left in Los Angeles is contained in a request of the Board of Humane Commissioners to the City Council for an appropriation of $105 to move an animal drinking fountain in South Broadway near Slauson avenue to a new location 100 feet south. The request was referred to the Finance Committee.

ACTRESS TRIES OUT BRACELET ON GLOVE

Jean Arthur and Bracelet

Women probably will do their glove shopping in jewelry stores if the bracelet-glove, introduced to Hollywood by Jean Arthur, Paramount actress, proves a popular mode.

Miss Arthur discovered that wearing elbow-length gloves, decided by fashion this year, created a jewelry problem. Bracelets had to be unfastened, and slipped over the glove each time they were worn, which increased the danger of losing such ornaments.

Miss Arthur's jeweler settled the difficulty by attaching the stones of her favorite bracelet to the wrist of her glove, thus creating a practical as well as novel fashion.

COLISEUM CONTROL UP IN COUNCIL

Development Association Rule of Stadium During Olympic Games Planned

At its meeting this morning the City Council will take up the ordinance authorizing the execution of the contract whereby the Community Development Association, in agreement with the city, county and Sixth District Agricultural Association, continues its control of the Coliseum until the end of 1933.

The association, it is planned, thus will have control of the stadium in 1932, when the Olympic Games will be conducted in Los Angeles.

The Council now has before it the recommendation of its Special Allocations Committee whereby $225,000 is appropriated to be expended in the Coliseum, the county setting aside a similar sum. This money will be expended in making into a permanent structure with concrete the upper deck of the Coliseum, now made of wooden framework. It has been impossible to make this section permanent pending the settling of the earth supporting the upper tiers.

The way is left open for the enlargement of the Coliseum by adding 25,000 seats through an additional appropriation on the part of the city and county.

Love-Sick Girl Takes Own Life

Despondent over the refusal of her mother to permit her marriage, Ruth Hudson, 17-year-old girl of 6160 Poppy Peak Drive, swallowed poison yesterday and died a few hours later in French Hospital.

According to the report of the tragedy given to Highland Park police by Mrs. Dora Downs, mother of the dead girl, the two quarreled early in the afternoon over the desire of the girl to wed. The mother explained that the girl was only recently married, and her wedding later annulled by court action. The girl did not have permission of her mother to marry. The mother told the police that she pleaded with the daughter to wait until she became older before another matrimonial venture. The girl lived about four hours after she went into the kitchen and took the poison. She was given emergency treatment at the Pasadena-avenue Receiving Hospital, but all efforts to save her life were futile.

FINN'S WILLS CRUX OF QUIZ

All Who Came Into Contact With Aged Millionaire During Last Illness to Be Questioned

Interrogation of a number of persons in connection with the investigation begun last Monday by the District Attorney's office into the death early this year of George Lafayette Finn is scheduled to take place today. Following the appearance in his office early this week of Mrs. Gladys McAfee of Santa Monica, grand-niece of the dead man, Chief Trial Deputy District Attorney Beecher announced that he intends to investigate circumstances surrounding Finn's death and two purported wills found later.

Possibility of forgery in connection with the asserted wills, involving an estate estimated at close to [illegible], and also a belief that the elderly man may have died under unnatural circumstances prompted the investigation, Beecher explained. No charges have been made against anyone and the questioning of persons known to have come into contact with Finn during his fatal illness is merely an effort toward arriving at the facts, Beecher said.

Finn, 84 years of age, former Iowa State Senator, died last January at the Darby Hotel, according to information Beecher said he has been given. In a will asserted to have been made by Finn in 1925, Mrs. McAfee and the State of California were made beneficiaries to the extent of several hundred thousand dollars each. A subsequent will is asserted to have disinherited both, according to Beecher. The estate now is under litigation, he said.

Robert Harris Sees City as Place of Opportunity

Leading Business Men Found Easily Approachable

Views Given on Return After Long Stay in Alaska

BY ROBERT HARRIS

[Robert Harris, who was reared in Los Angeles but answered the call of the gold lure in 1898, has just returned to Los Angeles after an absence of thirty-two years. Here are some of his reactions. This is the fourth article to appear in The Times.]

The human-interest side of my story is developing into more consequence than the things I started out to tell when I commenced relating in The Times the impressions of myself after an absence from Los Angeles of thirty-three years.

To my surprise I find the leading men of Los Angeles just as approachable and liberal with their time as my associates in Alaska. I lost a great part of my loneliness in contact with several men one would think would be too busy with their own tasks to give time to strangers. When I stated my mission they dropped the things they were engaged in handling and turned to the problem I brought them just as though nothing else in the world mattered. I wonder if this one trait in a big business man isn't the very thing that makes him successful. When I left these men they had turned back to the business in hand before I could close the door. In Alaska we do business in a very leisurely fashion. We have lots of time and most of the things we do have to deal with natural barriers that require slow decisions.

STRIKING FEATURE

The most striking thing about this discovery is the thought of how easy it would be for a man with a real purpose to find an opening for him to fit into in this great big city of yours. I have been telling inquirers that Alaska is offering the young man who is willing to work and play square the greatest opportunity in the world when right here where you seem to have everything needed to bring happiness opportunity stands beckoning.

Opportunity is a matter of reaching bedrock. We never know up there until we dig down to where the gold can't sift any farther whether we are to have a pay streak or not. It seems to be the same here—one has to dig first. But the matter of digging either is made pleasant or unpleasant by the fellow passing by your prospect hole. If he tells you the creek already has been prospected and there is nothing there, you are apt to be affected badly; but if he gives a word of encouragement you are likely to work your fool head off. Here in Los Angeles everyone seems to have a word of encouragement. I wonder what that has to do with your progress?

VALUE OF FRIENDS

If I were a young man I would settle down in Los Angeles at the kind of work I liked best and let my principal business be making friends. There isn't anything on earth as valuable as a friend nor anything that requires more effort to obtain.

I wanted to say the things I have about Los Angeles because I am going out with a real estate man tomorrow. When I get back I may have changed my mind. We have a radio at my camp some 400 miles by water north and east of Nome and occasionally we tune in on Los Angeles. I think I have heard that bird talk before. In another article I am going to tell you about that radio and what it means to a man up there on the edge of the world when winter isolates him from his fellow-man.

VAST CHANGES

Another angle of your Los Angeles life is the taking things for granted and acting like you were living in a world that always has been as it is here now. Do you people ever stop to think that in the lifetime of one man your city has changed from a rambling adobe town to what it is now? Your streets changed from dusty winding roadways to all these paved boulevards? That it is less than a century since Fremont and a handful of Americans received the surrender of the Mexican flag not very far from where The Times Building now stands? That it has only been a little more than fifty years since the first railroad was built into your town? When your people lose sight of these facts they lose a lot of romance each one is entitled to.

I have been trying to think of just what has brought about all this change and I guess it is because there just isn't any other Los Angeles in all the world. You folks have a lot of things that other people can't get unless they move here, and, as there are more that 100,000,000 people in our own country that are so constituted they too want those things you enjoy, it seems there will be more coming right along.

Christmas Seal Funds Necessary Now, Says Cole

Another appeal for immediate remittance for Christmas seals was made yesterday by Louis M. Cole, chairman of the finance committee of the Los Angeles Tuberculosis Association.

"The association has mailed letters containing Christmas seals to 100,000 residents of the city," Cole stated, "but at present thousands have as yet failed to remit. Funds raised through the sale of seals are the association's sole source of revenue, and on these its entire health educational program depends."

Cole said that ninety boys out at the open-air health preventorium for under-par boys, maintained by the association, yesterday celebrated Christmas in a very colorful manner. The preventorium is one of a number of projects maintained by the association, which has pioneered in sponsoring numerous activities designed to prevent and control tuberculosis.

SETBACK LINES ORDERED

Setback lines of ten feet are established in Robertson Boulevard from Pico Boulevard to Airdrome street by ordinance passed by the City Council.

HARVEST OF GOODWILL'S YEAR LARGE

National Organization and Local Branch Tell of Aid Given to Needy

According to figures just released by the Bureau of Goodwill Industries in America, there have been filled and sent in to the various Goodwill Industries in the past twelve months 1,048,000 Goodwill bags. The Industries during that time paid out $1,318,000 in wages to handicapped and needy folk who otherwise would have been out of employment.

Even more remarkable, by comparison, is the record of the Goodwill Industries of Southern California, which is only one of the fifty-five operating in the United States. A review of the year reveals that this local Goodwill collected 288,450 filled bags, provided 765,447 hours of work, and paid out $287,285 in wages, or more than one-fifth of the total amount paid in wages by all of the Goodwill Industries in the country.

The organization of Southern California has set as its goal for 1930 the collection of 350,000 filled bags and the payment of $350,000 in wages to the jobless, handicapped and destitute.

DEPUTIES SEEK TWO IN BEATING

Christmas Tree Dealer Victim of Mystery Attack on Holiday Morning

Two men who severely beat Francis J. Huber, Christmas-tree dealer, of 5862 Crocker street, early yesterday morning were the objects of a search yesterday by deputy sheriffs. Huber was treated for fifteen lacerations in the head at the Emergency Hospital at Florence avenue and Alameda streets, according to a Sheriff's office report.

Huber told deputies of the Florence-avenue substation that one of the men had come to his place of business at Florence and Compton avenues earlier in the evening, posing as a former acquaintance. Later he returned in an automobile and summoned Huber to a near-by alley on the pretense of offering him a drink, Huber said. Near the car Huber was seized and beaten, the men desisting when one of them is asserted to have advised fleeing, saying he had beaten the victim until his head was soft but was unable to knock him out, the report stated.

The men obtained no money, according to the report.

Actress' Plea Frees Brother

Appearing in court for her brother, a dish-washer in a downtown cafeteria, Yola D'Avril, film actress, succeeded in winning a suspended sentence for him from Municipal Judge Lahey.

Eddie D'Avril, 22 years of age, was charged with carrying a concealed weapon. He was arrested, police reports showed, at the home of his former wife, Pearl Cooper, 1326 Oak street.

Miss D'Avril told the court that her brother had gone there in response to a telephone call for help. He was not aware at the time, he said, that Miss Cooper had obtained an annulment of their marriage a few days before and after a conference with her, in which she informed him of the fact, he was leaving the house when he was arrested. He pleaded guilty to the concealed-weapon charge and was sentenced to serve ninety days in jail, the sentence being suspended by the court.

Colored Bottle Idea Rejected

A suggestion to the Health Commission that milk bottles of various colors for different grades of milk be used in the distribution of the product in Los Angeles found no favor with the body when recommended in a communication from C. W. Sweet, in business at 229 South Los Angeles street. The idea was dismissed as impractical.

Stewart pointed out that the plan has been adopted by the Juvenile Milk Consumers' League of Seattle. His communication was sent to the City Council and referred to the Health Commission.

The color scheme suggested was brown bottles for Grade A pasteurized milk, green for Grade A certified, amber for Grade A raw, blue for Grade B pasteurized, black for buttermilk, red bottles for milk delivered where there is a contagious disease, and violet bottles for milk delivered to schools.

Victor Company Has Celebration

The officers and employees of the California Victor Distributing Company held their annual Christmas celebration at their plant, 949 Santee street yesterday. Lunch was served, presided over by J. M. Spain, vice-president.

Immediately after lunch all gathered around a Christmas tree set up in the reception room where gifts were distributed to each of the employees by M. K. Wiggs, sales promotion manager, acting as Santa Claus. Among the presents were substantial bonus checks received from the company by C. C. Stephenson, Bent Davies, O. W. Kloss, Fred Scarfield, J. B. McElroy, A. C. Lock and W. R. J. Campbell.

DEPARTMENT OFFERED CAR

The Board of Health Commissioners has informed the City Council that the Los Angeles Maternity Service Association is prepared to donate to the Health Department one Ford coupe.

LIMITS SET ON BADGES FOR POLICE

Only Twenty-five Will be Issued to Persons Not in Department

Only twenty-five persons in addition to the members of the police department are entitled to use the new police badges under a resolution adopted by the Police Commission and which is to be incorporated in the new badge ordinance drawn up by the City Attorney.

These exceptions include the Mayor, his secretary, each member of the City Council, the five police commissioners and the secretary of the Chief of Police.

The badges for special officers will be limited to those actually employed in a capacity which requires police authority to protect life, limb or property.

"No press badges shall be issued to any person who is not a bona fide representative of a newspaper, periodical or news agency and certified as such by the manager of such institution," the resolution reads.

"Upon expiration of his or her term of office, the Mayor and each member of the Board of Police Commissioners may wear his or her badge, provided that such badge shall have stamped in the space reserved for that purpose the years of official service of the wearer."

The new badges are to be issued shortly after the first of the year. About 5000 badges now worn by the members of the police department and approximately 3000 civilians will be outlawed.

The city owns the dies from which the badges will be made and they are to be manufactured only by permission of the Police Commission, which has had the badge designs copyrighted.

Suspect Jailed as Bandit Who Robbed Musician

Suspected of being one of two bandits who held up Salvadore De Santella, orchestra leader, and robbed him of a $4000 diamond ring last Saturday night, Samuel H. Seaman, alias Schneider, 29 years of age, of 7415 Hollywood Boulevard, was taken into custody yesterday on suspicion of robbery by Detective Lieutenants Malina and Woolman of the central police robbery squad.

Seaman, whose real name is said to be Schneider, answers the description of one of the bandits, the detectives said. The victim has been asked to view the suspect at a general show-up today at Central Police Station.

After his arrest Schneider was identified through police records as being wanted in Benwood, W. Va., for implication in a bank robbery there November, last, according to the detectives. He denied this.

De Santella was held up on Hamilton Way as he was on his way from the Ambassador to his home at 6306 Lindhurst avenue, Beverly Hills.

Judgment Given in Taxi Death

Mrs. Belle M. Wilson will collect $9500 from the California Cab Company for the death of her husband, Arthur J. Wilson, according to the terms of a judgment given by a jury in Superior Judge Keetch's court.

Wilson was killed when a taxicab ran over him January 31, 1928, at the Wilcox-avenue crossing of Hollywood Boulevard.

COUNCIL TO LISTEN TO PROTESTS TODAY

The City Council this morning will take up the hearing of protests against the establishment of setback lines in Mansfield avenue between Fountain and Lexington avenues and in Bixby avenue from Weston street to Two Hundred Fifty-fifth street. The continued hearing on protests against the improvement of the Pickford-street and Verdun-avenue Improvement District also will be conducted, as will the hearing of appeals against the confirmation of assessments for the paving of the alley south of Seventieth street between Fifth and Sixth avenues.

SEWER CONSTRUCTION ORDERED BY COUNCIL

On recommendation of its Health and Sanitation Committee, the City Council has instructed the City Engineer and City Attorney to draft the necessary ordinances for the construction of sewers in Borel street from Reynolds avenue to Sierra street, in the Huston-street and Belleflower-avenue district, and in the Roblar Place and Dunbar Place improvement district.

GIRL HURT IN FALL FROM HORSE BETTER

Removed from Dickey & Cass Emergency Hospital to her home under care of a private physician, Miss Patsy O'Brien, 21 years of age, of 1839 Whitley avenue, yesterday was reported recovering from injuries received Tuesday when she was thrown from her horse near Burbank. At first it was believed she had suffered a fractured skull.

PIPE LINE TO BE BUILT

The City Council has adopted an ordinance granting the General Pipe Line Company of California a franchise for the construction and maintenance of a pipe line in portions of Normandie avenue and two Hundred and Eighth street.

OUTFALL SEWER USE SOUGHT

By action of the City Council, City Engineer Shaw has been instructed to enter into negotiations with the county authorities whereby County Sanitation District No. 11 can utilize the north outfall sewer

STATE BOARDS CONSOLIDATED

Reorganization Feature of Administration Changes

Two New Departments Now Function Under Young

Collins and Quinn Added to Governor's Council

Reorganization of the executive branch of the State government, in accordance with legislation which became effective on August 14, last, is perhaps the outstanding development in State administrative circles, both here and in Sacramento during the past year. Under new laws Gov. Young created two new executive departments, the Department of Professional and Vocational Standards, and the Department of Military and Veterans' Affairs.

Under the reorganization the Governor's Council, composed of heads of various State departments, consists now of thirteen directors, the new directors named during the year being James F. Collins, of Long Beach, head of the Department of Professional and Vocational Standards, and John R. Quinn, head of the Department of Military and Veterans' Affairs.

BOARDS MERGED

Creation of both departments is a result of the aims of Gov. Young to bring about economy in State government. No less than fifteen departments or boards, including the Board of Medical Examiners, Board of Pharmacy and kindred State departments, heretofore acting as separate and independent entities, have been brought together under one administrative head through the creation of the department headed by Collins. In the same way, all affairs related to National Guard, veterans' hospitals, athletics and the like, have been gathered together under Quinn.

Creation of a bureau of contractors' registration and a board of civil engineer examiners during the year, also are features of the year's developments in State administration.

SURVEY STARTED

During 1929 State departments also began the task of surveying and considering sites for the new Southern California prison for first offenders and the Southern California Hospital for the Insane, as authorized by the last Legislature. Early announcement of location of both sites and plans for construction of the two institutions is expected.

Reports submitted by the directors of the various State departments to Gov. Young at the December Governor's Council, reveal a tremendous volume of work accomplished in all departments, with public improvements amounting to millions of dollars either completed or in progress.

FORTUNE IN DIAMONDS UNSETTLED

Judge Takes Question of Ownership in Judgment Suit Under Submission

After taking testimony for several days in the court fight over diamonds with an asserted value of $29,000, waged between J. D. Parks, H. J. Cubberley, in whose possession the jewelry is, Mrs. Tilla Williams and Mrs. Lydia Trout, widowed sisters; Mrs. Charles Conant and her daughter Dorothy, Superior Judge Vicini took the case under submission. Until ownership of the gems has been fixed by the court they will repose in a safety-deposit vault.

According to the evidence, efforts are being made by Parks, Mrs. Williams and Mrs. Trout to attach the jewels to satisfy judgments they already have obtained against Cubberley for money asserted due them. Parks showed his judgment amounted to $7500. The judgment obtained by Mrs. Trout and Mrs. Williams amounts to several thousand dollars.

Although the diamonds are in the possession of Cubberley, Mrs. Conant and her daughter contend they belong to them. They assert that Cubberley gave the stones to them as presents, that later Charles Conant, husband of Mrs. Conant, gave them into the keeping of Cubberley.

Army Aviator Proves Divorce Court Puzzle

Superior Judge Schauer, over his turkey and cranberry sauce yesterday, was pondering the question of how to force collection of alimony from an army officer who is an aviator and flies from State to State faster than the processes of the court can follow him.

Mrs. Kathleen Quinn, represented by Attorney Roger Marchetti, has asked for alimony pending her divorce, and her husband, Capt. Orlo Quinn, U.S.A., replied that the matter would have to be taken up with the War Department direct. Judge Schauer said he would take under submission the question of directing a legal judgment toward the defendant.

BURNS PROVE FATAL TO JAPANESE CHILD

Yoshie Okine, 4 years of age, died yesterday in the Japanese Hospital, according to a report to the Coroner's office, as the result of scalds received Tuesday when she fell into a tub of boiling water in her home at East Whittier.

THE RULING HABIT

And then there is the lady from Minnesota who absent-mindedly bought her husband a plush-handled snow shovel.

GIVE 'EM AWAY

There has been a great clean-up of unused bridge prizes. As a whole this must have taken quite a load off the shoulders of Santa Claus.

LONG UNKISSED

Judge in a Chicago divorce case rules that it is extreme cruelty when a husband does not kiss his wife once in seven years. Maybe this guy ran out of cloves.

CORE OR ENCORE

Secretary Stimson asserts that the battleship is the core of the American Navy. There are pacifists who say that "there ain't gonna be no core." Also there are conservatives who declare that we can get along without an encore anyhow.

MORE TELEVISION

Television experiments have been carried to the point where the headlines in a newspaper have been distinguishable as carried over telephone wires. It is possible that the next call will be for louder and noisier headlines in order to provide radio reception.

AFTER MANY YEARS

A Phoenix fireman has just received a medal from the War Department which was awarded for a gallant rescue of comrades in the Philippines thirty years ago. The comrades have died of old age since then, but the medal goes bravely on. The nation does not forget, but its memory is no hair-trigger affair.

GENERALLY SPEAKING

The Mexican army is now fixed at 399 generals and 57,600 men. This should put a Mexican general about on a par with a second lieutenant in the American Army. Anyhow, there would be a general at every whistling post. The Mexican navy is also pretty well bossed. It consists of 300 officers and 838 men.

THE TAMING PROCESS

The Fairbanks-Pickford talkie, "Taming of the Shrew," had its premiere in London several weeks ago, but one of the English newspapers said that Bill Shakespeare was unable to be present. Under the circumstances they could not even tell what he thought. Another paper said that the Hollywood formula was splendid, but is hard on the Bardolaters—meaning doubtless those who prefer their favorite bard unmussed. They don't realize what a director can do with a script when he gets under way.

PROGRESS AND POVERTY

Soviet leaders in Russia are reported as conducting a regular scavengering campaign over their broad land. Orders are out for a round-up of all the nation's debris. There is to be a conservation of garbage, a gathering of the country's junk. Everything from old boots to depleted sardine boxes is being collected by a youthful army and the stuff is then sorted over for sale or use. Nothing is to be hereafter permitted to go to waste. This is to be an example of communal efficiency. There will be nothing more for the garbage can. It sounds like soviet stuff and springs from deepest poverty.

CITY ADVISERS

Suggestion has been made for the creation of a Los Angeles advisory council, to be made up of one duly elected delegate from each civic club or organization. The whole with the idea of taking the temperature of the whole citizenship on matters and questions in which the public may be concerned. Probably the city dads wouldn't offer much encouragement for a formation of this kind. They might look upon it as a sort of buttinski, but it might have value in solidifying sentiment in proper form. This council might make its recommendations and the regular council could give them the sneer. Then the citizens could figure for themselves which was right.

GRADE-CROSSING PROBLEMS

Plans of the State Railroad Commission to decrease the number of accidents at grade crossings of highways with steam and electric railways are to be pushed, it is announced. The commission plans to accomplish the result in four ways: by separating grades wherever economically possible, by abolishing existing crossings where this can be done, by restricting the creation of new grade crossings and by education of the motoring public. Two of these methods are mere palliatives, which can have only temporary effect. In the education of the public the commission will have the co-operation of the State motor patrol under Supt. Biscalluz.

There are some 12,311 grade crossings in California and to get rid of them by grade separation—which is, of course, the ideal method—would cost $750,000,000 or more, an amount the State will not be able to afford for some years. The cost, of course, falls upon the public wholly, either through taxation of one sort or another or through freight and passenger rates, which enable the railroads to pay their share. These crossings cause an appalling loss of life; they have caused some 200 deaths so far this year and injured more than 700 persons, besides being responsible for vast property damage.

This accident toll seems to be showing not only a steady increase, but an increase out of proportion to the increase of other motor-traffic accidents, if the figures for the last few years are a reliable indication of the trend. Thus in 1926 there were 1217 such accidents; in 1927 there were 1740; in 1928 there were 2410, and for the first four months of the present year 932. There were fewer persons killed and fewer injured at grade crossings in 1928 than in 1927, but the present year has been another leap upward and its toll figures will surpass those of 1927. In accidents the increase from 1926 to 1927 was 43 per cent; from 1927 to 1928 was 33 per cent and from 1928 to 1929 approximately 15 to 20 per cent on the basis of incomplete figures. Auto accidents from 1926 to 1927 increased approximately 10 per cent; from 1927 to 1928 approximately 5 per cent and from 1928 to 1929 the increase will be approximately 15 to 18 per cent. While the figures for the present year will show little difference, the differences in the other years are striking.

The Railroad Commission reports "increasing interference with train operations" as a result of accidents. This is not surprising. As automobile traffic increases, this interference is bound to grow greater and furnishes a powerful incentive to the carriers to take a hand in solving the problem.

Restriction of the creation of new grade crossings and elimination of some present crossings are temporary measures which may do some good. But it is plain that needed crossings will have to be permitted as more and more highways are built to take care of the increasing traffic, and that elimination of a needed crossing merely drives traffic to some other, thus shifting the problem. If traffic is shifted to a better-guarded crossing, well and good, but if it is shunted to another just like it there is no gain.

Relocation of roads serves in some instances where it is a cheaper method than grade separation. Public education can cut the accidents. But grade separation is the only complete and final answer.

In Los Angeles city some 200 grade crossings would be done away with by the construction of the union station at the Plaza; and if the Plaza station was not useful for any other purpose, its construction would be worth while for this one.

THE LOAFER

Not often does anyone speak a good word for the loafer. Prejudice is all against him and the success magazines execrate him for not reaching the limit daily. The efficiency expert eliminates him and measures the output by the intake.

Even Bruce Barton recently took a census of thirty-two pasengers in a Pullman between Boston and New York, to the disadvantage of the loafer. Thirteen were asleep; two were buried in work and brief cases; six were looking sad-eyed into the future; five were mooning over fiction; one was reading a serious book; two were working cross-word puzzles; one was playing solitaire and two were applying lipstick.

Naturally there is something to be said. We form flying wedges and tackle street cars—only to sit and stare at the passing show. We roar, "Women and children first!"—and then rush in and take their seats. We lunge into elevators as if it were the last chance to go above—and light a cigarette. We snort at the telephone girl—and gossip for an idle hour. We dress feverishly—and have no place to go!

Now comes Warwick Deeping in "Britannia & Eve" and recommends loafing. We cannot do our best work with a fever. Haste misses the putt and scenery. You cannot get a sunset at fifty per. The way to see stars is to lie flat on your back on a mountaintop.

But we dump out everything that cannot stand up in a column of figures and be counted. Everything is measured in feet—even poetry.

However the strange thing is, that countries that move slowly have the most masterpieces. That fine finish in statuary and boudoir manners is not gotten in a hurry. Emerson says that even good manners require time. Was not Michelangelo six years frescoing St. Peter's? The Parthenon was not built one day and dedicated the next. The great cathedrals were centuries rising. A loafer toasting his shins by the kitchen fire and listening to the teakettle sing invented the steam engine. If experts can do so much, why did they overlook wireless and leave it to a kid? Why did we have to depend on a barber for the spinning jenny? And why did we have to go to a portrait painter for the wheelbarrow? Patrick Henry did not have much prestige as a toiler. The loafers are often great talkers. Even Demosthenes was not much on deeds. Why did not some nose on a grindstone find the law of the swinging pendulum? Why was it left to a fellow who was foolish enough to go to church and dream during the sermon?

The loafer may be without a loaf; but he has some other things to his credit.

Let Poe Rest in Peace

W. L. K., Riverside, writes us that if Edgar Allan Poe were alive today he would write a corking new stanza for his poem, "The Bells," about the traffic bells.

No, he wouldn't. He'd just go crazy, like the rest of us.

Why He Died Young

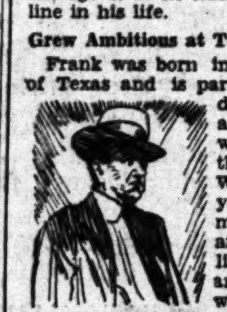
At that, Poe must have foreseen the flivver age when he coined that word, "tintin-tabulations."

It Can Be Done

You folks who want to learn how to write for publication shouldn't ask us. You should ask Frank M. King. King now is preparing a book which will tell the true story of the famous Chisholm cow trail, and it is likely to be a book of importance to all lovers of the history of the West. For King not only knows more of that colorful history than does any other man we know of, but he knows how to write it. And the amazing thing is that at the age of 28 he had never written a line in his life.

Grew Ambitious at Twenty-eight

Frank was born in the Panhandle of Texas and is part Cherokee Indian. He grew up as a cowboy and was a top rider at the age of 13. While still very young he got mixed into a feud and "had to do a little shootin'," and shortly afterward removed himself to Arizona. At 28 he had so many cracked ribs and similar souvenirs of the hard life cowboys used to have to lead that he decided to quit the game. At that time most retired cowboys either started saloons or worked in feed lots or livery barns. But Frank went into Phoenix and asked John O. Dunbar, editor of a Phoenix paper, for a job.



How to Learn English

"What can you write?" asked Dunbar.

"Never wrote a straight line in my life," replied King, "but I'm a-gonna be a newspaper man, 'n' reckons I c'n learn. Reckon a man c'n do anything he wants to."

"You do, eh?" grunted Dunbar. "Well, if you really feel that way, I 'reckons' you will, too. But first you'll have to get a vocabulary. Read Shakespeare and the Bible."

So for four years King worked in a livery barn and read Shakespeare and the Bible nights. He knew whole chapters of the Bible and whole scenes from Shakespeare by heart. Yet he never got either religious or classical-minded.

Colorful Career

Then King became a newspaper man, first with Dunbar and then on his own. He became publisher of the Arizona Cattleman and of several other papers which circulated widely among ranchers. He also served as a deputy sheriff. Eighteen years ago he came to Los Angeles and has made this his home ever since, writing articles for farm and ranch publications and engaging in the livestock commission business.

PHOENIX
DAILY

"I never looked for any trouble," King says, "but two or three times it came along when I had to use my gun. As an officer, I never pulled it till I had to. Most times it's just because a man is scared that he flashes his gun too soon. But sometimes I had to. Then I had to do a little personal shootin', too. But I prefer not to talk about any of those things. I always liked writin' better'n fightin' and hope to be remembered as a man of peace."

The odd thing is that, notwithstanding his studious reading of the Bible and Shakespeare, King always writes in cowboy vernacular and with much of the odd humor which is the possession of many cowboys. Not long ago he was accused of imitating Will Rogers in some of his quaintly twisted epigrams, but retorted that he had been writing that way before he ever heard of Will, and produced old papers to prove it. He has written a good deal for eastern magazines and for ranch publications. He is devoting three years to his writing of the Chisholm trail history, going to great trouble and considerable expense to make his book historically accurate.

HOLY BIBLE
SHAKESPEARE

All of which, it seems to us, is most remarkable in a man who couldn't write at all at the age of 28.

Perhaps the secret is that King always knows his stuff. When you know a thing thoroughly, and it is an interesting thing, you just can't keep from telling it.

LADIES FIRST

It is noted that Ruth Hanna McCormick has been given a place on the House Committee on Naval Affairs, while Ruth Bryan Owen is named on the equally important Foreign Affairs Committee. These appointments are considered highly desirable ones and would not be awarded to mere males of like Congressional experience. It might also be mentioned that the chairman of the naval committee is a Chicago Congressman of many years' standing. It would ordinarily be unusual to have two appointments to an important committee from the same State—much less the same city. It is of further knowledge that the membership of the Foreign Affairs Committee was increased by one in order to make room for Bryan's daughter. This also was rather revolutionary. There is a suspicion that Congress is indicating a rather high brand of chivalry toward the women who have undertaken careers in its company. They not only get their rights, but some of the other fellow's.

THE BIG FELLOW

Primo Carnera, the seven-foot Italian battler, seems to be cleaning up on the Old World scrappers. After a few more rounds he will be wanting to come back here for a slice of the big money. Going into the ring at 285 pounds of bone and gristle he may be considered quite a threat.

A NOTE OF WARNING

By James J. Montague

Furs are rare as they are dear,
Growing more so year by year,
Few and scattered are the holes
Which once sheltered minks and moles.
Little kitten, have a care!
Little puppy dog, beware!

Nutrias are seldom found
Though one search the world around,
Lynxes now and then are seen,
But they're few and far between.
Pups and kittens should not roam
Very far away from home.

Mostly vacant are the lairs
Late the happy homes of bears,
And the last remaining coon
Will be off to college soon.
Pups and kittens, you had best
Stick around the old home nest.

Ponies have already died
That their pretty mottled hide
May keep lovely ladies warm
In the chilling winter storm.
Pups and kittens, be on guard,
Play around your own back yard!

WHAT OTHERS THINK ABOUT IT

FOOD IN SOVIET RUSSIA

[New York Times]

Shrewd and pertinent comment on the recent day-by-day news from Russia is to be found in Prof. Alzada Comstock's article, "The Grain War in Soviet Russia," in Current History for December. Official statements at Moscow proclaim the unprecedented success of the grain-collection program for the year, but Prof. Comstock points out that despite the successful harvest the Council of People's Commissars has announced the continuance of the food-card system for the fiscal year 1929-1930. Also, there is a quiet reminder of the methods by which grain is collected from the peasants. In the summer of 1928 the soviet government pledged itself never to resort again to the methods of compulsion—fines, imprisonment, confiscation—which it had employed in the grain-collection campaign just concluded. Compulsory devices have not only been renewed, but are being applied in much more drastic form. Up to this year the firing squads did not figure conspicuously in the annual agricultural program.

On the larger question of building up large-scale government farms, the official figures recounting the extraordinary increase in acreage are impressive. But it must be obvious that whereas the soviet government has the power to decree any amount of acreage out of private operation into State farms, it is not able to decree good harvests.

DOING IT IN THE RIGHT WAY

Kennebec Journal

Fur farming is now a recognized branch of what is termed our agricultural industry. The Federal government has given attention to its development. Humane agencies have urged improvements. The results are favorable and the industry is now in the main being conducted on approved and improved methods.

Furthermore, it appears that the improved methods are more profitable. The fur of animals put to death by some lethal agency is found to be better than where the animal it put to death by violence or tortured in captivity, better where the animal's quarters and food are kept clean, better where "the tricks of the trade" do not govern.

Are such methods profitable only in fur farming? Aren't people coming to recognize more clearly than ever before that the right way of doing things is in the long run the more profitable in coin of the realm as well as in other respects?

FORESTS AND FARM RELIEF

[Philadelphia Public Ledger]

Among the interesting opinions expressed at the Chicago conference of the Association of Land Grant Colleges and Universities was one by Secretary of Agriculture Hyde to the effect that the government's eagerness to cultivate every potential farm was responsible for crop surpluses. To cure these agricultural ills, which he attributes to over-expansion, Secretary Hyde proposed that poor farmlands be taken over by the government for reforestation.

Expanding this proposal, which he advanced some weeks ago, Mr. Hyde declared that of 955,000,000 acres of American farmland, only 505,000,000 were actually cultivatable, while 350,000,000 produce crops large enough "to supply the United States and its foreign markets and to support a farm bloc in the United States Senate." The use of uncultivatable tracts for the purpose of replenishing our diminishing forests would be equivalent to killing two birds with one stone.

The Cane and the Birch

ARCADIA, Dec. 21.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Speaking about the cat-'o-nine-tails used in the British prisons and of reading of an article lately about how the lash prevents crime, reminds me of my early days at sea in the British Navy.

During the three years of my naval training in the H. M. S. Boscawen, from '90 to '93 I saw a great deal of this punishment measured out to those who were found guilty of violating naval laws.

This kind of punishment consisted of two kinds. One was a cane about six feet long and the other was a bunch of twigs or small branches tied together long enough to make a striking stroke. This latter implement of torture was called the birch. To those who have not witnessed a punishment with the birch I might mention that after the third stroke, and they had to be put on for all they are worth, blood begins to flow from the ragged marks, the flesh becoming torn, and after the first twelve, the victim shows signs of exhaustion.

There are numbers of people who would shudder at the thought of the lash making itself known for criminals, the sob sisters would readily come to the fore with petitions to stop this cruel punishment, while others would shake their heads, preferring the nursery method of dealing with hold-up criminals.

Flogging should become a State measure and convicted criminals sentenced for hold-ups and other criminal assaults should be given the full measure. Using the old slogan, "Give till it hurts."

Leaves and Grindstones

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 19.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I see that you publish a communication about the water department and the service, etc.

We cannot expect much from the Water Department and the Light and Power Bureau for the very good reason that those departments are operated by a bunch of old fossils and played-out and broken down politicians who have no business ability and who could not get a job with any corporation for love or money.

When those departments are run by business men on a business basis we may then look for some service and proper rates.

The patient public, we might say, has its nose on the grindstone and when the bone is struck they will pull back and turn over a new leaf.

How to Make Cider

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 19.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I wish to make a correction as to what seems to me to be a mistaken idea, as found in the article by Dr. Frank McCoy on "Health and Diet" in the morning Times of December 19. He states as follows: "Cider is best when used as soon after pressing as possible."

I disagree with him on this point. During my early life in Illinois I had quite a little experience in cider making. I found cider when first pressed from the apples too flat and insipid as compared with it after it had stood from twelve to eighteen hours in a very cool place.

The flavor or "bouquet" of the cider, when made from the right kind of apples after, say, from eighteen to thirty hours of age, is simply delightful. After the age of thirty-six hours it begins to get a little too "hard" perhaps for the ordinary person's taste. It should be kept in earthenware or glass, never in a zinc-lined vessel, as the acid in the cider acts on the zinc, forming a harmful substance. It seems to be a law of nature that many of man's foodstuffs require a certain amount of "aging." Wine and tobacco require a definite amount of "aging" so also with cider.

Sousing Sidewalks

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 23.—[To the Editor of The Times:] If we experience a water shortage during the coming months there will be one chief reason, viz: that we have allowed gardeners and merchants to daily hose off sidewalks that could just as readily have been cleaned with brooms. Water is the universal cleaner and it is undoubtedly agreeable to be able to quickly and easily remove dust and refuse from the sidewalks by the simple handling of a hose and directing a strong stream of water down the walk, but if this method of cleaning up means the shortage of water later for vegetation and personal needs, it seems that rules should be made, and enforced, against the use of precious water for such purposes.

THE FIFTH OBJECTIVE

BY L. J. VANDENBERGH

Mr. Vierling Kersey, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, closed the Teachers' Institute last Friday morning at Trinity Auditorium with a dynamic oration which inspired Southern California teachers with renewed enthusiasm. His theme was the four "extra objectives" of education, to wit: to inspire pupils to think; to guide them to act; to bring out personality, and to elicit identification with the arts.

As an interested listener I was hoping for some mention of the fifth objective—to recognize the sanctity of the rights of the third party, but it was not forthcoming. In that I was disappointed.

Ideas, action, personality, construction and inculcation of cultural arts leave nothing to be added in the curriculum of youth of normal dimensions. To curb the supernormal as well as to lift the subnormal to the level of social safety is the great educational problem which confronts the world today. That note of harmonization was lacking in the institute symphony.

Every department of the city, county and State school systems was represented on the program excepting the divisions of attendance and child welfare. Were they excluded for fear that they might disturb the equanimity of the teachers? Hardly so. For the problem of juvenile delinquency is fast becoming a substantial feature in their daily contact with youth.

We are casting no reflections on the 90 per cent or better of our law-abiding youths; nor on pedagogues who see only the sunny side of school efforts. We are thinking of the remaining uncertain percentage of youths who find their way, before or after their sixteenth birthday, in underworld circles to haunts of vice and degradation. Every one of these boys has a record of ominous foreboding in the division of attendance. The division and the schools are powerless to correct those boys effectively. Responsibility lies with the lack of machinery in the schools to protect that unfortunate portion of their charges through apathy of the Legislature and the blindness of coddling social workers, who paint a glowing word canvas before sympathetic audiences while they cast juvenile hall and juvenile court refuse back on the school grounds.

Consult the 1928 report of Sacramento returns and compare the figures of 7,304 boy arrests as against the 1927 report of 5,525 to convince yourselves of the growth of juvenile delinquency. Los Angeles school and probation office reports show the same alarming increase. And now it is up to the school-bond voter to prepare a protecting shelter for our wayward youth and take him from the street and his evil companionship since at last the Legislature has approved the twenty-four-hour school.

Mr. Vierling Kersey was right in his eulogy of the four "extra objectives" and their beneficial effect on American youth. But there is a reverse side to that picture. While these four points are capable of increasing the dignity and manhood of right-thinking youths, they also carry a tendency to inflate the abnormal to an "excess ego." Look up the records of juvenile car thieves, which run annually between 300 and 400, with only one caught out of every four. Listen to their excuses and alibis which are not in the nature of defense, but rather in the form of conceit.

That desire to excel, which will take one of two opposite directions toward right or wrong, is at fault. Failure to do so in the competition of industrial life has turned many a lad from the best of intentions the other way because he did not grasp the fifth objective, that of respecting the other party's rights. The moral character was not properly developed.

President Hoover, in his April address to the nation's newspaper men, sounded that note of warning. He insisted that our schools be authorized to lay more stress on moral training. Last spring at a convention of the California Parent-Teachers' Association a resolution was passed to have a program of moral character training introduced in our schools. These two warnings were inspired by national apprehension for the future of youth. Let us look forward to the drafting of that salutary measure in our 1930 Teachers' Institute.

LAMENT ON CHRISTMAS GIFTS

I who never have cared a whoop
How they made the stuff from nuts to soup;
I who the difference never knew
In a fricassee and an Irish stew—

I have a book on family meals,
A box of jars with the latest seals,
A carrot grinder, a knife for cheese,
O cruel Santa to bring me these!

I wanted an etching in color or line,
A gay little print and call it mine!
A bit of beauty my soul to feed,
Not one of my friends had guessed my need.

"Your Christmas gift was a happy thought—
It's one of the things I've always sought,"
I wrote to each of those blundering folk,
While hope of heaven went up in smoke!

BULLETS SING THEIR CAROLS

Officers and Jail Trusties Get Shot at as They Go to Seize Liquor

Officers Tever and Woodard and four City Jail trusties were pondering yesterday whether to thank their respective guardian angels or the poor marksmanship of John E. Barton of 416 South Gate street for not being confined in a hospital on Christmas with bullet wounds.

The police report was to the effect tha they first visited Barton's home, found evidence of liquor and arrested Mrs. Harriet Barton for a violation of the Wright Act.

Later they returned with a truck and four trusties to take away the asserted liquor as evidence. While this was being done the husband suddenly appeared and, believing, according to his story later. that he was being hijacked, opened fire with a revolver.

All of the shots went wild. Then the officers walked up to Barton, disarmed him and placed him under arrest for assault with a deadly weapon.

Continued fair weather was the prediction last night by the United States Weather Bureau. Slightly cloudy skies late yesterday, the weather man said, are not forerunners of rain, as no low pressure area has been reported near this vicinity. The only change expected today is a slight lowering of temperature, which has been above normal for this time of year.

California Money Belongs in California . . .

PEOPLE move to California, buy homes, go into business . . . and yet, some of them still keep their surplus funds in banks thousands of miles away.

This message is especially addressed to them. California is now their home. Their money should follow them west. Here it will be quickly available; here it will aid in the upbuilding of your own community.

Prior to January 10th, it can be transferred to this bank without loss of interest. Just bring your pass book to any of our branches; we will gladly take care of all the details, without charge.

BEFORE THE DAYS OF THE IRON HORSE . . .

the movement of money overland involved real perils and took long months. Now months become only days when funds are to be transferred to California. Transportation and banking have advanced hand in hand in the conquest of the West.

WHAT THE POLICE ARE DOING

(For the purpose of acquainting Los Angeles citizens with the practical working of the city police department, and the results of police activities here, The Times is printing herewith the seventh of a short series of articles dealing with the subject.)

Active in Fight on Rum Trade
Police Lieutenant Charles Rogers and members of vice squad inspecting liquor held as evidence against bootlegging gang recently rounded up.

Perhaps no other division of the Police Department is more troubled by politicians, so-called reformers, city hall lobbyists, and representatives of racketeering organizations than the vice division. It is even a thorn in the side of the department itself. Time after time its personnel has been changed and its executive officers switched. With each new change it has undergone reorganization.

With the sweeping reorganization of ex-Chief of Police Vollmer it was made a separate division. Its chief executive officer was accountable only to the Chief. Then it was broken up and scattered as divisional units to the various substations. Now it is back again on its old footing, a sort of lost battalion.

But the daily and monthly reports of its members reveal that the city coffers would suffer greatly if the division did not do its stuff. Cash fines and forfeitures resulting from a total of 5079 arrests made by the division during the five months from July 1 to December 1, last, amounted to $595,031.

The division under the command of Acting Captain of Detectives W. E. Weyerman has a personnel of eighty-five plain-clothes officers. They operate not only in the central district but handle all vice and liquor investigations in all other divisions.

Of the total number of arrests 212 were for felonies. The reports show members of the division made 18,901 calls and 18,229 investigations as the result of which 3483 suspects were convicted, 319 dismissed, and 2944 cases were pending at the time the reports were summed up.

Exclusive of the time spent on regular hours of duty in which division members tallied 5056 hours in court, 6590 hours, or 810 eight-hour days were spent in court off duty. This excessive time put in on court appearances is occasioned by the fact that the regular hours of duty of the division are during the late afternoons and nights. To take cases into court for prosecution during the morning hours, the officers must do so on their own time.

This completes the survey of what the police are doing through the operations of the detective units working out of the central division. Monthly reports of the fourteen outside divisions tell another story and elaborate to an interesting extent the answer to Mr. Average Citizen's question, "What are the police doing?"

LIQUID CELEBRATION KILLS HOSPITAL COOK

Too much Christmas cheer, in liquid form, according to police, may have been one of the causes for the death, yesterday morning, of Guiseppi Carboni, 57 years of age, a cook at the General Hospital. His body was found in his room in one of the small outbuildings on the hospital grounds and was removed to the county morgue. An inquest may be held, it was stated. Carboni leaves no known relatives.

Movie fans in Porto Rico are demanding the showing of all-talking pictures, with the characters speaking English.

MOTHER PLAYING SANTA BURNED

Treat for Her Children Has Serious Ending When Costume Ignites

Fire, indirectly aroused by the spirit of Christmas, yesterday resulted in a narrow escape from death by a mother playing the role of Santa Claus.

It was during those dark hours of the night when the venerable saint from the icy circle is supposed to be about. Mrs. C. H. Hubbs, 40 years of age, giving a special treat for her children, donned a Santa Claus suit and, enacting the chimney scene, got too close to an open fire. The clothes caught fire. Before relatives could beat out the flames Mrs. Hubbs received first and second-degree burns of the arms, face, hands and legs. She was given emergency treatment by a private physician, according to Battalion Chief Welty of the fire department.

BOY SOLOMAN ALSO AUTHOR

His Wisdom Wrecks Theory of Sages

Youthful Philosopher's Book Out
Dr. Carruthers and Son Jack

"WHICH would you rather be a man who sulks and pouts 'cause he doesn't have what he wants, or be a man that has joy and makes the other fellow happy? Answer that question that I just gave you."

With this gem of philosophical wisdom, and many others on divers subjects. Jack Carruthers, 8 years of age, makes his bow as an author of a Christmas-gift volume entitled "How to Live Life." Jack is the son of Dr. John F. B. Carruthers, vice-president of the Pacific Geographic Society, and lives at 1015 Prospect Boulevard, Pasadena, where he spoke his views into a dictaphone in his father's study, entirely unhampered by an adult presence. Later they were transcribed, to borrow the young author's own words, "by a typewriter woman."

The little volume has been published, a brief supplement explains, for the Fathersonians of America, to demonstrate that any child can and does use the materials of his own experience "to create his own philosophy of life in his own personal way, and not as a parrot nor as an adult echo."

Prefaced by an explanation that "nobody helped me make the book in the way of words," the book, characterized as "a dictaphone look in an average child's soul," contains chapters on Courtesy, the Importance of Love, Joy, and Life.

On Courtesy, young Carruthers delivers himself of the following: "Learn to use good words, and when a mistake's done, instead of saying some word like 'darn it!' or some word, why, say something like 'too bad you made a mistake;' and always be sure and not let people pick things up after you."

As for the Importance of Love, Jack thinks that "love means that if you love you have more friends and you will be more comfortable and they will invite you to more parties and you'll have a much better time, and everyone will like you and people will be interested in you, no matter if you had only pennies . . . and just had old, ragged clothes."

The book is in a limited edition of 200 copies hand set by the Abbey Press.

Dr. Carruthers is of the opinion that his son's book has refuted a trend of modern science, which holds that small children are "little animals."

"No one can read Jack's book without concluding that the small child has a spiritual side not possessed by any mere animal, and it is from this recognition of the innate spirituality of each child that we 'Fathersonians' are fighting," declared Dr. Carruthers yesterday.

ISLAND COURTSHIP

Courting in the South Sea Islands is done by a liberal use of white flowers, reports Robert Gibbings, noted artist who recently returned from Tahiti, principal town of the islands.

"If a girl wants a lover," Gibbings says, "she wears a little white flower over her right ear. If she has a lover she wears the flower over the left ear. When she wears the flower over both ears it means she has a boy friend, but wants another. When a young man falls in love he follows the girl of his heart and throws a flower in her pathway."

Maybe that is where the florists' slogan originated.

ALMOST A NIBBLE

Sir Thomas Beecham on his last American visit described at a dinner in New York the hard times he is having in the organization of his Imperial League of Opera.

"I visited the House of Commons one day," he said, "and they told me that there wasn't a single M. P. who was musical. Afterward I visited the House of Lords, and it was the same thing there.

"In the House of Lords, though," Sir Thomas ended, "I did have a kind of nibbl, or almost a nibble, for a young marquis said to me:

" 'Old chappie, if it were musical comedy now I should be your man.' "

Air Liner's Pastime

Letter and postal-card writing seems to be a favorite pastime for air passengers. A survey made recently by the Colonial Airways System showed the average was two letters and three postal cards a passenger each trip. "Women write more than any other passengers," said Wilson Lloyd, district manager at New York. "Young men write to a certain extent, but older men do little corresponding while in the air. They are either engaged in studying business reports or enjoying the view."

New Citizen Says Naturalization Isn't Inspiring

Instead of being inspired by the majesty of the United States when he takes his allegiance, the new citizen is often disillusioned by callous clerks and sordid surroundings, declares Konrad Bercovici, famous writer, who has himself recently become a citizen. Describing vividly his own experiences in McCall's, he tells first of the disheartening scenes at the "examination" and then of the process of taking the oath:

"Ten months after my examination I was called to the Old Post-office Building to take my oath as an American citizen. I was called for 9 o'clock in the morning. There was already a line of several hundred people in the long, dark, cold hall of the decrepit building. I looked about me. Everybody was in his best clothes. Horny-handed men had put on fresh linen and shaved closely. A handsome old Spanish Jew in a long black Prince Albert coat, stood beside an Italian priest. Poles, Germans, Scandinavians, Serbs Russians, one beside the other; so many immemorial enemies ready to take the same oath to this country. They smiled at one another—all brothers now—another minute and they shall all be citizens of one and the same country. They and their children shall no longer war against one another, but fight the common enemy, whoever he be, from under the same flag. The silence of that crowd was religious. There never had been a better moment to talk to those people about the duties of citizenship. But there was no one to say a word. Only the guard spoke sharply.

" 'You guys keep in line!'

"An hour later guards herded us into the courtroom. The women were allowed to sit down on the few benches. The men were crowded forward, packed one against the other.

"White-haired, white-mustached, dignified, the judge bowed and sat down. The clerk ordered everybody to raise his right hand. His vulgar, uneducated, harsh voice enumerated the names of all the princes and potentates in the world to whom allegiance was renounced. He read the oath of allegiance to this country as if it were a hardware advertisement. It did not seem reasonable that one should be asked in such a voice to swear allegiance to this great country. I felt as one who had come to church to hear a grand organ and was made to hear a ukulele instead. It was ugly, impossible, vulgar. Nobody understood what he said. But the judge rose and welcomed us to this country. His voice was more than welcome to my ears.

"These people had come in the finest of moods, in their best clothes, on a week day. Such moments come very rarely upon people. One takes the oath of citizenship to a new country only once in a lifetime. To what poetic and religious heights couldn't that moment have been exalted with only a little careful handling!

"There is so much talk of Americanization. Immigrants are continually being told and advised to apply for citizenship in this country. And when they do come to take the oath, when that great moment in their lives appears, it is preceded and accompanied by the most humdrum and undignified procedure. The oath of allegiance should be made to mean something to these new citizens. The country does not need numbers only, it needs good citizens; people impressed with respect for the laws and the constitution of the country."

A generation ago $80,000 was paid for a corner lot at Clark and Adams street, Chicago, only eighty by twenty feet in size. Later, insanity charges were brought against the buyer, one of the charges being that he paid an excessive price for the lot. The owners of a building on the lot now pay $150,000 a year for the use of the ground and no one calls them crazy.

And Boost the Circulation

The young man, calling on an editor's daughter, was eager but polite.

"Er, do you mind," he ventured, "if I imprint a kiss upon your lips?"

"Boloney," said little brother who was passing in the hall. "You can run off a whole edition and Sis won't mind."—[N. Y. C. Magazine.

PAST-NINETY GOING STRONG

Her Handiwork Marvel to Youth

Mrs. Elizabeth B. Hughes

A MERE matter of years is hardly enough to cramp the style of Mrs. Elizabeth Beach Hughes of 121 South Beaudry avenue, who yesterday celebrated her ninety-second birthday with a long list of accomplishments behind her and still going strong for the future.

Born in Canada, she came with her parents to Michigan when she was a year old. She has been a resident of this city ever since 1887. Aside from the original owner, she was the first resident of the district now known as Westwood, and owned the block of land now contained in Westwood Memorial Park.

Before coming here Mrs. Hughes had been graduated from the Kansas City Hospital College of Medicine and had practiced her profession there for a number of years.

Mrs. Hughes is a member of the First Methodist Church of this city and is a regular attendant at church and Sunday-school. Since she was 80 years of age she has knitted and crocheted innumerable bedspreads and other articles, has made yards of fine lace and more than thirty bead bags, all for the benefit of her friends and family.

One of Mrs. Hughes's proudest boasts is that never in the past sixty years has she taken a dose of medicine of any kind or used tea or coffee.

Two of Mrs. Hughes's six children are residents of this city. They are Sidney L. Beach, with whom she lives, and Oscar C. Beach, vice-president of the Braun Corporation.

TIT FOR TAT

Senator Tydings of Maryland was talking about the revolt in Afghanistan.

"King Amanullah," he said, "came and told Europe how backward his Afghan subjects were, and then he went home and tried to modernize them, and they turned and kicked him out for an iconoclast.

"Tit for tat, eh? Like the two strangers.

"Two strangers got into talk in Central Park. After a while one of them said:

"'Well, I'll be leaving you. Here comes my wife with some old hag she's picked up.'

"'That's strange,' said the second, 'here comes mine with another.'

FALSE SCIENCE SEEN IN SOME BIOGRAPHIES

"One duty lies clearly before the critic," says James Truslow Adams in Current History, "and that is to say the truth about books as they come out; to distinguish clearly for the reader between the genuine science, in the sense of exact knowledge, of a book like Beveridge's Lincoln and the pseudo-scientific balderdash of, for example, most of the psychoanalytic school.

"The 'new' biographer and his readers smile at the older biographies or at such recent ones as Lincoln, which are in reality far more scientific than their own, in so far as at least they will have nothing to do with facts that are not completely and soundly authenticated. What the new biographers are doing is to select such facts as fit the taste and interest of the public in the present age, clothing them in a pseudo-scientific form to appeal to the most powerful cult of the age, the cult of science.

"It will be long before science will allow us to predict or trace human conduct. Human nature and the web of circumstance in which every human life is enmeshed are infinitely complex. Caesar and Napoleon were epileptics, but does that explain their careers? So have millions of other men been, without bestriding the world. All this medical biography is too general to signify, and psychology at present is in so inchoate a state as a science as to be in danger of being laughed out of court if it does not mend its ways. It is about as useful in the hands of an ordinary biographer as a stick of dynamite."

Lights in the Swimming Pool

The newest swimming pools are equipped with lights under the water level for practical as well as decorative purposes. These lights permit of a thorough and constant supervision of the water at all times so that it is hardly possible for accidents to happen to the swimmers. Apart from this the effect is very pretty and persons who are making use of the pool may readily determine if the tank is clean.

NEW TRIBUNAL EFFECTIVE

Appellate Department of Superior Court Proves Worth in Keeping Calendars Clear

One of the outstanding steps of progress in the history of the Municipal and Superior courts here, taken during the year just gone, was the establishment of the Appellate Department of the Superior Court of Los Angeles county, authorized by the Legislature in August, last. The work of the department, presided over by three judges sitting en banc, the same as in the State Appellate Court, is passing on civil and criminal cases appealed from the Municipal Court.

The personnel of the new court is as follows: Superior Judge Victor R. McLucas, presiding; Superior Judge Edward T Bishop and Superior Judge Hartley Shaw; Jerry Williams, clerk of the court; Mrs. Marie Howard and E. L. Pierce, deputy clerks, and Edmund Roberts, deputy sheriff, assigned as bailiff.

MANY CASES HANDLED

From the time the new department began to function on September 10 to December 1, last, 425 cases, both criminal and civil, appealed from the Municipal Court, were before the court. Of this number 374 decisions were made. The figures show that the court is now handling from 100 to 125 cases a month.

Heretofore appealed cases from the city court were assigned to the calendars of the various departments of the Superior Court and had to wait their turn for a hearing. The new Appellate Department does away with this and is an aid in speeding up hearings and keeping the calendars of the fifty-four other departments from being cluttered up.

The last Legislature also increased the jurisdiction of the Municipal Court by increasing the amount of money involved in actions from $1000 to $2000 which will cause more cases to be appealed and incidentally more work for the new Appellate Department.

WORK COMMENDED

Since the creation of the new department, which has the entire sixteenth floor of the new City Hall Building, a branch of the County Clerk's office and a branch of the law library, have been established in connection with the court.

A few days before Christmas a special committee appointed by the Los Angeles Bar Association appeared in court and formally congratulated the judges and attaches for the good work accomplished by the department since its opening.

SUSPECT UNDER NEW QUIZ TODAY

Clark to Be Questioned More on Gangster Killing

Rooming-House Mystery of 1926 Still Unsolved

Prisoner Admits Gun Found by Body Was His

Police and investigators of the District Attorney's office plan today to resume questioning of Henry H. Clark, one of five asserted gangsters under investigation in connection with the death of Eddie (Blondy) Hannan, an underworld character, who was found shot to death in a local rooming-house in April, 1926.

According to the officers Clark virtually has admitted former possession of a gun which was found on a bed near the body of the slain Hannan, but declared that the last time he actually saw the weapon it was in an automobile which he loaned to Bill Bailey, an ex-convict. Since the death of Hannan, Bailey was sent to San Quentin but now free, the officers say. His location is not known.

Clark was arrested with five others by Detective-Lieutenant James's police gun squad last week and subsequent questioning of Clark at the District Attorney's office revived the investigation of Hannan's death.

CAR DEATH CLAIM DENIED FOR MILLIONAIRE'S KIN

Robert J. Strasenburgh held up his hand to stop traffic on Wilshire Boulevard at Kenmore avenue on March 22, 1928, but the automobile of Howard F. Aahmenson struck and killed him.

Notwithstanding testimony to this effect, a jury in Superior Judge Hahn's court refused to give Strasenburgh's widow and children damages after suit for $71,000 was heard.

Mrs. Stella G. Strasenburgh, heir to most of her husband's $1,000,000 estate, asked for $21,000 and her children, Edwin G. and John H. Strasenburgh and Mrs. Loie E. Burns, sued for $50,000. Strasenburgh was president of a large pharmaceutical manufacturing company in Rochester, N. Y.

CONVICTED

Representative La Guardia at a Philadelphia luncheon said in an argument about free speech:

"I see a good many things which convince me that some judges are unfair in their prejudice against free speech. Yes, these things convict the judges. It is like the story.

"A farmer started for town with his family in the auto—there was a good movie on that night—but he had only gone half a mile when he remembered that he'd left the chicken-house unlocked. So he hurried back, locked up the chicken house and hurried off again.

"Well, when the farmer got back from the movies a little after midnight he found a neighbor of his tramping up and down in the snow.

"'What's wrong, Wash?' said the farmer.

"The neighbor gulped and said reproachfully:

"'Mistah Husk, sah, does you know you's locked mah wife up in your hen-house, sah?'"

Why It Is the "Joy-Stick"

Persons who have only a casual acquaintance with the airplane often express wonder at the name of the lever by which the vehicle is controlled. The common name is "joy-stick," but why should it be given such a strange name? The explanation lies in the name of the man who is responsible for this sort of control. His name was Joyee, a pioneer English inventor, and his name has been somewhat corrupted as it has been handed from one to another in the course of years.

Portable Telephone in the Home

Houses of the most recent type are supplied with outlets in several rooms so that the telephone may be carried around and plugged in wherever it may be desired to make use of the instrument. The wiring for this purpose is done when the house is in the course of construction.

Membership of trade unions in Great Britain and Northern Ireland decreased by 119,000 in the last year.

EFFECT OF GAS FUMES RETARDED

Refinery Employee Saved From Death by Inhalator Long After Exposure

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, Dec. 25. (Exclusive)—Overcome by gas fumes inhaled nearly three hours before he lost consciousness, John Warnick, 1066 East Seventh street, was snatched back from death's brink by the fire department inhalator squad here today in one of the strangest cases of near-asphyxiation in local records.

Warnick, an employee in a casinghead gas plant at Signal Hill, left his place of employment in apparent excellent health, went home, ate a light lunch and almost three hours after leaving the plant collapsed in the bathroom of his apartment from fumes inhaled earlier.

After being revived by Inhalator Crew No. 2 of the Belmont-avenue fire station, which worked over him for an hour and five minutes, firemen expressed belief that Warnick's lungs were saturated with gas at the plant but that until the victim entered the close atmosphere of the bathroom the effect was suspended.

He will recover.

NEW AQUEDUCT REPORT READY

Engineering Board of Review Files Data Tomorrow

Only Few Possible Routes to Get Consideration

Gravity Plan Believed Still to Be Receiving Study

A preliminary report on the proposed Colorado River Aqueduct is expected to be filed tomorrow with the Board of Directors of the Metropolitan Water District by the engineering board of review, it was learned yesterday.

Members of the board of review or consulting board have been making surveys of a number of the proposed routes for the aqueduct and are said to be ready to make their preliminary report. While no official statement was available, it is anticipated that the board may recommend as a result of its studies that three or four of the tentative routes stand out as holding the best promises for the aqueduct and should be given detailed study.

INSPECTION MADE

Members of the consulting board, including A. J. Wiley, Richard R. Lyman and Thaddeus Merriam, have been going over the territory for several weeks checking up on the engineering data compiled by the Bureau of Water Works and Supply of the city of Los Angeles, in reference to possible aqueduct routes. Although it has been announced that a great number of possible routes are under consideration, the engineering data compiled cover in detail only a half dozen or so. Of the latter, it is expected the consulting board will concentrate on three or four.

Of the feasible routes under consideration the possibilities fall into two classes—those involving pumping to bring the water from the river into the coastal plane, and pumping for the great bulk of the water to be used within the metropolitan district.

PUMPING FEATURE

Statements made before a business men's organization in Glendale recently were misconstrued, according to Chief Engineer Weymouth, to mean that members of the consulting board already had abandoned any idea of a gravity aqueduct with the statement that pumping would be required. The pumping referred to, he said, was possibly at this end of the proposed aqueduct.

One of the chief proponents of the gravity aqueduct system is said to be ready to show by engineering data that a gravity aqueduct can be constructed from the river within reasonable cost and can deliver water on the coastal plane at an elevation that will not require those flowing from the river source to the coast entirely by gravity.

Boles Predicts Opera Career for Film Star

Bebe Daniels as "Carmen." John Boles, co-star with Bebe in "Rio Rita" at the Carthay Circle Theater, is one who believes in a great future for Bebe Daniels in the operatic and light opera field.

"I look for a certain large studio to start making the great standard operas in the near future," declares Boles, "and nothing would give me greater delight than to see Bebe Daniels in the title role of Bizet's 'Carmen.' She has a charming mezzo-soprano with a dramatic timbre. With her ability as a comedienne, as well as a dramatic artist, and with her charming voice, Bebe, to my mind stands in a far better position to score future honors than any of the former stars of the silent pictures in the musical comedy and light opera field."

Miss Daniels has just finished "Along Comes Love," while John Boles has completed "La Marseillaise" for Universal and is now working in the Paul Whiteman revue. Since he appeared in "Rio Rita" Boles has had several offers from various studios, it is said.

Filmarte Will Screen Legend

Emphasizing the beauty and romance of the Niebelungen legend, "Kriemhilde's Revenge" will be the attraction at the Filmarte Theater during New Year's week, beginning tonight. It is a release from the U.F.A. studio in Berlin.

Fritz Lang directed the film, which is said to bear striking evidence that the path of the motion picture has reached the goal of real art. Margaret Schon portrays Kriemhilde and it is said to be a picture of grace and beauty.

"Kriemhilde's Revenge" has aroused enthusiasm and also caused much discussion for it is an example of what may be accomplished in transferring mythical legends and folk lore to the screen.

COUPLE CELEBRATE FIFTY YEARS OF CHRISTMAS DAYS

Christmas Day has an added significance for Mr. and Mrs. Frank M. Doyle of San Pedro in that it is their wedding anniversary, and yesterday it was still more important in that it marked half a century of married life.

More than fifty friends of the couple gathered yesterday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Gardner, 1263 Temple street, a sister and brother-in-law of Mrs. Doyle, to extend felicitations and best wishes to the celebrants.

Mr. Doyle was one of the first volunteer firemen of Los Angeles, and for the past fifteen years has resided at 1019 Palos Verdes street, San Pedro. Six children of the couple were present for the anniversary. They are: Mrs. W. G. Cooper of Flagstaff, Ariz.; Harrison Doyle of Wilmington, Mrs. P. O. Davies, who only recently moved to California from Alaska; Mortimer Doyle of Portland, Or.; Robert N. Doyle, Saginaw, Mich., and Jack Doyle, San Pedro.

The celebration yesterday was the second golden wedding anniversary in the family this year, and a third will be held next year. Mrs. Gardner had her fiftieth wedding anniversary last May, and Mrs. Lyndon Ledbetter of Thirty-sixth Place, a third sister, will celebrate fifty years of married life in April.

The 91-year-old mother of the three daughters, Mrs. Elizabeth Sweetman, was an interested attendant at the wedding festival. She crossed the plains with an ox-team in 1850, and is the mother of five children, all of whom are living, and she has been present at the two golden wedding celebrations. She makes her home with Mrs. Gardner.

The New in Stores & Homes

Novelties, Ideas, and Suggestions

By OLIVE GRAY

The day after Christmas, like the day succeeding the party; all quiet, excitement of preparation and expectation cooled down to normal. Yes, to subnormal. No more hurry, no more planning the tree, no more planning the great feast, the final revelations. All is staid—fairly stale; almost blah!

But, there is the Christmas gift money to one's self to be expended. There is the joy of embodying the mental lists of one's own gift wishes. Going forth to the revelment of buying all that one hoped for and did not receive. A second Christmas! One wherein is laid aside all effort toward altruism—all otherism forgotten and only to please one's self, given thought. A radical change—after the previous fevered weeks. Just for a day—one's self and none other!

And Ablaze of Savings

And, in this self indulgence, savings, too! For there are the many after-Christmas reductions in prices. The merchandise received too late for the great fiesta and hence offered at lowered cost; and those which had been heightened in price, but back to normal. So, there is, after all, more than the mere joy of possessing one's self of the wished-for gifts—there is the additional pleasure of obtaining bargains, in so doing.

The Wisher-Fors

There is the quilted robe for which you hoped. You no longer need shiver as you eat your morning toast; for your gift money will compass this comfy garment, and at less by more dollars than had it been purchased to go into the Christmas-morning stocking.

There are the boudoir mules—all afluff with ostrich fronds; you will enjoy these quite as much, during the afternoon tea hour, as if they had been beside the Santa hosiery, and money will be conserved in their purchase.

The party frock which you devoutly wished to find suspended upon the tree—it might not have been of the desired color; but you now may choose your own.

The same with the hand bag—you knew all the little twists and turns of what you most cared for in hand bags—the size of the coin purse, the length of the pocket for holding papers—hence, the bag that you will buy, will be exactly what you wish. How glad you are that money is considered appropriate as a Christmas gift! Perhaps, after all has been gift-remarked, money expend in one's own way is the best gift-medium, the most satisfactory—the most happily placed.

The Brightest Christmas

"I'll wager this is the brightest Christmas ever known!" exclaimed Angela, as we drove into town the night before Christmas.

"How's that?" I asked—ruminatively—set adream by the blazonry of myriad lights glimmering along the wayside, in outdoor Christmas trees, and the multitude of high towers, scintillant against the starry sky.

"Never before were lights so wonderful," was the reply, "never before so many colors, such marvelous new light devices, as during the present year."

"At least, not within our known history," I replied. "But, of course, tomorrow's reports on archeological excavation may tell us that all this existed—and more—far more—millions of years ago."

"I shall not believe those reports!" said Angela defiantly.

For the Home

And, although it was several days after this bright-light conversation, the thought continued.

"I am certain there never were things so beautiful for the home," said Angela, carefully comparing pottery bowls between which she was endeavoring to choose. "You see, we are entering an era of new art and never were shapes or coloring so lovely. I scarcely can decide how to place my Christmas money, for the home—so much that is beautiful from which to select. And compare this fact with facts of say the Victorian period!"

"But, possibly, the Victorians thought just as we do," I replied, more for argument than with actual belief that this could be true.

"Well, if they did," spited my companion, "they deserve to be dead and gone! Such monstrosities as they harbored, and named them art!" "But they thought them so, I suppose er—" "You needn't defend their taste, even for the sake of speaking well of the dead and gone." "Ours does seem better," I conceded, as Angela selected her preference in bowls, its coloring so harmonious as to seem like a dainty savour in the mouth as well as a joy to the eye.

Turkey Leftovers

When the turkey begins to seem a bit "cold-gray-dawnish"—you know, of the "morning after," several afters, in fact, there is a way of making it quite a novel and inviting viand.

Aunt Jane does it thus: Picking from the bones, the many fine pieces, she places them in a casserole, seasons them with dry mustard as well as salt and pepper—and pours over all a medium-thick cream gravy. After baking for half an hour or more, the dish comes forth brown and savoury and we all declare it better than the original Christmas turkey dinner.

Rehabiting

In a sale wherein were offered fine cretonnes and other upholstery fabrics, we sought the yardage for rehabilitating the big chair, which Dad so loves as a lounging place.

We did intend replacing that chair, as a Christmas gift to Dad, but, somehow, he got wind of our intentions and emphatically expressed himself against such a proceeding. So, it was decided, in secret council, that we would wait until after Christmas and make it look like new. And what economy that resolve led to! A remnant of finest fabric, better by far than any we had thought to obtain, at the price which we had set, inspired us for the somewhat difficult task of reupholstering.

And Also

After the many sweets of Christmas Day and its successors, one has tired of that flavor; and it is then that Aunt Jane brings forth her strange "put-up," which she calls "plum queer." This is a device all her own, in the way of preserving. Many different fruits — peaches, pears, oranges, a few bits of lemon, go into this conserve which is very lightly sweetened and seasoned with—guess what? With mixed mustard! The flavor is like nothing else, and delightful, after too many sweets. The recipe is derived from an oriental composition, found by Aunt Jane during travels in some far eastern land.

DIX STARS IN LE BARON PLAY

Gary Cooper Cast For "The Texan" by Paramount; Denny and Griffith Split on "Dark Chapter;" Kay Francis Will Play Paramount Lead

BY GRACE KINGSLEY

Richard Dix is tripping merrily along on his successful way—over at R.-K.-O., and we learned yesterday that his next picture for that organization will be a film talking version of William LeBaron's stage play, "I Love You."

RICHARD DIX

The play is a charming romance, and will have musical features, we understand. It is a type of story which will give Dix a chance to play a contrasting role to the sort of heavy athletic things in which he has been appearing.

So far no director or leading woman has been chosen, but it is known that the feature will be a special.

GARY COOPER WILL PLAY "THE TEXAN"

Throughout the country Gary Cooper's popularity is mounting and Paramount seems to be trying wisely to provide him with the best possible vehicles.

Now it is "The Texan," adapted from an old play of the same name, which is to provide Gary with a thrilling vehicle, we hear.

Cooper has a large assortment of excellent roles ahead of him, and while no director is yet assigned "The Texan," inasmuch as it will not be in production for several weeks, we learn that no pains are to be spared to make the feature one of the outstanding pictures of the Paramount year.

Meanwhile "Civilian Clothes" will provide Cooper with an excellent acting opportunity.

Star and Director Part

After all D. H. Griffith will not direct Reginald Denny in his first Tiffany production, "The Dark Chapter," we learn.

REGINALD DENNY

While Griffith and the star are the greatest of personal friends, they just couldn't get together on the story, Griffith desiring to emphasize one phase of the story, and Denny another.

So they have parted after exchanging cigars and Christmas gifts, and another director has taken the reins in his hands.

George Crone is the man selected for the position, and it is understood that work is to be commenced forthwith, following the beginning of the new year.

Kay Francis Plays Lead

That young actress, Kay Francis, will bear watching, with the idea that she is good star material.

KATHARINE FRANCIS

Miss Francis has just been assigned her first real leading role. Paramount has intrusted to her ever increasingly capable talents the lead opposite Buddy Rogers in "Safety in Numbers."

"Safety in Numbers" is the work of George Marion, Jr., and Percy Heath, of Broadway and the theater, but not of back-stage life.

Victor Schertzinger has returned from New York, and will direct.

Herbert Brennon Travels

Herbert Brennon has shaken the dust of Hollywood from his feet and has gone back to New York to spend the holidays. Mrs. Brennon is in the East, and the director is spending Christmas and New Year's Day with her.

May Boley in It

The producers aren't going to let May Boley get away, it appears. This clever comedienne, who, you remember, distinguished herself here in Lillian Albertson's production of "Hit the Deck," had no sooner landed in New York a few weeks ago, following her appearance in a number of pictures, than she received a wire from Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer to return.

MAY BOLEY

Now Miss Boley is playing a feature comedy lead in "The Song Writer," which is supposed to be the life of Irving Berlin.

Lloyd Whitlock Busy

It looks as though the new year were going to be a bright one, professionally speaking, for that excellent actor, Lloyd Whitlock.

Whitlock had no sooner finished a role with Buddy Rogers, over at Paramount in a picture at present titled "Young Eagles," than he was engaged by Universal to play an Italian count in "The Cohens and Kellys in Scotland," which William Craft will direct.

'Flight' Begins Popular Run at R.-K.-O. Today

Filmed among the clouds and presenting the love-romance of two flying marines, Flight," the all-talking Columbia picture, starts at the R.-K.-O. Theater today.

As a tribute to Jack Holt, Ralph Graves and Lila Lee, featured members of the cast, the Three Hundred and Seventh United States Marine Corps Reserve will appear on the stage tonight. Included also in the supporting cast of the picture are Alan Roscoe, Harold Goodwin and Jimmy De La Cruze. Frank R. Capra directed.

Douglas Leavitt and Ruth Lockwood will headline the stage show and present a musical revue, "Hit Bits of 1929." On the program are Gattison Jones, Elsie Bartlett, the Hayden-Gloria girls, Babs Day, Teddy Eddy and his band. Hal Yates and Lawley and the Two Daveys also will appear.

Too Large Bite of Meat Causes Woman's Death

Too large a piece of meat was reported last night to have caused the death in the General Hospital of Mrs. Emma Medicos, 49 years of age, 333 South Figueroa street.

Mrs. Medicos tried to swallow the meat last Sunday. It ruptured her esophagus and surgeons operated on her.

The body was removed to the morgue, where an inquest will be conducted today.

WIFE TOLD TO GET CHAPERON

Judge Makes Ruling When Child Custody Question Enters Divorce Suit

Superior Judge Schauer has found a new use for that old-fashioned institution, the chaperon. Mrs. Virginia Haggart must get one if she wants to live with her 9-month-old baby.

Mrs. Haggart and her husband, Lynn Haggart, are contesting their divorce. According to Haggart, he raided his wife's apartment and found another man there. Considering this affidavit, Judge Schauer ruled that the child should be placed in charge of a third party, its father paying the bills. Mrs. Haggart can have custody of the child if she provides a home where she will be chaperoned.

In her divorce complaint, Mrs. Haggart asks a division of $150,000 community property.

WOMAN GETS ESTATE OF ESTRANGED MATE

When George Ginsberg went to Reno, to get a divorce from his wife, Mrs. Bessie Ginsberg, he neglected to change his will, and when he died shortly afterward, Mrs. Ginsberg was left most of his property, according to the terms of the testament as filed. The will was filed by Attorneys Gediman and Mandel.

SETBACK LINE HEARING

A resolution of intention creating fifteen-foot setback lines in Hobart Boulevard from Adams Boulevard to Jefferson Boulevard has been adopted by the City Council. The resolution has been set for hearing January 17.

BACON GETS REWARD

Irving Bacon's performance in support of Charles "Buddy" Rogers in "Half Way to Heaven" has won for him another role at Paramount. Bacon will play Harry, a sinister character in William Powell's first starring picture, "Street of Chance."

"SHREW" GIVEN INSTANT FAVOR

First Joint Appearance of Stars Makes Hit

Dominant Personalities Cast in Tempestuous Roles

Settings, Photography Lend Attractive Touch

BY EDWIN SCHALLERT

The solemn peace of Shakespeare's eternal rest may occasionally be disturbed by certain wild happenings that are taking place currently at the United Artists Theater—but audiences which behold "The Taming of the Shrew," now showing there, will probably have few thoughts but festive and jubilant ones over this madcap invasion of the serene precincts of the classic drama that gives the public the first co-starring appearance of Douglas Fairbanks and Mary Pickford.

"The Taming of the Shrew" is a riot in the popular sense. It proved to be unquestionably yesterday with the holiday attendance. It drew thronging audiences virtually throughout a long day's showing, and scored a terrific hit with the majority who attended.

Never can it be said that Doug and Mary have erred by being highbrow in their first classical adventure. They have sought the maximum of mirthfulness in their treatment of the story, and if some of the scenes that are depicted on the screen are difficult to find as such in the Shakespearean original, it can scarcely be said that their inclusion has done aught but add to the entertainment as proffered.

BOTH TEMPESTUOUS

"The Taming of the Shrew" is, of course, a unique event in that it brings the two stars on the screen together—Fairbanks as the stormy Petruchio, Miss Pickford as the tempestuous Katherine. They meet in what looks like it might be a whip-lashing contest, they are married at a hectic travesty of a wedding; they spend their honeymoon amid clash and turmoil, for all of which Doug as the woman-tamer is chiefly responsible.

There has never been a picture quite like "The Taming of the Shrew"—though in a way the plot of the hero seeking to conquer the rebellious heroine has been used times without number. This is, however, one of the earliest examples of the famous story and it has elaborate costumes and settings to embellish it.

As in all their pictures, Mr. Fairbanks and Miss Pickford have gone to the utmost lengths to enhance the appeal of their feature with decorative attractiveness. "The Taming of the Shrew" is very enticing photographically. The garb that is seriously worn—as opposed to the comic outfits of Doug and some of the other characters—is manifestly beautiful, and Miss Pickford looks especially lovely in the wedding dress of the period.

Fairbanks is unquestionably the dominant personality of the film, and gives a capital performance. Indeed, it is one of his very best acting performances. He is immensely amusing in the marriage scene for instance, especially where he answers in a stentorian voice that he will take Katherine for wife. This scene is not Shakespeare, but doubtless few will care about that who go to see the picture for its comedy.

There is also a boudoir scene that is freely introduced and that is very liberal in its treatment of incidents from the Shakespearean original, and also includes sundry independent bits of action. Much of this scene is sheer pantomime, and consequently avoids comparisons. I believe even the boudoir is somehow justified, because that is the setting of certain French versions.

NOT FOR SCHOLARS

All of this may seem wild to the Shakespearean scholar, but "The Taming of the Shrew" is not for scholars who happen to be rigorous in their views of what may be done with the Bard. It is designed apparently for people who wish to enjoy themselves, particularly during such a time as the holidays. It will serve its purpose admirably in this connection, and viewed as a film production, independent of its relation to the original classic comedy, it is distinctly an achievement of the higher order.

Mary Pickford attains a most favorable reaction with her work. Although I have mentioned in other comments on this picture that the role of Katherine is not ideally suited to her, there is no question that the earnestness of her effort to impersonate the character and make it thoroughly shrewish contributes immensely to the interest of the picture. Her personal charm is very marked, especially in the later scenes.

The adaptation and direction of "The Taming of the Shrew" is credited to Sam Taylor. He may have some things to answer for when he gets to heaven if he meets Shakespeare there. However, he has not failed to make his picture distinctly a popular audience picture.

Joseph Cawthorn does a very effective portrayal of Gremio, who holds the apple core in the church scene. Edwin Maxwell as Baptista, Clyde Cook as Grumio, Geoffrey Wardell as Hortensio and Dorothy Jordan as Bianca are others prominent.

"Oh, Susanna" Includes Many Tuneful Songs

With fifteen songs, each a distinctive number, it is reported that "Oh, Susanna!" which makes its debut at the Mayan Theater tomorrow night, is on the right road to success.

Several prominent personalities in the musical field are associated in the writing and presentation of these tuneful melodies and include Aubrey Stauffer, A. Karl Kramer and Bakaleinikoff, conductor of the orchestra.

NAUTICAL COMEDY APPEARS

"Hit The Deck" Reopens Former Vaudeville Theater; Jack Oakie, Polly Walker Please in Leads

BY EDWIN SCHALLERT

The old theater name is retained—but it's a show house with a new policy, is the Orpheum. "Hit the Deck," talking and singing picture, opened yesterday at this former home of vaudeville as a Christmas event, and drew full capacity audiences most of the time. And the first attraction, it would appear, won a favorable reaction by virtue of its familiar tunes, its plot and its comedy.

"Hallelujah," of course, is one of the big numbers. At least, it is one of the best known numbers, and gauged by the fact that it received applause at the showing of the picture which I attended yesterday, it exerts an unfailing sway with its melody and rhythm.

It may be noted in this connection that the scenes of "Hit the Deck" are somewhat altered. In the original stage version "Hallelujah" was presented—a bit gratuitously—as a part of a Japanese divertisement. In the film it is incorporated into a colored spiritualist meeting. An effort is made to tie it up with the plot by this means, and it is danced and sung by a huge negro chorus, in addition to Maruerita Padula, who renders the solo portion. On the whole this treatment may be described as popularly effective.

Mostly "Hit the Deck" is about the romance between the little canteen girl and the sailor who had a love in every port and forgot to remember the girl he proposed to when he came back to her and then refused to wed her because she had acquired wealth in his absence. The plot originally came from "Shore Leave," which was once made as a silent film. The idea has been preserved and a share of the incidents. Taken all in all, the story is a slight thread, but pleasing.

I think that Jack Oakie is destined to be popular in his impersonation of the easy-going gob. His sense of comedy is dependable, and he sings and dances sufficiently well to carry the role. Oakie also has a very distinct personality, as other pictures have demonstrated.

Polly Walker, new to the screen, is the heroine, playing the sugar-sweet role of Loo-loo. Her voice is nice, and she understands how to endow the character with appropriate sympathy, which is what is chiefly required. She exhibited a degree of finesse in making it not too saccharine. Photographically she registers fairly in black and white, and much more attractively in the color photography scenes.

Miss Padula's rendition of "Hallelujah" is acceptable, and she enacts the role of the colored Lavinia rather efficiently. A comedy trio of capabilities proves a happy addition to the cast, of which Ethel Clayton is also a member.

Photography in color in the closing sequences of the picture, and the dances arranged for these episodes prove engaging. An effort, successful to a very fair extent, has been made to get away from the staginess that is likely to occur in a production of this kind, and in regard to this Luther Reed as director probably deserves attention. One of the nicest bits of action in the picture, it might be mentioned, is the closing scene between Oakie and Miss Walker.

On the bill with the feature is a short comedy called "Good Medicine," in which Edward Everett Horton, Enid Bennett and Olive Tell provide amusement.

ADVENTURES OF SKINNER RECOUNTED

Glenn Tryon and Merna Kennedy in Oft-told Tale at Million Dollar

BY JOHN SCOTT

Built for laughing purposes, "Skinner Steps Out" started its traditional local visit at the Million Dollar Theater yesterday. "Skinner's Dress Suit,' a story by Henry Irving Dodge, again serves as the formula, its appearance being either the third or fourth in as many years.

Reginald Denny and Laura La Plante co-starred in a silent version of the same story in 1928, while the talking effort is presented by Glenn Tryon and Merna Kennedy for Universal.

The familiar theme of the young man who is a hero to his wife and just a dub to the world at large loses somewhat in tempo by the addition of dialogue. Pantomimic acting, which was ideally suited to Denny and Miss La Plante, is of necessity lessened in the new medium, with many of the situations dependent entirely on conversation.

In several scenes, however, the dialogue, which incidentally is rapidfire, adds materially to the film as a whole. Tryon, in one sequence, leads the orchestra at the charity ball and his rhythmic movements and humorous antics are fitted to the music, making all very effective.

The actor, who has appeared infrequently on local theater screens, and who is remembered for his work in "Broadway" does no singing and very little dancing in "Skinner Steps Out" The story does not require the former and little of the latter The oft-told tale carried through to a logical conclusion is directed in a thorough manner by William James Craft.

Scenes in which Tryon is allowed to burlesque are the high points of the picture. The auction provides the player with some splendid opportunities to frolic and he doesn't miss them. The leading of the orchestra is another laudable effort.

Miss Kennedy is acceptable as Tryon's wife, her beauty, perhaps, exceeding her acting ability. Her portrayal of the role, more or less a foil for the comedy of Tryon, compares favorably with that of Miss La Plante.

Minor parts are taken care of by E. J. Radcliffe, Burr McIntosh, Lloyd Whitlock, Edna Marian and others in a capable manner. All have pleasant screen voices.

An Edward Everett Horton talking comedy causes hearty chuckles on the part of the audience, and other surrounding shorts are well received.

Warner Baxter Has Chief Role in New Picture

"Romance of Rio Grande," Fox Movietone successor to "In Old Arizona," opening today at Loew's State, is scheduled for a limited run of one week. Warner Baxter, whose characterization of the "gringo" in "In Old Arizona" skyrocketed him to stardom, has a similar role in this, his second outdoor talkie. The romantic atmosphere of a 400-year-old Spanish hacienda is the setting

Mary Duncan and Antonio Moreno are featured with Baxter, and Mona Maris, new Basque discovery, Robert Edeson and other favorites will appear. Fanchon and Marco offer their new musical comedy Idea, "Overture," on the stage. Georgie Stoll leads the band and a number of favorites are in the cast.

RIVAL FOR ARLEN

Francis McDonald, who smiled his way into motion-picture villainy and note, is to essay the principal menace role in "Burning Up," the automobile-racing romance with which Paramount is launching Richard Arlen as a star.

Vital Theme in Horton Comedy

"It is one of the few comedies dealing breezily with a vital theme and is brilliantly written and staged." That is Edward Everett Horton's own explanation of "Among the Married," the new Vincent Lawrence comedy of modes and manners in which the comedian is starring at the Majestic Theater.

The popularity of this sophisticated comedy is growing with the holiday season. Although the attendance at most shows normally slumps to the lowest point of the season during the Christmas shopping period, all 1929 attendance records at the Majestic are being broken during the run, according to announcement. Horton is supported by Florence Eldridge, Mary Astor, Gavin Gordon and Phil Tead.

FRIENDS SEE BOTELER

Wade Boteler has received word from Mexico City that some of his friends, while visiting there, attended the season's formal opening of the Regis Theater, as the feature picture for the occasion was "The Leatherneck," in which Wade, as the gunnery sergeant, plays a leading role. The Regis was one of the first of Mexico's theaters to install sound equipment.

BURLESQUE AIR PERVADES FILM

New Farce With McLaglen Proves Amusing

Criterion Proffers Latest Walsh Production

Fifi Dorsay Captures Heart of ex-Marine

BY PHILIP K. SCHEUER

All in a spirit of fun, "Hot for Paris" opened yesterday at the Criterion Theater. This is really a continuation of the amorous antics of Victor McLaglen, who, late of "The Cock-Eyed World," usually shares his affairs grudgingly with Edmund Lowe as a fellow marine. The latter does not appear in "Hot for Paris," but El Brendel, the funny Swede, does; and Raoul Walsh, who directed the former opus, is identified in unmistakable fashion with this latest one. And the particular lady charmer is none other than Mlle. Fifi Dorsay, whose wiles were so devastatingly exerted in the talking picture which brought Will Rogers back to the screen.

"Hot for Paris" is conceived in the mood of a burlesque show. Its whirly-girly numbers, its suggestiveness and double entendres, its opera bouffe characters are all what you may have been led to expect by the earlier films in the series. Except that here but little effort is made to tell a connected story; even less than in "The Cock-Eyed World." The commodity is painlessly dispensed with. For the present, audiences are well content to look upon Mr. Walsh's conceptions of he-man love in the form of a sequence of "gags," the only stipulation being that the gags make them laugh.

Arraigned in this manner, then, "Hot for Paris" may be marked as acceptable enough. True, it fails to reach any uproarious peaks of merriment, but by the time realization of the fact becomes concrete, the picture is over, and Mr. McLaglen, "hot for Paris" and richer by the acquisition of $1,000,000 in a Grand Prix lottery, is off for new fields of conquest.

The erstwhile Capt. and Sergt. Flagg appears currently as a mate on a sailing vessel, and El Brendel as his cheerful lascivious henchman. Most of their ashore activities center in the seaport town of Havre, where the depiction of a certain stratum of water-front life is attended to with all the intimate detail at the command of one of the Fox studios. The patois is convincingly reproduced by the Movietone, with phrases which might have been missed by the ear carefully repeated in pantomime, and the songs are passingly melodious.

"Sweet Nothing of Love" and "Look Into My Eyes" are Mlle. Dorsay's verses, and Mr. McLaglen essays "The Duke of Kakiak" at respectable intervals. Charles Judels, Lennox Pawle, Polly Moran, Yola D'Avril and August Tollaire lend amusing support.

"Hot for Paris" represents what is probably only a temporary phase of picture-making; but it is close to earth and enlivening, and as such will be accepted.

A short subject, "Copy," with most of the players who enacted "The Front Page" on the Los Angeles stage, is made dramatic by the excellence of Roscoe Karn's performance. What at first seems in him a tendency to overact gradually compels one's excited attention. There are also a Mickey Mouse cartoon and a Fox News. I question the good taste of showing the fatal accident which recently befell a young air glider in San Francisco.

PANGBORN ENLIVENS 'REAR CAR'

Mystery Play Presented at Vine-Street With New Sequences

BY MURIEL BABCOCK

The Franklin Pangborn Players of ye well-known Vine-street Theater in Hollywood yesterday boarded "The Rear Car" and chugged away for an episodical ride on this favored thriller.

"The Rear Car" is one of these hardy perennials in the mystery field. It is apt to crop up in most any theater at most any time; the reason being, it is surmised, because the play is such a mixture of comedy and alleged thrills.

The present offering varies somewhat from those of past seasons. Mr. Pangborn has taken the liberty of injecting a slightly different sequence of events toward the close with the idea probably of "pepping" the play up and imbuing it with the proper 1929 (and soon, 1930) spirit.

It may not be necessary to recount its familiar story at length; instead to remark in passing that this is the play where all the action takes place on board a private railroad car, the end one in a train of transcontinental ranking making its way across the country. There is a goofy detective who goes snooping about with a magnifying glass and who comments in an apparently aimless way on exciting happenings.

Franklin Pangborn does the detective role and has a grand time bobbing hither and thither on the stage. Young Miss Gay Seabrook, for the past couple of years a Duffy favorite, makes her appearance in the leading feminine role opposite him.

Among others numbered in the cast are John De Weese, William Wagner, William Lawrence and Rex Lease. David Hartford not only staged the piece but has a part to play.

"The Rear Car" is good old farce mystery, done in rollicking Pangborn style. It makes no pretense at being anything extraordinary and should not. Yesterday afternoon's performance was rather jerky, due, it is supposed, to that after-Christmas-Eve mood and perhaps also to experimentation with changed lines. It will, no doubt, take on considerable more polish at succeeding performances.

Of Interest to Women

Society

by JUANA NEAL LEVY

Of more than usual interest to society of the Southland is the formal announcement made this morning by Dr. and Mrs. Ernest Albert Bryant of 3210 West Adams street of the engagement of their daughter, Miss Susanna Patterson Bryant, to Richard Young Dakin, the news being told to a coterie of friends who were bidden to the Christmas tree party at the Bryant home yesterday afternoon. The wedding is to be an event of the early spring.

Mr. Dakin, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. Dakin of Pasadena, claims the University of Michigan as his alma mater and is a member of Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity.

Another Betrothal

Another formal announcement being made today is that of the engagement of Miss Mary Ford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew T. Jergins of 2413 East Ocean Boulevard, Long Beach, to Herbert Menville Toberman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Toberman of Hollywood, the news being told at a Christmas dance given last evening at the Biltmore by the parents of Miss Ford. After being graduated from Marlborough School Miss Ford went east and is now a student at the Finch School in New York City and has just came home for the holiday vacation. Mr. Toberman is a senior at Stanford University. No date is set as yet for the wedding.

Home for Holidays

Miss Evelyn Crop, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Crop of 2822 South Western avenue, has come from University of Arizona in Tucson to pass the holidays with her parents. Miss Crop is a senior this year at the university.

Christmas Dinner

The annual Christmas Day dinner given by the Sea Breeze Beach Club to 200 little orphans was sponsored by a group of prominent women who acted as patronesses. The Social Welfare League of Santa Monica selected the children most in need of Christmas cheer, who were conveyed in motor cars to the Sea Breeze and treated to a turkey dinner, a beautifully ornamented Christmas tree and gifts presented by Santa Claus in the person of Dr. Fred Schildwachter.

Patronesses included Mrs. Katherine Garrett, Mrs. Auguste Blanchard, Mrs. William Thorner, Mrs. William Hershfield, Mrs. Claude Ducos, Mrs. Andre Rouseyrol, Mrs. Fred Schildwachter, Mrs. Kathryn Martinoni, Mrs. Erna Grunan, Mrs. P. F. Pellisier, Mrs. Emma Grimand, Mrs. John Lifur, Mrs. Fred Lacour, Mrs. Fred Holbrook, Mrs. William E. Keefe, Mrs. Frank Besselo, Mrs. Robert MacGregor, Mrs. Herman Michel, Mrs. Henri Ventura, Mrs. Charles Amendale, Mrs. John Henderson, Mrs. Tom Chase, Mrs. John Clements, Mrs. William Worke, Mrs. Leo T. Mullen, Mrs. Dwight Stevenson, Mrs. Rollie Miller, Mrs. Sydney Lehman and Mrs. John Tinney.

Surprise Party

Honoring Mr. and Mrs. Mackey Cummings, who have returned recently from an extended eastern trip, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Beller entertained with a surprise party at Paul Perrot's Saturday evening. The guest who afterward enjoyed the dancing included Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Beller, Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Beller, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Funkel, Mr. and Mrs. Josiah Deitch, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Dalberg, Miss Carrie De Ventura, the hosts and honor guests.

Church Ceremony

The marriage of Miss Nina Caldwell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Caldwell of 2041 Lewis avenue, to Dr. John A. Harris, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Harris of Lime avenue, Long Beach, was solemnized the 20th inst., the ceremony taking place in the Wee Kirk o' the Heather, Glendale, with Rev. Don S. Ford of Atlantic avenue Methodist Church officiating.

The bride wore a gown of white satin with wide Duchesse lace flounce, the tulle veil held in place by a bandeau of pearls and orange blossoms, her only ornaments being a string of pearls, and she carried butterfly roses and lilies of the valley.

Miss Mary Esther Davis, maid of honor, wore coral georgette and carried orchid sweet peas and pink roses while Miss Mary Virginia Platt in green taffeta carrying yellow and orchid sweet peas, and Miss Marion Elliott in peach taffeta carrying orchid sweet peas were the bridesmaids.

Dr. Sidney Harris served his brother as best man and Dr. Walter Stevens and Ernest Caldwell ushered, while Jeannette Saunders presided at the organ and Margaret Hadley of Whittier sang, accompanied on the violin by Dean Wissler.

After a motor honeymoon at Lake Arrowhead, Mr. and Mrs. Harris will return to make their future home in Long Beach.

The bride was graduated from Whittier College while Dr. Harris is an alumnus of Los Angeles School of Optometry.

Home for Christmas

John M. Eddy, who is a student at the Shattuck School at Faribault, Minn., has come home to pass the Christmas holidays with his father, H. L. Eddy of 1047 Genesee avenue, Hollywood.

For Recent Bride

In compliment to Mrs. Fred Culiani, a bride of August, last, whose wedding took place in Santa Barbara, Miss Ethel O'Connell, 360 South Westlake, was hostess Saturday afternoon at a bridge tea in the Flower Room of the Mary Louise, using a winter color scheme. Those bidden were Mmes. Edward Duke, R. H. Petersen, Thomas Anderson, E. M. Warner, Minnie Mente, Edward Parr, Frank Seeman, H. Bryan and Misses Katheryn and Bess Dunn, Georgia and Joyce Sullivan, Celia Franklin, Calla Thomas, Katherine Alden and Mrs. George Hamlyn.

Smart Affair

Mr. and Mrs. Saul Morris's party in the Blossom Room of the Roosevelt Hotel Monday night was conspicuous among the many which took place in honor of "D. W. Griffith" night there.

Pink and blue sweet peas furnished the outstanding table decorations. Among Mr. and Mrs. Morris's guests were Messrs. and Mmes. H. D. Henheim, B. C. Norton, A. D. Sanger, J. Sloto and Steven Kurtz and Dr. and Mr. Glass. Also Messrs. Harry Sadikoff and Rand.

Luncheon-Bridge

Mrs. C. W. Pursell of Boise, Idaho, who is the house guest of Mrs. C. H. Murray, 1948 Kensington Road, entertained with a charmingly appointed luncheon and bridge Thursday at the Mary Louise. Roses and chrysanthemums with fern adorned the luncheon table, and bridge was later enjoyed in the Chinese Room. Mrs. Pursell's guests were Mmes. Charles P. McCarthy, Harry Joannes, Vernon Gray, Charles H. Murray, Harry Butterworth, William McCafferty and Charles Walton.

Entertain for Parents

As is her usual custom, year after year, Miss Dorothy R. Conant was the sponsor for a long-to-be-remembered birthday party in honor of the birthday anniversary of her mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Milton Conant, at the family residence, 175 North Cycamore avenue, Saturday evening, the 14th inst. The program was given by Dave Robertson, organist and pianist; Miss Madelein Duval, violinist and vocal soloist; Miss Hart Allen, elocutionist; Miss Eloise Kirkpatrick, coloratura soprano; Miss Mary Reynolds, violinist, and Miss Helen Anderson, blue singer, and an impromptu trio with selections rendered by the Misses Conant, Anderson and Herold.

Miss Suzanne Jane Cooper

AN INTERESTING announcement of the holidays is that made this morning of the engagement of Miss Suzanna Jane Cooper, attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Cooper of Youngstown, O., to Howard H. Campbell, son of Mrs. Thomas H. Hunter of this city. The wedding is to be an event of Sunday the 29th inst., and will take place in Cleveland, O. Miss Cooper was graduated from Ohio Wesleyan University and the Cleveland School of Art and she is an active member of Delta Delta Delta Sorority. Mr. Campbell also is a collegian, claiming University of California as his alma mater and affiliated with Phi Sigma fraternity. Following the wedding trip Mr. Campbell will bring his bride to make their future home in Hollywood.

Your Baby and Mine

by MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

Mrs. Eldred will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope forwarded to this office will bring a personal reply.

This department offers leaflets on weaning and feeding the child from 6 weeks to 6 years, prenatal care and diet for the nursing mother, constipation, eczema, outfits for the new baby, sleeping, walking, teething, thumb sucking, ammoniacal urine, bed wetting, training in cleanly habits, periods of nursing, cod liver oil, orange juice, hives, worms, vomiting, refractory children, prune juice, lime water, rupture, styes and boils and cradle cap. Before asking a personal question about one of these subjects it is better to send a self-addressed stamped envelope for the leaflet you need. If your particular problem is not covered in the above list Mrs. Eldred will be glad to give you a personal reply.

DOES YOUR 12-YEAR-OLD EVADE HOUSEHOLD TASKS?

How many parents can remember when they were 12 years old? Think about it. Did you like to help with the housework? Did you simply clamor to run to the grocery store on errands for mother? Did you fall to breaking up kindling and carrying up coal and mowing the lawn with hearty enthusiasm? Did you? I didn't. I buried myself in a book and heard and saw nothing. I was no more interested in housework or how many loads I could take off my mother's shoulders than any other ordinary child of 12. Why not admit it?

So Mrs. M. V. D.'s problem is practically universal. She asks, "How would you handle the problem of the 12-year-old who dislikes housework and develops aches and pains when asked to do anything, and recovers immediately when it is done? Sometimes it is hard to tell if she is really shamming, but it is a form of cheating and I don't like to see her develop this trait. She has been sick a lot and naturally has been spoiled."

First of all, make sure she isn't shamming by having a thorough physical examination that will relieve your mind and hers. When she understands that she is well and healthy she'll find it something to appreciate instead of mock. We should be proud to be healthy. Too much illness has no doubt given her the idea that it is distinguished to be sick. Get that idea out of her head.

INSTILL PERSONAL INTEREST IN DUTIES

There is little doubt but that a child performs regular tasks which are allotted to him and expected of him, far more readily than the unexpected things thrust upon him by a busy mother. If he knows that on certain days he is expected to come home from school and clean up the furnace room and stack kindling, or whatever tasks are to be done in his particular household, there are few boys but will say, "Well, kids, I'll see you tomorrow. I have to clean the furnace room today." If daughter has the responsibility of taking care of her own room, the mending of her own garments, the regular task of carrying out and wiping dishes, she'll do it with some grumbling perhaps, but with no idea of really escaping it. It is the task which springs out of the unexpected and disrupts her own plans and activities that fills her with resentment. "Never a minute to myself, just have to run around all the time for mother. Makes me sick." In your case she just lets it make her sick.

Remember that the more personal interest a child has in her home, the more she will do for it. Her own room for which she helped select the furniture, or painted it to her liking and helped choose the curtains and the furnishings will enlist her own efforts to keep it constantly attractive. Parents so often furnish a house to please themselves and expect the children to feel as if it were their home, while in reality it is to them just the home of their parents.

Let her help in ordering the meals, plan attractive dishes she can and will want to help make. Work with her, for work goes more easily with two than when done all alone. Remember she is just 12, and make allowances. Remember your own 12-year emotions. They were not dissimilar.

Gov. Young and Other Officials to Attend Game

Gov. Young and members of his family are expected to arrive in Los Angeles next Tuesday to attend the annual Rose Tournament and the New Year's Football Game at the Rose Bowl in Pasadena on January 1, it was announced at the Governor's local offices.

A large number of other State officials, including James F. Collins, director of the department of professional and vocational standards; Alexander Heron, director of finance, and Col. Frank G. Snook, head of the State Motor Vehicle Department, are expected to attend the game.

Eugene Biscailuz, superintendent of the State Highway Motor Patrol, also will be in Southern California on New Year's Day to take personal charge of the work of the State highway patrolmen assigned to traffic duty in connection with the Rose Tournament and football game.

Death Follows Suicide Effort

Christmas morning brought death to Mrs. T. D. Chenoweth, 31 years of age, of 2123 Santa Monica Boulevard, Beverly Hills, who lay in a critical condition at the California Lutheran Hospital for four days after taking poison with suicidal intent, a report at the Coroner's office yesterday revealed.

Mrs. Chenoweth, according to a police report, had become despondent because of marital difficulties and went to her mother's home at 419 North Plymouth Boulevard. It was there that she took the poison, police say. She had made a previous attempt to end her life several months ago, police stated.

Drink Dispute Frees Japanese

A dispute over whether the contents of a bottle, admitted by the defense to contain a Japanese drink, was alcoholic, freed Toshio Kiso, Japanese, of liquor charges before a jury in Municipal Judge Sheldon's court.

"It's sake," said Deputy City Prosecutor Lindley.

"It's a Japanese beverage, but a nonalcoholic one," declared Arthur C. Webb, defense attorney.

In the absence of chemical analysis of the liquor, which Kiso is asserted to have sold to Police Officer Sayre on October 28, last, the jury returned a verdict of not guilty.

EXTENSION DIVISION OF U. C. SETS RECORD

The extension division of the University of California is closing its most prosperous and successful year in Southern California, according to announcement of B. B. Rakestraw, assistant director, of Berkeley, who has completed a careful inspection of the affairs of the Los Angeles office. Enrollments for 1929 exceeded those of 1928 by 500, he stated, and declared there is every evidence that this gain will be doubled in 1930.

Y.W.C.A. WILL OFFER SWIMMING CLASSES

Free swimming lessons will be given at the Y.W.C.A. with all new courses being offered in tennis, dancing and golf. There will be morning, afternoon and evening classes, beginning January 2, next. Registration begins next Monday. Miss Edith M. Gates, national director of health education for the Y.W.C.A., will visit Los Angeles early in January.

Health and Diet Advice

By DR. FRANK McCOY
Author of "The Fast Way to Health"

OLIVES

The olive is one of the few oily fruits, and for this reason was one of the first fruits to be cultivated by man.

The olive is frequently mentioned in the Bible, and olive trees are still grown in the Garden of Gethsemane and in Bethlehem, while the Mount of Olives is familiar to everyone.

The homes of the Israelites were lighted literally by olive oil with which they filled their lamps, somewhat in the same way that our grandmothers used kerosene in the days that are gone forever.

The olive is referred to in the story of the dove that flew back to Noah's Ark bearing in his beak a leaf which is said to have been an olive leaf.

In Greece the olive wreaths were used to crown the brows of those who were victorious in sports, and the olive branch also served as an emblem of peace.

There is some difference of opinion as to whether the olive was a native of Western Asia or Southern Europe, or Asia Minor, but there is no doubt that the ancient populations of Assyria, Egypt, Rome, Spain, Greece, Palestine and Persia used the oil both as an ointment and as a food. It was applied externally in annointing the body, and often used after the bath.

The oil today is one of the most important fruit crops, and the acreage devoted to it is being constantly increased.

In using the olive in the diet it is advised that the ripe olives be used in preference to the green olives, and they should also be soaked in cold water to remove a part of the brine in which olives are prepared.

The olive is easily digested, and is a valuable source of vegetable fat. It makes a good addition to the menu, but should be used rather sparingly because of the large amount of oil it contains. Olives may always be used in addition to any other foods at a meal.

The sun-dried olive which does not undergo the lye process is preferred by some people, although many people object to its slightly bitter taste. The sun-dried olive is very wholesome and makes a rather pleasing addition to a number of cooked dishes and also raw salads. Usually the taste for these olives must be acquired, after which they are always enjoyed.

Ripe olives contain about 65 per cent water, 2 per cent protein, 25 per cent fat, 4 per cent carbohydrates, 3.4 per cent mineral matter. The olive is highly alkaline-forming.

Although the larger olives are more expensive, there is practically no difference in the food value between the cheaper and more expensive varieties.

CHEF WYMAN'S RECIPES

Every Tuesday and Friday at 2 o'clock Mrs. A. L. Wyman will conduct a free class and demonstration of good cookery in the lecture room of the Southwest Building, 130 South Broadway.

PRUNE CUP CAKES

One-half a cupful of shortening or butter, one cupful of sugar, four eggs, one cupful of water, one teaspoonful of cinnamon, one-half teaspoonful of salt, one teaspoonful of allspice, two and three-fourths cupfuls of flour, five teaspoonfuls of baking powder, one teaspoonful of vanila, one-half a cupful of chopped walnuts, three-quarters of a cupful of cooked chopped prunes; cream the shortening, add the sugar a little at a time and continue to cream, add the eggs, one at a time, and beat well between the addition of each one, sift the flour, baking powder, spices and salt together and add alternately with the water, add the vanilla, nuts and chopped prunes, place in oiled and floured muffin tins, place in a moderate oven and bake.

FRENCH VEAL PIE

One cupful of cooked veal, one cupful of cooked sweetbreads, one cupful of mushrooms, one cupful of asparagus tips, two cupfuls of white sauce, a seasoning of salt and paprika, cut the veal in small dice, cook the sweetbreads and cut them in dice. If fresh mushrooms are used cut them in small pieces and saute them in butter, combine the mixtures and make a white sauce with four tablespoonfuls of butter, four tablespoonfuls of flour, one cupful of veal stock and one cupful of milk, and combine with the rest of the ingredients, line a deep baking dish with a rich pie crust, place in the oven and bake until it starts to color. Remove, add the mixture, pour it into the pastry-lined dish, cover with bread crumbs, dot with butter and set back in the oven for ten minutes.

STUFFED ORANGES

Select small, even-sized seedless oranges, scrub them well, cover with cold water, bring to the boiling point and allow to boil gently for thirty minutes. Drain them, cover with fresh boiling water and cook slowly until the skins are tender, drain and allow to cool. Make a hole from the stem to the blossom end with an apple corer and another one at right angles to the first. Crosswise of the orange stuff the holes thus made with candied cherries and seeded raisins, make a syrup of three cupfuls of sugar and three cupfuls of water, and bring it to the boiling point and boil until slightly thickened. Cool the syrup, place the oranges in it and let stand overnight, remove the oranges, add one-fourth of a cupful of water for every cupful of syrup, bring to the boiling point, place the oranges in it and allow to cook for fifteen minutes, pack the oranges in jars, color the remaining syrup with a few drops of red coloring, fill the jars with the syrup and seal.

Mrs. Wyman does not reply to letters, but requests for recipes are answered in the department, PRACTICAL RECIPES, published every Friday.—(All rights to reproduce reserved by A. L. Wyman.)

WHEN THE SANDMAN COMES

by THORNTON W. BURGESS

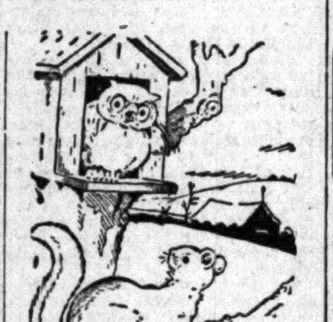
HAPPY JACK HAS A SHOCK

In most disputes that may arise
Advantage in possession lies.
—Old Mother Nature.

It was the day after Christmas. Happy Jack Squirrel awoke very early, as was his habit. Just as soon as it was light enough for him to see to run about, Happy Jack popped out of his home and started for Farmer Brown's yard as fast as his legs could take him. He wanted another look at that splendid new house he had found late the afternoon before, quite high up in a big maple tree in front of Farmer Brown's house. Happy Jack didn't wait to even get his breakfast. There would be time enough to get breakfast after he had once more inspected that house. He whisked up through the Old Orchard, he scurried across the driveway and so came to the big maple tree. Up the maple tree he scampered. He didn't pause a second. That was his house. Farmer Brown's Boy had made it for him. He was sure of it. The nuts he had found inside had proved it to him.

Just before he reached the house he chanced to look down. There scattered on the ground, were nuts. There could be no doubt about it. You can't fool Happy Jack on a nut and there's no use to try. Where had those nuts come from? Had Farmer Brown's Boy scattered some on the ground for him to pick up and store away? That must be it. He would attend to those nuts after he had inspected this new house. Those nuts would make him a good breakfast.

All these thoughts passed through Happy Jack's head as he continued to climb up to his new house. Then he popped inside. Less than half a minute later he popped out again much faster than he had popped in. And he was the angriest Squirrel that ever started his tongue to scolding or jerked a big tail. You see, he had had a shock—a most unpleasant shock. He had found that new home occupied. In fact he had been told in no uncertain terms to get out and stay out. Now as he clung to a branch close by that house, a face appeared in the doorway—a face with two glaring yellow eyes and a bill that snapped most unpleasantly. It was Spooky the Screech Owl.



"Thief! Robber!" shrieked Happy Jack. "Come out of my house!"

"Thief! Robber!" shrieked Happy Jack. "Come out of my house!"

"It is not your house; it is my house!" snapped Spooky.

"No such thing!" shrieked Happy Jack. "I found it first! It is mine! It was built for me. Farmer Brown's Boy put it up there for me."

Spooky glared at him and snapped his bill more than ever. "If it was your house why didn't you keep it?" said he. "I found it empty. Now I've got it and I'm going to keep it. Let's see you get me out of it."

Now, this was more than Happy Jack could do and he knew it. He didn't dare to even put his head inside that house while Spooky was in there. He knew all about that sharp hooked bill of Spooky's. He knew all about those sharp stout claws of Spooky's. And he knew all about Spooky's temper. Were he inside he might be able to keep Spooky out. But with Spooky inside it was a different matter. He was the one who would be kept out and there was no help for it. There was nothing he could do but use his tongue, and this he did use. My, my, my, how that tongue of Happy Jack's did fly! It brought all the little people within hearing to find out what the trouble was.

Child Support Forced by Term at Road Camp

"I'll quit every job in the world before I support you," Frank McIntosh, contractor, told his wife, Mrs. Helen McIntosh, 429½ West Fiftieth street, she reported to Municipal Judge Bullock.

"You're mistaken," Judge Bullock told the man. "You're going to support her and your 4-year-old daughter, Betty May, for at least six months. You are sentenced to spend that time on the rockpile at $1 a day, which the county will pay to your wife."

McIntosh spent Christmas in jail. He will be taken to the county road camp today to begin serving his sentence, which was imposed on a technical charge of failing to support his daughter, for whose support Deputy City Prosecutor Weeks charged he contributed $1 since last July.

Hospital Inmate Takes Own Life

An inmate of the Soldiers' Home in Sawtelle since 1925, John H. Kimball, 55 years of age, Spanish War veteran, ended his life in his quarters at the institution yesterday afternoon by slashing his throat and wrists with a razor blade. He bled to death, police said. The body was taken to the County Morgue.

Kimball, according to police, left no note. He is believed to leave a widow in Hazelton, N. D.

PROTESTS NAME CHANGE

Los Angeles Parlor, Native Sons of the Golden West, has requested the City Council not to change the name of Monte Vista Park to Sunland Park. The parlor is one of several institutions which have protested against discarding the old name. The matter was referred to the Board of Park Commissioners.

Wooden Utensils

Wooden bowls and spoons absorb odors and fats and, therefore, require care in cleaning. Scald them in hot soda water, using one tablespoonful of soda in each quart of water, to keep them fresh and sweet.

Don't put all your eggs in one basket or in one omelet

You can control the strength and consistency of your omelet when you make it small. Hills Bros. control the flavor of their fine blend of coffee because they roast only a few pounds at a time—never in bulk. This continuous process—Controlled Roasting—creates a flavor no other coffee has.

Let Us Put You Into A Profitable Business

A Chicago manufacturing concern will help you become independent in a staple business of your own in your community. This business is noncompetitive and will make you from $2500 to $10,000 per year and requires a small investment. You handle your own money. All cash trade; income starts immediately. Write for interview. P. R. Barr, care of this paper. Address L. box 6, Times Office.

DO you know mining, how fortunes have been made from reasonable investments? Would you like to have a small investment double and redouble itself within a few years with a maximum degree of safety? This is not a prospect, but a real mine with ore blocked out, sampled, assayed and mill-tested many, many times in excess of all liabilities. If you want us to help you help yourself to financial independence, address S. box 320, Times Branch.

Lightning Restores Sight

That his sight was restored by a flash of lightning is the claim of E. J. Cinery of Bury St. Edmunds, Eng. Cinery had lost the sight of an eye and was partially blinded in the other during an attack of shingles five years ago. Caught in a thunderstorm recently he was totally blinded by the lightning flash. The next morning he was able to read the newspaper without the aid of glasses.

HOOVER SENDS NOTE TO PARK

President's Yule Greeting Broadcast From Tree

Five Hundred Make Journey to General Grant Fete

Children Throughout Valley Have Eventful Day

GENERAL GRANT NATIONAL PARK, Dec. 25.—"The spirit of Christmas is the spirit of giving, and the best of gifts is one's self, giving of one's affection, loyalty and good will to family, friends and neighbors and those causes that make for a nobler and richer community life."

This was the content of the message to people of the United States from President Hoover, a special feature of the nation's Christmas-tree program, staged today noon at the foot of the General Grant Tree in this park, with 500 persons present.

The message was handed to C. C. Cass of Fresno by a Boy Scout, read by Cass, and in turn relayed over the country by radio. Thus was national interest given to the impressive ceremony, which had its inception five years ago with a committee of valley residents.

Said to be the world's "largest and oldest living thing," the Sequoia tree was considered symbolic of the hope eternal for which Christmas stands. C. R. Chaney of Sanger read a message from Gov. Young, which in part stressed this idea.

"The groves were God's first temples, we have been told, and there in this temple, this splendid grove of giant Sequoias, these valley dwellers took their stand beneath the largest and oldest of all, and dedicated it as the nation's Christmas tree. Again this year the same pilgrimage has been made, but this year the services are being noted from many places in our State and nation. There is something very inspiring to every one in the thought that the eternal truths symbolized by Christmas are fittingly typified by this ancient monarch of the forest, already forty centuries old and doubtless destined to live on for many centuries to come," the message read.

Col. John R. White, superintendent of General Grant and Sequoia national parks, and Chief Ranger Hopping welcomed the crowd. W. L. Collins, Fresno County Supervisor, directed the program. Rev. Alfred Jeffrey offered the invocation. Tableaux in keeping with the nativity were staged and the old yule carols sung. Grace Osborn Wharton sang "My Gift for You," by Charles Wakefield Cadman.

Perfect California weather marked the day, in fact, being so mild that it was not necessary to light the great piles of wood arranged for bonfires. Hot soup and coffee were served by the committee to augment lunches brought by the crusaders.

SANTA REMEMBERS SHUT-IN YOUNGSTERS

SPRINGVILLE, Dec. 25.—Almost forgetting that they cannot run about and play like others, children at the Tulare-Kings Tuberculosis Sanatorium here enjoyed a real Christmas, thanks to the Porterville Post No. 20, American Legion. Each one received some gift most desired and warm clothing they needed.

There was a wonderful tree in the dining-room of the children's ward and a live redwood out on the grounds, which at night twinkles like so many fairy jewels helping a little fellow to forget he has been sick. The Legionnaires came with Santa and several members of the Women's Auxiliary, singing Christmas carols. Some of the kiddies piped up and joined them. There are twenty-three children at the sanatroium.

In the adult wards there is plenty of cheer also. One of their most prized gifts is a radio, purchased by residents of Lindsay by popular subscription, donations coming from as far as San Francisco. Rotary clubs of the county joined in this contribution.

TOY PILE SCATTERS PLEASURE IN TULARE

TULARE, Dec. 25.—Hundreds of children assembled at Tulare Theater as guests of the owners at the annual Christmas party this morning. The Rotary, Lions and 20-30 clubs, Chamber of Commerce, American Legion, Elks' Lodge, Firemen, Women's Club and other organizations and individuals shared in purchase gifts distributed by Santa Claus from the stage.

Every child in the community under 14 years of age was invited. Scores of toys donated to the Lions toy pile by various organizations and individuals of the city were packed by members of the Girls Student League, a high-school organization, and distributed last night to needy children of the community, 170 such children being remembered. Toys also were turned over to the Mexican and negro churches for distribution among children of their members.

YOUNG AND OLD AT VISALIA REMEMBERED

VISALIA, Dec. 25.—Children of this city were entertained yesterday by a matinee movie party at the Visalia Theater and in the evening at the Municipal Auditorium they saw Santa Claus appear on the stage, following a Christmas program, and from him received gifts of fruit and candies.

All day and far into the night trucks went about the city and into the rural district distributing boxes and baskets.

Time Switch on the Cellar Light

An electric light installed in a stockroom, storeroom or in a cellar is liable to be turned on and then overlooked. A light under these circumstances is likely to glow for many hours for no purpose, and at the same time running up the bill. A new electric attachment is a coupling between the lamp and the socket in which is a clockwork arrangement that automatically turns the current off at the expiration of a predetermined period. For instance, ten minutes is usually ample time to fix the furnace for the night and after this formality has been attended to there is no possibility of the lamp's operation for any longer period.

Seven million packs of playing cards were made in Germany in the last year, compared with 17,700,000 in 1922.

PONIES BRING JOY TO AILING CHILDREN

A Young Horsewoman

Little Rebecca Jones and one of the ponies given to children of Olive View Sanatorium.

Happy times for children at the Olive View Sanatorium and Preventorium, a county institution near San Fernando, have been assured by the gift of two ponies, together with many other good things by the Elks of Los Angeles, and so during the Christmas season the little inmates are riding for the first time in their lives.

Jack Doyle, prominent Elk, and others were instrumental in obtaining the construction of a road to the preventorium.

The two ponies delivered last week were fully equipped.

SUCCESSOR TO HENNING CONSIDERED

Republican Committee at Fresno Will Meet Friday to Make Recommendation

FRESNO, Dec. 25.—Possibilities for the appointment of a Federal district judge to succeed Judge Edward J. Henning, who is soon to vacate the bench, will be considered here at a meeting of the Fresno County Republican Central Committee Friday evening, the call for the meeting being issued today by Charles A. Hill, chairman of the committee.

George Cosgrave and Carl E. Lindsay, veteran members of the Fresno county bar, are most prominently mentioned as possible candidates for the committee's recommendation for appointment to the bench.

Both Cosgrave and Lindsay have strong followings among the membership of the committee, although the latter is believed to have something of an edge due to his close friendship with Senator Shortridge, who will have much to say in the appointment of a successor to Judge Henning.

The Fresno county committee will endeavor to line up other San Joaquin Valley county committees behind their nominee so he may carry more strength in competition with others who may be endorsed in other sections of the district.

Debate Signed by Bakersfield

BAKERSFIELD, Dec. 25.—Miss Isabelle Hansawalt, debate manager of the Kern County Union High School, today announced the signing of a two-year contract with Long Beach Polytechnic High School whereby the local debate team will travel south on January 31 to meet that of the Polytechnic school. A return debate will be held here the following year, according to the terms of the agreement.

This will be the second preconference contest entered into by the local high-school debaters this season, their first having been with Phoenix High School in November. Plans are under way for them to meet Santa Maria and Los Angeles high schools early next semester.

The topic at Long Beach will be: "Resolved, that increasing exercise of police power by government in the United States indicates a dangerous tendency." Coach Leland C. Tallman of the local school has not named the team which he will send south.

SANTA ASKED TO TIE EASY

Exeter Girl with Fractured Arm Solves Worry About Unwrapping Present

EXETER, Dec. 25.—Helen Jackson, 12 years of age, sustained a broken arm while playing at school and worried about Christmas. Finally she told Santa Claus about it in a letter, adding in a postscript:

"And dear Santa Claus, if you don't mind, please don't tie my packages too tight this year, 'cause I have only one arm to untie them with. Thank you, Santa Claus.

"One of your good little girls, Helen Jackson."

TWO PERISH IN AUTO CRASHES

Bay City Resudents Killed on Slippery Highway

Two Injured While En Route to Christmas Party

Porterville Man Dies When Car Plunges Off Road

MADERA, Dec. 25.—A Fresno Christmas party, that was to have been a reunion of members of the Galli family, was shrouded in tragedy today as the result of an automobile accident a short distance from this city in which one was killed and two others severely injured as the result of a combination of fog and slippery pavement.

A. Galli, 37 years of age, of South San Francisco, was killed, and C. Quiconi and Victor C. Dagrenano received cuts and internal injuries, the extent of which are not yet known, but which are considered serious. Both are in a local hospital.

The men were on their way to a Christmas party at the home of Irene Galli near Fresno. Investigation by local police indicated that the driver of the car apparently left the pavement due to the dense fog, and that in attempting to bring the vehicle back, caused it to skid and overturn.

MACHINE TEARS DOWN FENCE AND HITS POLE

PORTERVILLE, Dec. 25.—C. Sevella, 44 years of age, met instant death last night when his car left the Olive-street highway west of here on the left side of the road, tearing down a long section of fence and crashing head-on into a power-line pole. Details of the accident probably will never be known.

Sevella was alone and there were no witnesses although Bert Bonine, working in a field nearby, heard the crash. Louis Henderson, local well driller, was first on the scene, arriving right after the crash.

En route to town, Sevella had been traveling west. There was no liquor in the car and deceased had not been drinking, according to Deputy Coroner Fred Frietsche. The car, which was totally wrecked, was registered in the name of Della Camacho, Sevella's wife, who operates a restaurant in Corcoran. Time for the inquest has not been set.

KERN PIONEER FOLLOWS WIFE IN DEATH

BAKERSFIELD, Dec. 25.—Death yesterday claimed Roy Rankin, pioneer rancher and member of one of Kern's oldest and best known families. He died from injuries received in an auto crash near Isabella Monday morning, in which his wife, Mrs. Julian Rankin, was killed instantly.

First reports indicated that he would survive, but heavy loss of blood, aggravated by shock of his wife's death and severe injuries, caused him to sink rapidly.

Double funeral services will be conducted Friday morning at the Bakersfield chapel. The bodies then will be taken to Walker's Basin, where another double funeral service will be conducted at 1 p.m. followed by interment in the cemetery of that district.

The accident occurred on the Bakersfield-Isabella highway one mile southwest of the latter city. Reports indicated that the Rankin machine went out of control due to a defective steering gear, forcing it across the roadway where it collided with an auto driven by Stanley Smith, another pioneer resident and rancher of the Weldon district, where the Rankins have made their home for years.

Five persons were injured this morning in two Kern county traffic crashes, according to reports. F. E. Robinson, Casa Loma resident, and Miss Flo Miller, 2407 Nineteenth street, were slightly injured when an auto, driven by Robinson, crashed with a machine said to have been driven by Hayden Lewis, employee of Doyle Petroleum Company, Maricopa. The accident occurred at the intersection of Union avenue and Fifth street. Lewis, who was uninjured, reported that dense fog and slippery pavement caused the crash. The two injured persons were treated for cuts and bruises at Mercy Hospital.

The second crash occurred ten miles north of here on the Golden State highway, when an automobile driven by M. F. Egelund of Wilmington, crashed with another car causing injuries to Mrs. Egelund and her two daughters, Mary, 4, and Sarah, 9. All three are at the Emergency Hospital. Mr. Egelund was not injured. The family was on the way north to Selma to spend Christmas with friends and relatives. The driver of the other machine is not known.

Golden State highway, south of Bakersfield, has not witnessed an accident of any kind since Saturday night, when traffic officers instituted the stop-and-check method of warning thousands of motor-vehicle drivers, who pass through the southern Bakersfield portal daily to drive carefully because of danger through fog and slippery pavement. A thirty-six-hour period immediately preceding instigation of this system witnessed scores of accidents, in which four persons were killed and twenty-eight others sent to hospitals.

Headache in Incorrect Living

Headache caused by definite organic disease is very infrequent and when chronic headache cannot be traced to such a cause it is due to the mode of living. Functional or, as they are sometimes called, nervous headaches constitute the great bulk of cases.

Dr. L. H. Briggs of the University of California says: "True functional headaches constitute the great bulk of our problem, and for want of a better word might be called 'neurasthenic headaches.' How else are we going to class the great number of headaches seen in the asthenic and hypertonic individuals, true, often partly due to errors in bodily hygiene, worry, emotional strain, etc.? The fact remains that in persons of a different nervous status, similar errors and strain do not produce the headache."

American-controlled companies in Venezuela produced 19,000,000 barrels of petroleum in the first three months of this year, as compared with 13,600,000 produced by British-Dutch organizations in the field.

TANKER ARRIVAL REVIVES RUMOR

Swiftarrow's Reregistry Held of Significance

New Owner of Craft Declared Shell Subsidiary

Move Seen as Expansion Step by Dutch Company

BY WALDO DRAKE

Recent predictions of Royal Dutch Shell Oil Company's expansion in the American domestic petroleum market will appear near reality this morning, when the American tanker Swiftarrow, a unit of the five-tanker fleet of the New England Oil Refining Company, is redocumented at the San Pedro custom house to a new owner, the Boat Owning & Operating Company of Wilmington, Delaware. It is reliably reported that the latter firm is a Shell subsidiary, organized for the purpose of operating American tankers to be acquired by the British concern. All five "Swift" tankers are reported sold to the same interests.

Further credence is given the story by the fact that Royal Dutch Shell has just taken over the marketing operations of the Penn Oil Company in New England, including sixty-five service stations in the District of Columbia. In addition, the Swiftarrow's present voyage orders provide for her to load fuel oils at the Standard Oil and Shell terminals here for discharge at the Shell terminals at Balboa, Canal Zone.

The five tankers of the New England fleet include the Swiftarrow, Swifteagle, Swiftscout, Swiftsure and Swiftlight all in operation between this port and the New England terminals at Fall River, Mass. The operating company is a subsidiary of C. D. Mallory & Co., but it is reported the owner of the fleet has been the Old Colony Trust Company of Boston, by whom they were sold to the Boat Owning & Operating Company.

LINER BELGENLAND DUE ON WORLD CRUISE

Sixty additional around-the-world passengers will board the Red Star liner Belgenland here January 5 on her sixth successive world cruise, it was announced yesterday by W. F. Ohlson, International Mercantile Marine Company manager here. The Belgenland's full touring complement of 400 passengers will be gained with sixty more travelers to board her at San Francisco, where she will call on January 7. During the big Britisher's one-day stop here her passengers will make an automobile tour of Southern California.

The Belgenland, sailing from New York on the 20th inst., spent Christmas at Havana. Every State in the Union, 116 American cities and nine foreign countries are represented in her passenger list. Among her passengers are Mr. and Mrs. John T. Sullivan of Waterbury, Ct., making their fifth world cruise on the Belgenland.

The new British tramp motorship Bonnington Court of the huge United British Steamship Company fleet, arrived at the port yesterday on her maiden voyage, in command of Capt. R. Rooks. She brought here from Antwerp 8363 long tons of clinkers, the largest single shipment of the cement product to be discharged here. Her fleet sister, the Lavington Court, is due here on January 7 to load cotton for the charter account of Los Angeles shippers for Bremen and Liverpool.

From Buenos Aires and Rio de Janeiro, McCormick's P.-A.-B. liner West Ira arrived late last night via the Straits of Magellan. She has aboard six cabin passengers and 2500 tons of freight for the port.

Advices received yesterday from Dr. C. F. Marvin, chief of the United States Weather Bureau, explained tentative plans to enlist the aid of every American merchant ship in a scheme to secure by radio daily reports of weather in every corner of the globe, at sea or on land. Benjamin Parry, assistant meteorologist, will be placed in charge of the campaign to secure earnest co-operation from the merchant marine.

A. C. Holzapfel, president of the International Marine Compositions Company, arrived at the port yesterday from New York to spend Christmas with Arthur R. Pegg, International's local representative. The company, founded by Mr. Holzapfel more than a half-century ago, supplies marine paints for the merchant and naval vessels of all nations.

Christmas was a quiet one on the waterfront yesterday, with a stevedore force of less than 200 men at work. All foreign ships in port made strict observance of the holiday, while coastwise passenger ships were the only American craft working cargo.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 25. [illegible] was little activity on San Francisco waterfront today because of the [illegible] Christmas holiday and except for [illegible] wise sailings, only one foreign [illegible] vessel passed through the Golden Gate.

The Makura trans-Pacific [illegible] Union Line, under command of Capt. F. Spring-Brown, sailed for Australia [illegible] cargo and a good list of passengers. [illegible] Christmas tree and presents [illegible] aboard and a yuletide [illegible] scheduled to take place during the [illegible] night at sea.

John W. Chapman, head of the [illegible] Steamship Company and [illegible] principal owner of the [illegible] coastal freighters, arrived here [illegible] a tour of inspection. During [illegible] here, the two officials will [illegible] for the installation of [illegible] on the vessels.

The steamer Pacific Oak [illegible] from the East Coast, was the [illegible] Dimon freighters to be [illegible] the Pacific Spruce, now in [illegible] will be the second to be [illegible] new rudder which increases [illegible] a vessel half a knot.

SEATTLE, Dec. 25.—Christmas [illegible] served generally along the [illegible] with no movement of vessels [illegible] of regular berth lines.

Sailings today included the [illegible] Bronxville, the first ship of the [illegible] Line to the Orient to make the [illegible]

TACOMA, Dec. 25.—Although [illegible] worst wind storm this year, [illegible] was reported to have been [illegible] waterfront, an investigation [illegible] today. The severe winds hit [illegible] 3 a.m. this morning and [illegible] harbor. Seven vessels [illegible] Lexington rode out the storm [illegible] trouble.

PORTLAND, Dec. 25.—[illegible] the number of vessels [illegible] land-Atlantic Coast and [illegible] trade is reflected in [illegible] by the Merchants Exchange [illegible] 296 carriers having entered [illegible] months this year, officials [illegible] no question but that the [illegible] will establish a new mark [illegible] with 1928, when [illegible]

Expansion of the [illegible] lines service here has been [illegible] in a large degree for the [illegible] arrivals at this port, officials [illegible] change declared.

ZIONIST MOVEMENT AND ITS IDEALS

"Zionism is the organized [illegible] sion of the corporate will of the Jewish people to re-establish itself as a national entity in Palestine, where it will be subject neither to the brute force of physical oppression nor to the subtle but equally destructive hostility of alien environment," says Meyer W. Weisgal, editor of New Palestine, in an article in Current History, in which he presents the case of the Jews in the recent disturbances in Palestine.

In this article Mr. Weisgal refutes the Arabs' claims that Palestine belongs to them by [illegible] with Great Britain, that a Jewish settlement in Palestine will [illegible] populate the land and [illegible] peace of the world, and that the Jews should be contented with a spiritual center in Palestine and should not demand political and economic security. To this last argument, Mr. Weisgal [illegible] "We are advised to revoke the Balfour Declaration; to stop Jewish immigration; to sweep away [illegible] and all rights granted to the returning sons of Israel. Then the Arabs would raise no objection to the development of a 'spiritual center.' Strange how [illegible] truth breaks through even the barriers of willful unfriendliness. It is not relevant to ask, 'If the Jewish people have no historic connection with Palestine—if their destiny lie outside of Palestine, what is the meaning of this spiritual center [illegible] freely granted to us?' The answer is simple: Because there is no reality behind the bare words, 'spiritual center.'

"Spiritual centers do not exist in the air. They are born of political freedom and economic [illegible] Commerce, industry, agriculture [illegible] the free exercise of the rights of a people to the land that they [illegible] call their own are the props [illegible] which a spiritual center is built. If the Jews, as is believed, can make a significant contribution to a world culture by the development of a spiritual center in Palestine, that center implies the inalienable right of the Jewish people to migrate to that country and increase its settlements."

Prohibition Boosted Insurance

Some insurance men got [illegible] prosperity in recent years. [illegible] that it was due to prohibition. It took 79 years for life insurance to total $50,000,000,000 while [illegible] traffic was legalized. Under prohibition this amount has been doubled in six and a half years. According to these gentlemen this suggests not only the higher standards of living and the provision for the future accompanying prohibition but also indicates where a considerable portion of the old-time annual drink bill of approximately $3,000,000,000 is now going.

Iron Rust in Cattle Feed

Iron rust mixed with cattle feed has been found to improve the condition of the animals to which it had been fed. The idea occurred to a member of the faculty of [illegible] State College and a prolonged test vindicated the thought. About one ounce of iron rust per day was given to the animals under test.
